DIANE MARIE MILLS

Diane,
It's been great working with you
the past two years.
Even though I didn't put it in my will -
I leave you The Hornet's Nest to do with as you see fit! Good luck!

'84 Love,
Forevermore Terry

Diane,
It's been fun in
Mrs. Hettrick's class with you & Danny (Elmo) Maybe we'll see each other over the summer.
Hope you & Danny stay together for a long time.

Love,
Becky

Diane,
I'm glad I got to know you this school year, and I have enjoyed the fun we have had together during 3rd. I hope next year we will get in some class together again, but not typing. I think one year of typing is enough for me. Have a great summer, especially if you got to the camp
and become a counselor.

Love ya.
Jodi

Diane,
I don't know whether or not to say that it has been fun in 5th period but you sure added some interesting excitement. It has been nice getting to know you a little better this year. Hope you enjoy your summer
and hope you
see you classes in 6th. Good night.
the year

Diane,

I'm sorry we met each other so late in my senior year.
You are a very sweet young lady and I wish you luck in your remaining stay in Surrattsville. Enjoy your senior year for it is the most fun.

Love,

Diane,
 You're the sweetest person I've met at McDonald's. I'll always remember the memories that.
 Take care & stay sweet.
 & have fun over the summer.

I'm really glad I met you this year, you are very special to me. You are the only one I really love. We've had some good times and I'm glad I met with you. Mr. Ken I love (if I love) all the love you can count on it. I know nothing this could stop me. I care for you a great deal, more than I could ever show. I'll never be able to forget all the hours we don't do dreaming, your fault. Why, I know that at least once a day. But I'm not explaining I enjoyed it (really) because Mr. P, he always seemed to be in the way, just like the tractor and trucks. CHA HA) I value your friendship and love very highly. You are so very sweet and nice. I know I'll always be a soft spot in my heart for you no matter what happens. I want you more than anything please believe me. I know there might be a few problems between us but it hasn't changed my feelings for you.

Love you

A Year Of Change

Freshman Ron Hare, Donna and Diana Hill, Kitty Harple, Chris Hannah, Kerry Herbert, and Mark Horn weren't only new faces, but also part of the new freshman class.

Nothing endures but change.

Plato

Changes . . .

So many things in life are changed every day. Stranded motorists change tires. Weary mothers change diapers. Capricious people change their minds. Flirty people change their dates. Third World Nations change their governments. Governments change their leaders. Stylish women change their hairdos. Clothing styles constantly change. And schools change. Sometimes for the better, sometimes for the worse. Surrattsville has changed greatly this year and has plans for even more changes in the future.

The biggest change in Surrattsville was the change of people. Although we constantly see new faces in the school, this year was definitely special. For the first time in the history of Surrattsville Senior High School, ninth graders entered this building as part of the student body. There was also a change in faces on the faculty of SHS; we acquired a new administrator and guidance counselor along with many teachers.

To compensate for such a large student body, renovations were planned to enlarge the school and facilitate handicapped students. Meanwhile, students took a very crowded path from the temporaries in front of the school to the main building. There was a change from five to six minutes between classes to make up for time lost in fighting the crowd.

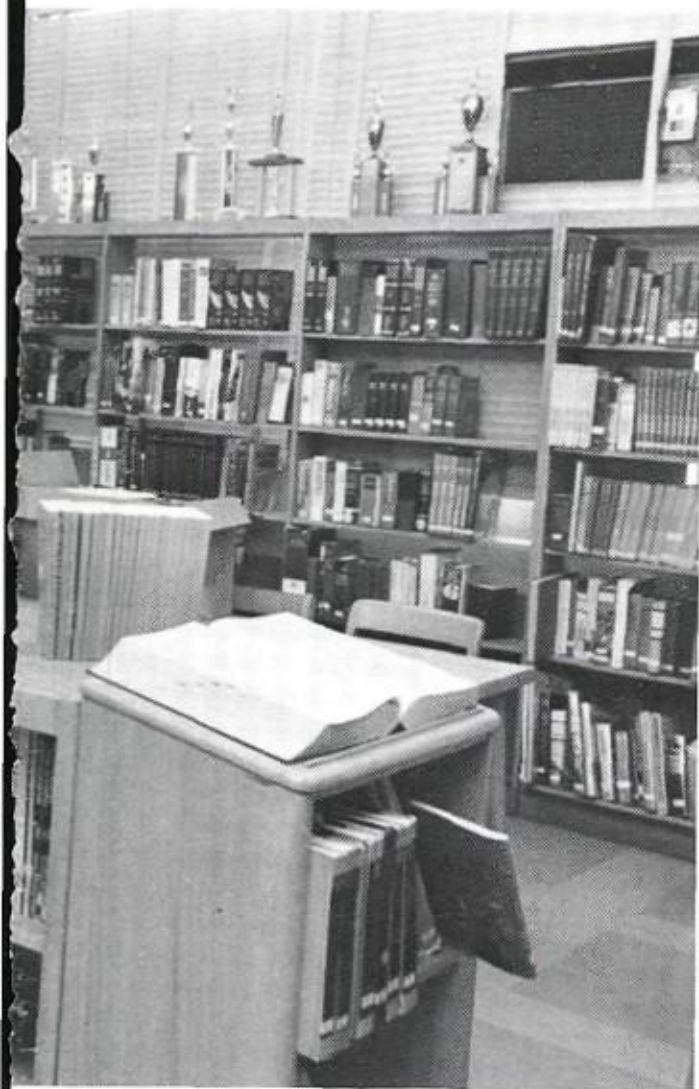

With a change in people came new ideas. Surrattsville housed the IBM Pilot Program; there were also new kinds of fund raisers such as painters' hars to change with the styles. There was also a change in the size of the Boomerang. This is the largest book that the yearbook staff has put out in recent years.

With the new faces and ideas all around us, our school took on a whole new look in a move towards the future. Change is inevitable. The best thing a school can do is prepare its students for change, and SHS did.

While preparations were being made for proposed renovations, the media center was moved into two classrooms. This room accommodated the audio-visual and reference materials.

Betsy Sepesy, Melody Faber, Gina Phillips, and Michelle Johnson were not only managers of the football team, but also members of the JV cheerleading squad. This is the first time in recent years SHS has had a junior varsity cheerleading squad.

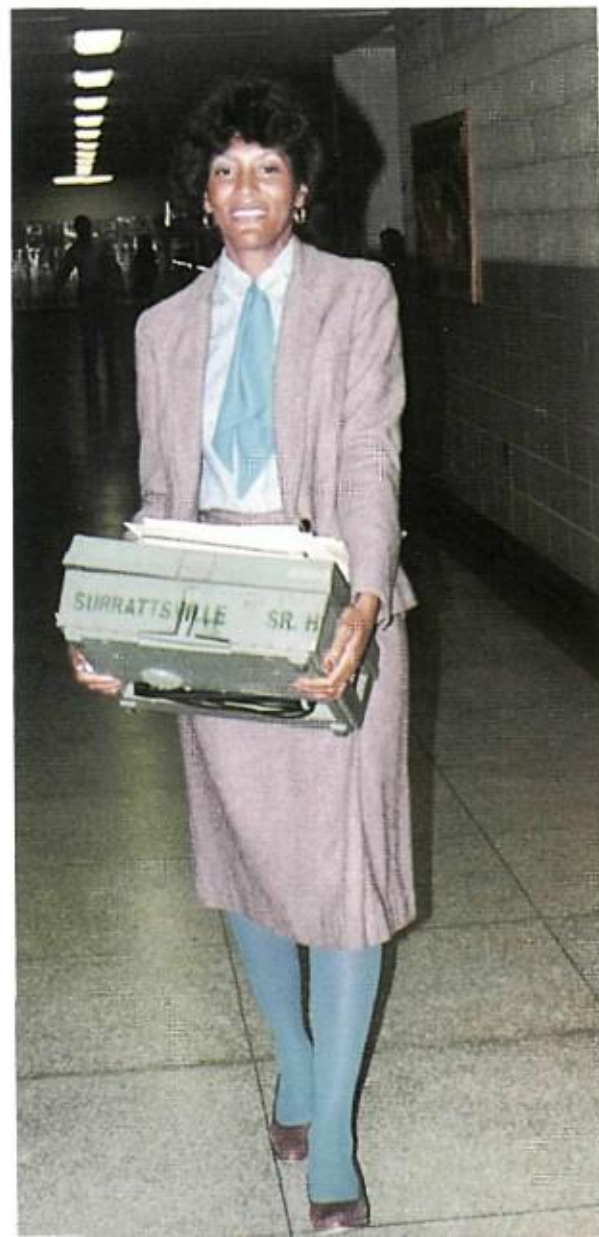

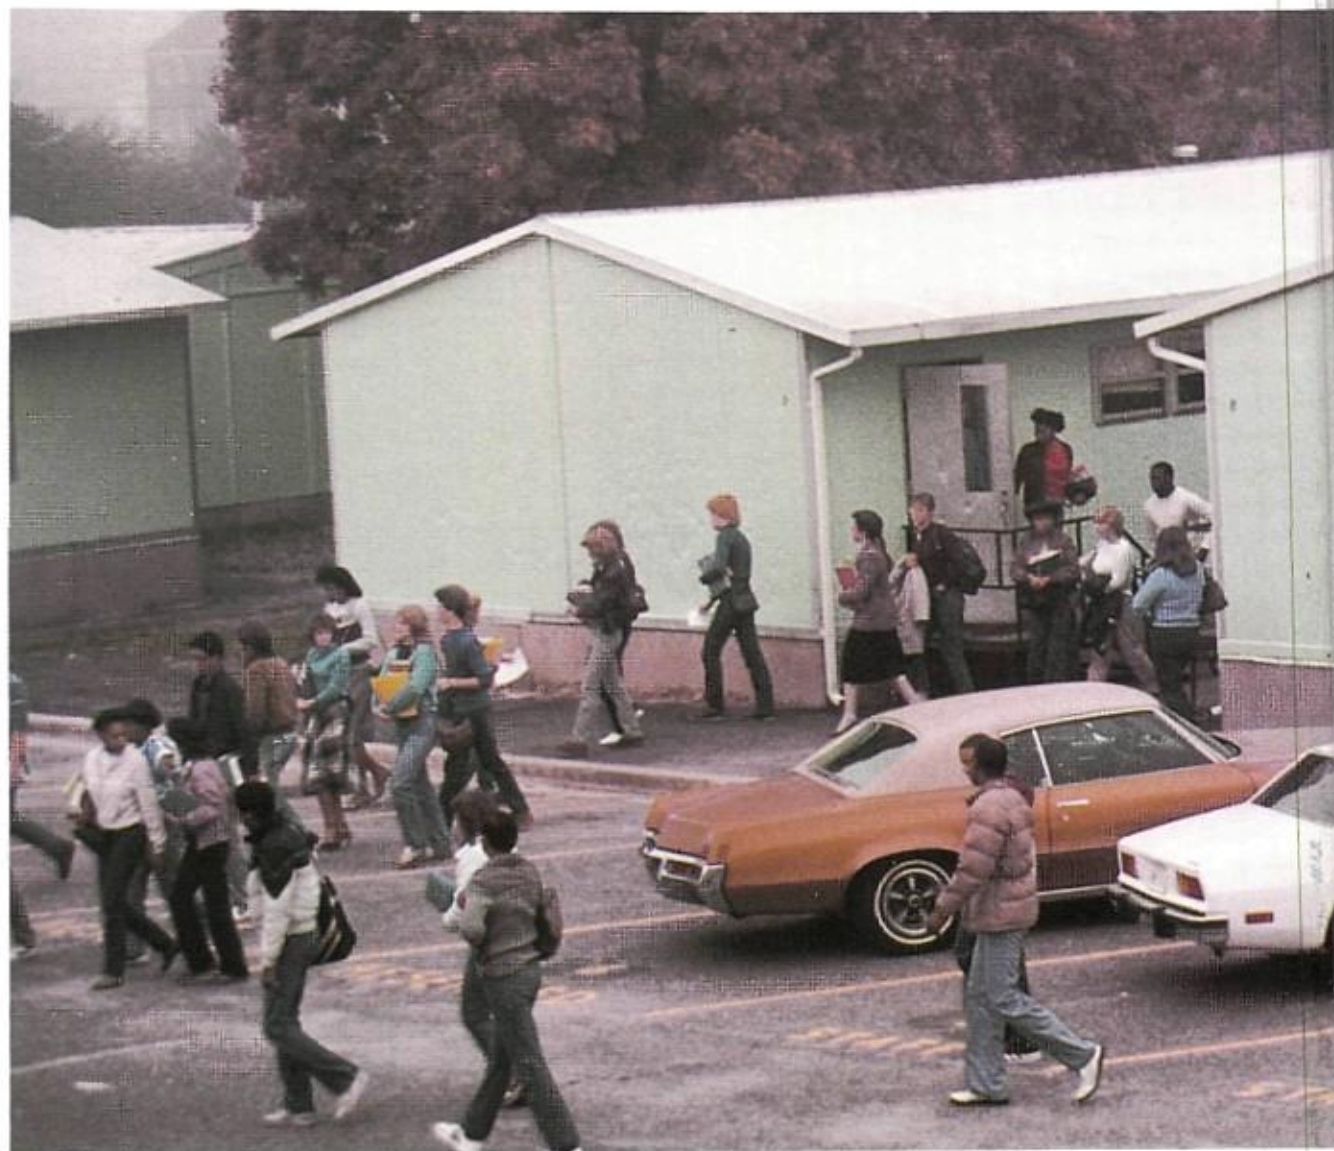

English Department Curriculum Coordinator, Mr. John Brown, was a new face in the changing faculty.

New Faces New Places

Newcomer Paula Webber shows her sophomore spirit by dressing up for Halloween costume day during Spirit Week.

Surrattsville's new vice-principal, Ms. Dane, carries a heavy load.

Among the new faces are Phyllis Butler and

The students trek from temporaries in front of the school to the main building. The temporaries were necessary for holding class in preparation for the renovations.

Cheerleader Debbie Osman shows her spirit at SHS's first bonfire. Surrattsville was the only school in Prince George's County given permission to have a homecoming bonfire.

Our student body are sophomores Verette Stanfield.

Tonya Robinson was proudly escorted on the arm of her father. The homecoming princesses' being escorted by their fathers is a new tradition at SHS.

CHANGING OUR STUDENT LIFE

The times change and we change with them.

Owen's Epigrammata

A student's life entails many changes. The student life here at Surrattsville changed tremendously once the 1983-84 school year began. Changes ranged from a new freshman class to a new graduating day.

One of the first changes was the new incoming freshmen and sophomores. They did not know where to go because of the difficulty in reading the schedules and all the rearrangement of the new classes. However, as new students always do, they soon became used to the school and all its changes.

One of the most uncomfortable changes to everyone was the temporaries, especially the summer heat which was too unbearable. The new buildings caused the students many problems in trying to keep dry on rainy days and being on time to class.

A disappointing change came when spirit week was cut down to three days. But in place of the two days that were missing, our spirits were kept high with the new addition of the bonfire. The bonfire, held on October 26, 1983, was a great success. The school plans to have many more in the future. Another change came on Homecoming day when the half-time show presented the princesses' fathers escorting them down the field.

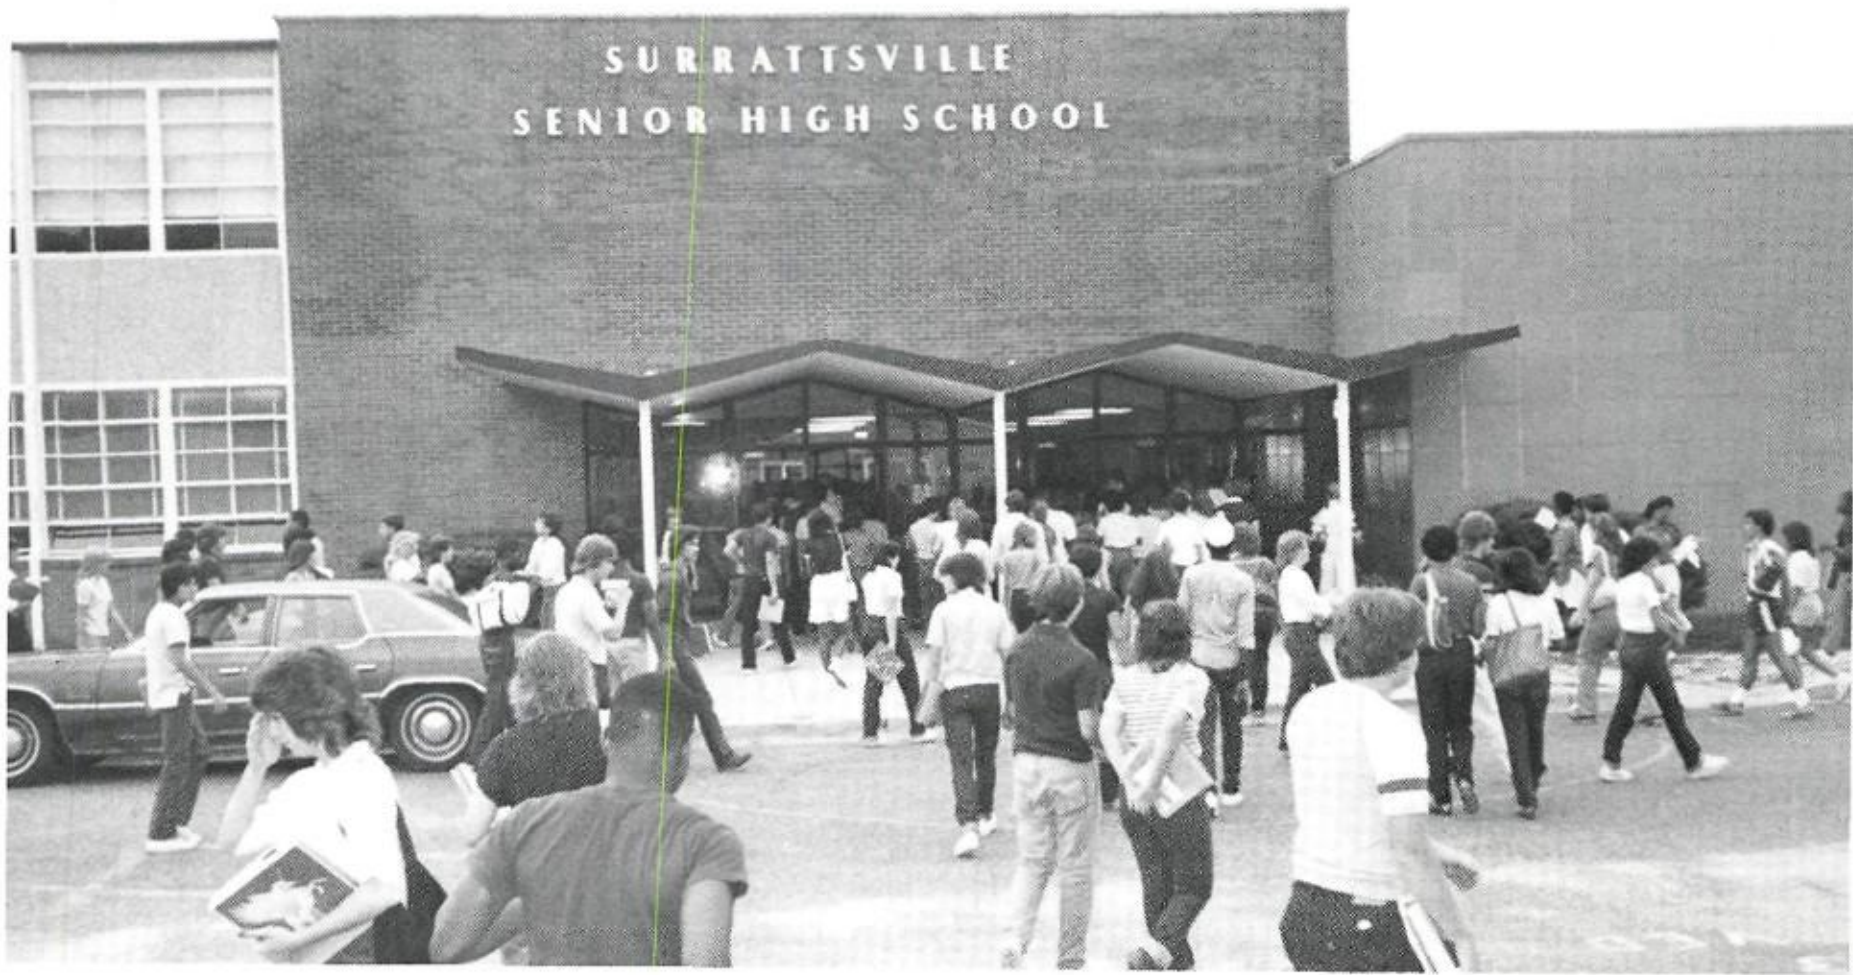

The final change came on graduation day. Traditionally the seniors graduate in June, but this senior class graduated on May 24th. This was one of the major changes in Surrattsville because no other graduating class had graduated in May.

During Spirit Week, our little friends took part in Mr. Brown's Advanced Placement English class novel.

More spirit was added by the new incoming freshmen class.

As usual the first day of school was filled with confusion.

A group of seniors pile into Mr. Meckley's car just for fun, after the class picture had been taken.

Missy Williams does a changing twist to the sound of Sound Tech at the Morp Dance.

Passion For Fashion

Tanya Burleson has the unisex look with her hat and tie. The flat boots she is wearing were very popular at SHS.

Sam Dopler, Keith Roughton, Scott Frascoia, and Tony Ferrante show the casual look at SHS.

Individuality . . . This is the key word to describe fashion of the students at Surrattsville. The students at SHS have formed their own identities and express themselves through the way they dress. The fashions of 1983-84 were a mixture of some old favorites and some refreshing new trends.

The new looks in footwear were penny loafers, low-heeled pumps, mocassins, may-pops, short boots, and vans. The returning looks, top-siders, ducks, Nikes, and the suede GASS shoes, were still going strong.

Pants got straighter and shorter this year. Peg leg jeans, wide-rail corduroys, and pin-striped jeans were still the rave while the faithful standby, designer jeans, was still around. Pleated pants and the baggie look swept the school, replacing last year's wave, Cheenos. Mini-skirts that became popular last year took on a trendy twist. Instead of being stylishly flared, they were straighter, stemming from the movie "Flashdance".

The torn sweatshirts, a fashion derivative from the movie "Flashdance," argyle sweaters and vests, and the buttondown oxfords in both solids and stripes were popular among both guys and girls. Ever popular with the guys were the wing tip dress shirts and Ralph Lauren polo shirts. Crew neck sweaters adorned everyone and the girls at SHS still loved the printed turtle-necks.

Because of the installation of the temporaries, the slickers were very popular at SHS. Tweed blazers, Members Only jackets, and Levi's jean jackets remained ever popular. Accessories this year included knit ties and bow ties, big buttoned earrings, argyle socks, and the new fad-bandas in every color and design imaginable.

Juniors Jackie Manson, Teresa Payton, Tonia Gay, and Jackie Smith pose in the junior court displaying their fashionable side. Tonia's and Jackie's leg warmers were a common accessory. They all show the trendy layered look.

SHS

. . . A Whole New Wave

Mark Wingfield, Anthony Murrill, and Lionel Jones model the latest fashions for the men at SHS.

Junior Robbie Harper displays the latest new wave look that became very popular at SHS. The look was inspired by the movie "Flashdance." She has also taken over the punk look with her spiked hair-cut that is becoming very popular with everyone at Surratsville.

Laura Hilman has taken over the preppie look with her cranberry tweed blazer, monogram sweater, and add-a-beads necklace along with her friend Jocy Rabino with her rugby shirt and pin-striped jeans.

Hornets Get Fired Up

Let's go, Hornets! This was a popular phrase heard throughout the pep rallies. Fans came together to support the athletic teams, and the fans let the players know they were behind them all the way.

The pep rallies were organized by the varsity cheerleading squad. Spirited cheers, twirling flags, and peppy dance routines were performed which got the crowds rowdy and promoted school spirit.

Surrattsville started new traditions this year. The fans were given the chance to show how much spirit they had with the goal of trying to obtain the new title of Horner Fan of the Month. The cheerleaders observed the people at the football games to see who cheered the most and who got the rowdiest. The first recipient of this award was senior Mike Woodbrey. For the first time, the Homecoming pep rally was a bonfire. The turnout for the event was outstanding. To start the event, the football players were recognized individually. The varsity cheerleading squad, the marching band, and the pom-pom squad performed for the Horner fans. At the end of the night the bonfire diminished, but Surrattsville Horner spirit never died.

Zane Stokes and Danny Verbitski display their Horner spirit at a pep rally before the big game

Debby Jensen, Tammy Wyatt, Susie Frye, and Kim Belt get rowdy at the Hornets' first annual bonfire

Tracy Henry gets all decked out in Horner spirit attire.

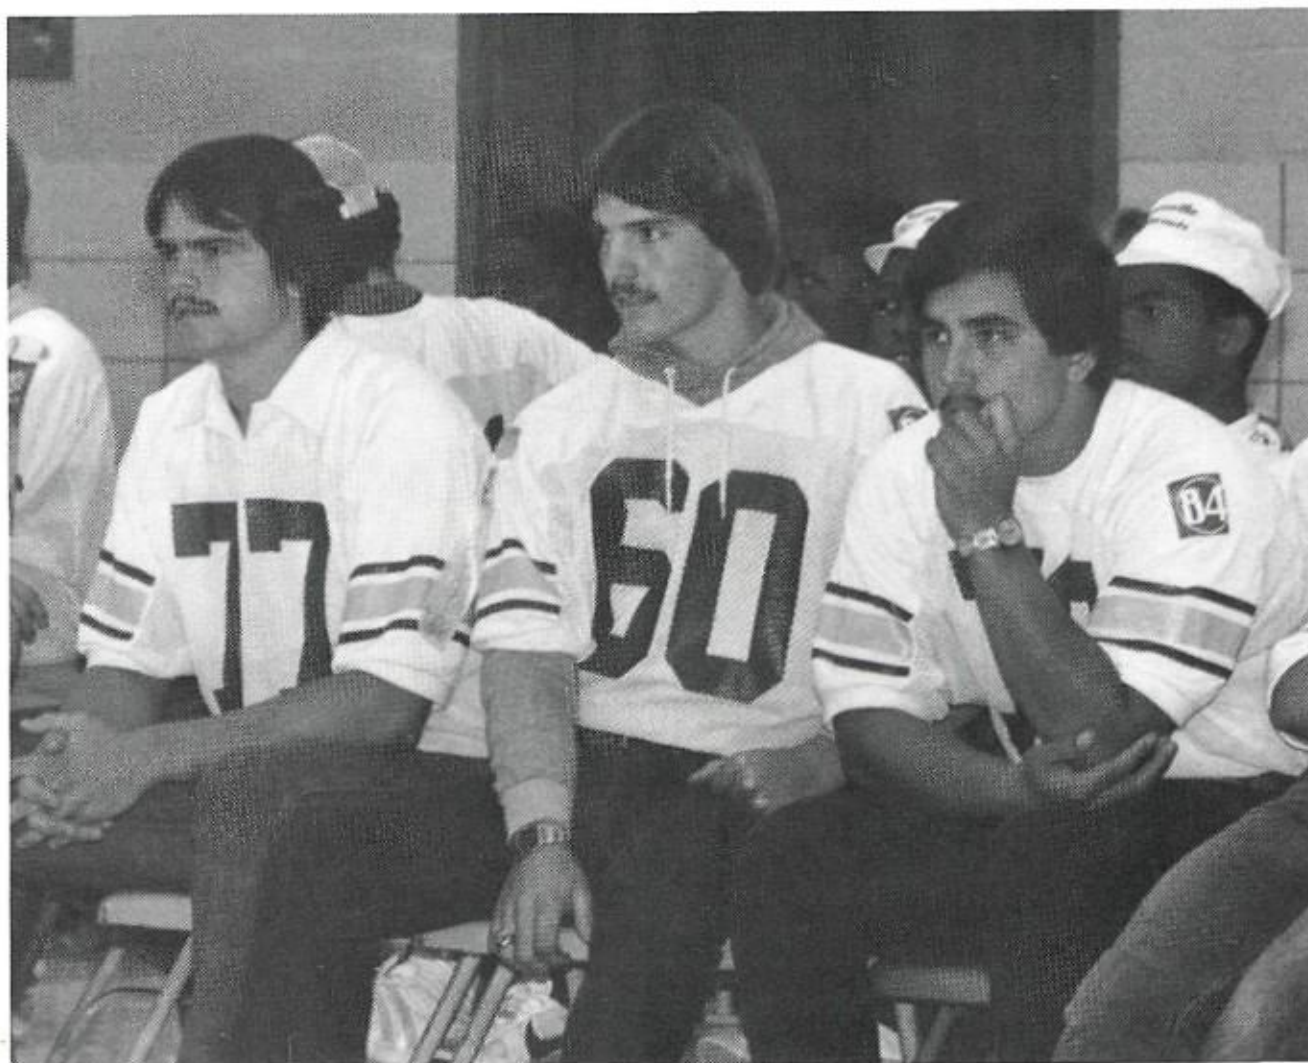

At Surrattsville's bonfire, Michelle Cornelius waits to perform the routine of "Blues in the Night."

Even though senior Michael McClannan wears shorts during the winter, he still has enough hot air in him to blow up a balloon for a Horner pep rally.

Michelle Bouchard, Debbie O'Clair, and their tiny observer Sarah Williams cheer on the Hornets with "Lean, lean, lean."

Varsity football players Bill Fowler, Jeff Hale, and Bob Klenoski contemplate the words of wisdom from Coach Zier.

Senior Karen Hixson's spirit sure isn't masked on green and white day!

Jackie Smith, Tonia Gay, and Missy Cage agree that a quick snooze is a must before facing English class!

The antics of Mikey McClannan, Tammy Anderson, and Mike Woodbrey entertain those admiring the class floats at the Plaza before the parade.

Is this rough and ready cowhand Billy the Kid or SHS's very own Mike Zick?

Life is but a fairytale for Randy "Snow White" Hayden, charming Mike Cawley, bewitching Mikey McClannan, and the assorted dwarfs portrayed by Maria Berrio, Rita Bouchard, Patti Scorr, Susie Miller, Debbie O'Clair, Dorrie O'Clair, and Belinda Lee.

The Change Spirit Brings

Every year tradition prevails that we rid ourselves of our everyday veils!

October 24 was a week of spirit;
cheers abounded. Couldn't you hear it?
Monday-P.J.'s; Wednesday-whire and green; costumes were donned in between.

The halls were decorated with imagination despite the school's renovation.

Flowers were fluffed on floats,
as juniors won the final votes.

It was billed as the "Greatest Show on Earth"-

Surrattsville in all its glory and worth.

The juniors' tiger burst through the ring of fire and right into the judges' favor to capture first place.

Sophomore Teresa Turner was just as lovable as Raggedy Ann!

Greatest Show On Earth

Homecoming parade was a mass of people, you could see them gazing from every steeple.
The princesses in full regalia and the floats with napkin paraphernalia.
The downs were at their very best with pointed faces and colorful vests.
After the parade, there came the game
where the queen gained her sudden fame.
The football players had their win as the final score was tallied in.
It was 34-7 in our favor,
a day Surrattsville for years will savor.

Princesses Nicole Finch, Debbie Jensen, and Kim Thompson had a great time waving to friends.

For their float, the sophomores chose dancing bears to carry out the theme. It came in third place.

Surrattsville's football players show they have the spirit to be number one. They proved they are number one against Forestville's Knights.

"Let's Clown Around" was the seniors' float theme. It captured second place.

It's Game Time!

"Four plus four is half of 16; all for the Horners stand up and lean! A-LEAN, lean, lean, lean . . ." The spirited crowd joins in for one of Surrottville's favorite cheers.

Jumping for joy, cheerleaders Debbie Osman and Ayesha Muhammed were enthusiastic over a touchdown.

TOUCHDOWN! Number 51 Kenny Reid scores one for the Horners.

The homecoming crowd was treated to a snowfall of confetti by the freshmen.

A perfect way to end a perfect day was to attend the annual Homecoming Dance. Sur-rattsville held its 1983 Homecoming Dance on October 29, from 8:00-11:30 P.M. The evening's music was provided by "Oz".

Those attending the dance had rushed home from the football game to begin preparing for the exciting evening ahead. The girls attired themselves in their formal dresses and the boys dressed in their best suits. The decorations consisted of green, white, and yellow streamers hanging from the ceiling along with small pumpkins decorating each table. The five piece band played mostly top 40 tunes which appealed to an enthusiastic crowd. With the added touch of fresh corsages and roses from the queen and her court, the atmosphere was perfect.

The crowd mingled with friends or danced to the music of the band patiently awaiting the highlight of the evening, the crowning of the queen. Finally the queen and her court were ready to make their appearance. Leading the procession were the freshman princesses and their escorts, followed by the sophomore, junior, and senior princesses all with their escorts. Finally, the queen, Tonya Robinson, and her escort proceeded to the front where she was crowned by last year's queen, Lisa Torh. This was a fitting way to cap off an evening of fun.

Senior Princess Debbie O'Clair and her escort senior Randy Hayden share a dance after the crowning.

Junior Bo Corser and his date Christine Ababa boogie to the sounds of Oz.

Seniors Beth Palmer and her date Joe Gelic try out a new step at the Homecoming Dance.

Sophomores Ricky Goddard and his date Pam Howard were among the many couples at the Homecoming Dance.

Just Hangin' Around

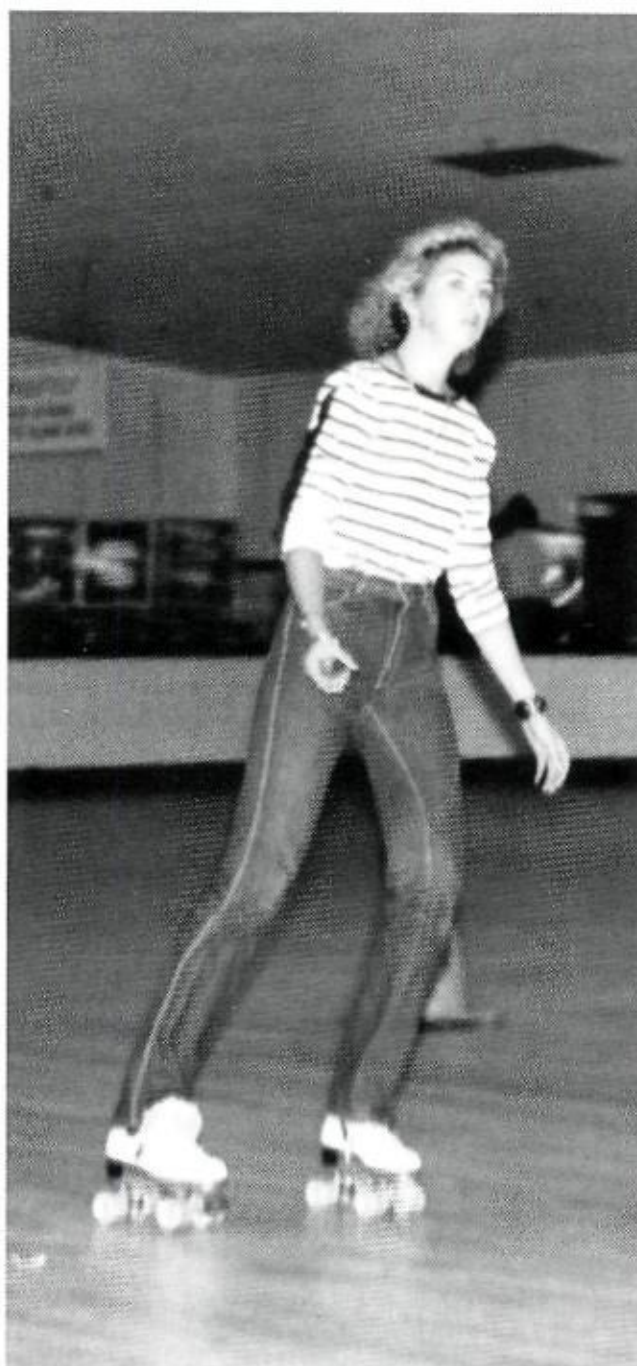

It's here, finally. The day everyone's been waiting for. Friends gather in halls to make their last minute plans for the weekend. All the thoughts of verbs, square roots, and the anatomy of a frog are put aside. It's time to hang out and have a great time.

At Surrattsville people "hung out" in different places. The cafeteria was the most popular: before school and after school crowds gathered there to socialize. The most popular fast food hangout was McDonald's. Many gathered there to grab something to eat after a game or just to talk to their friends. On weekends the bowling alley and the skating rink attracted many students from Surrattsville also. Here they joined clubs and competed against other people.

McDonald's was the most popular hangout this year.

Junior Stacey Lenge is at another popular SHS hangout, the library.

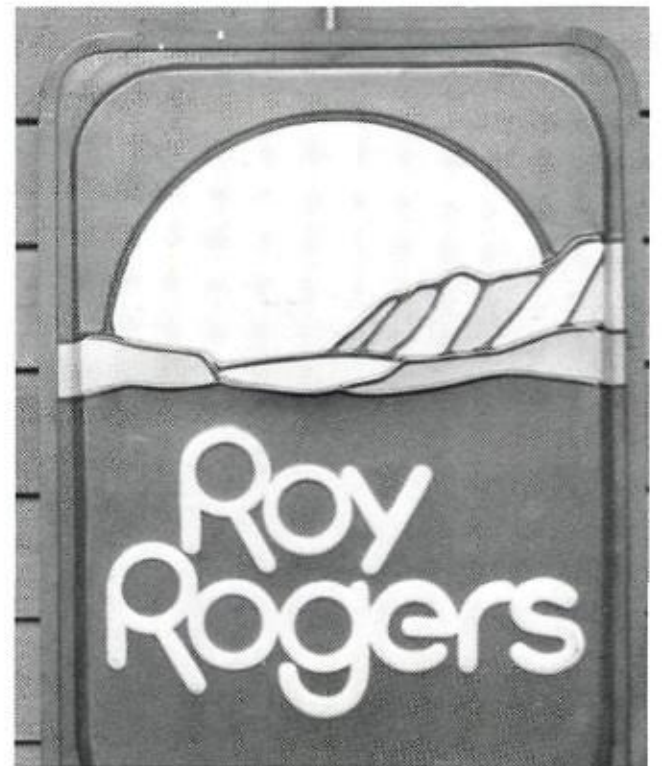

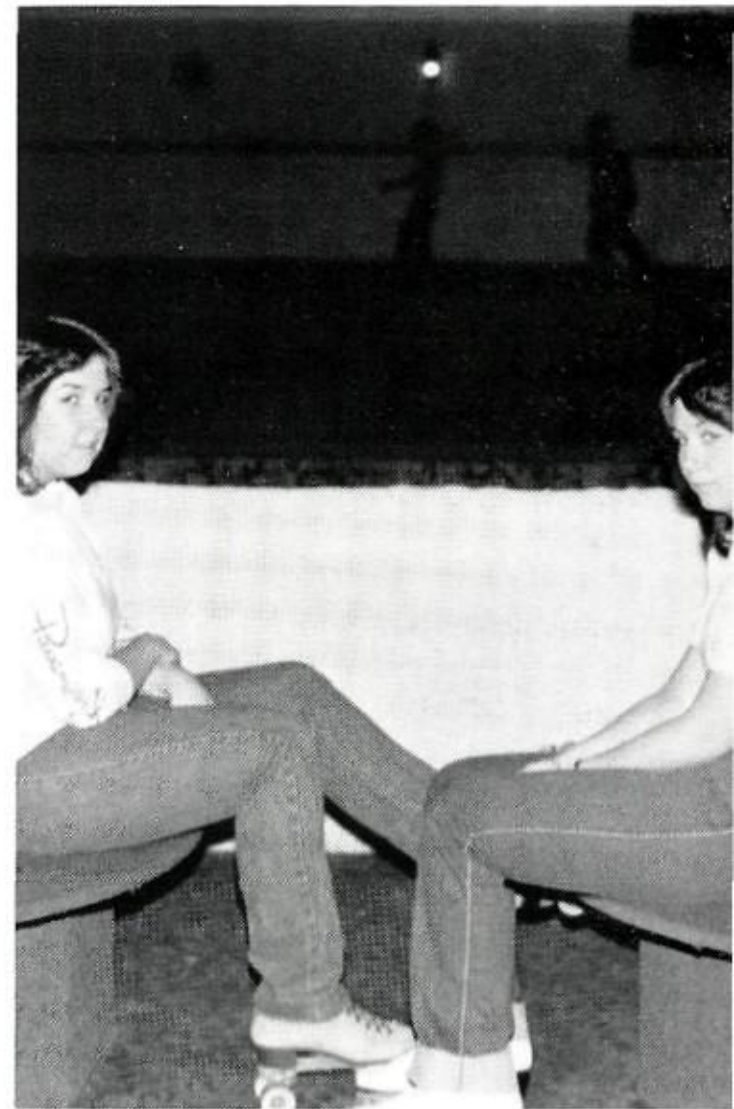

James and Jenny Dandridge and Michelle Allen enjoy a drink together at Roy Rogers.

With Our Friends

Mark LaForce places his Dig Mac attack order at SHS's favorite hangout.

Debbie Adams and Darlene Compton rest their wheels at the Clinron Wheel-A-While, a popular place to hang out.

Roy Rogers Restaurant provides not only jobs for SHS students but also a nice place to pass time with friends.

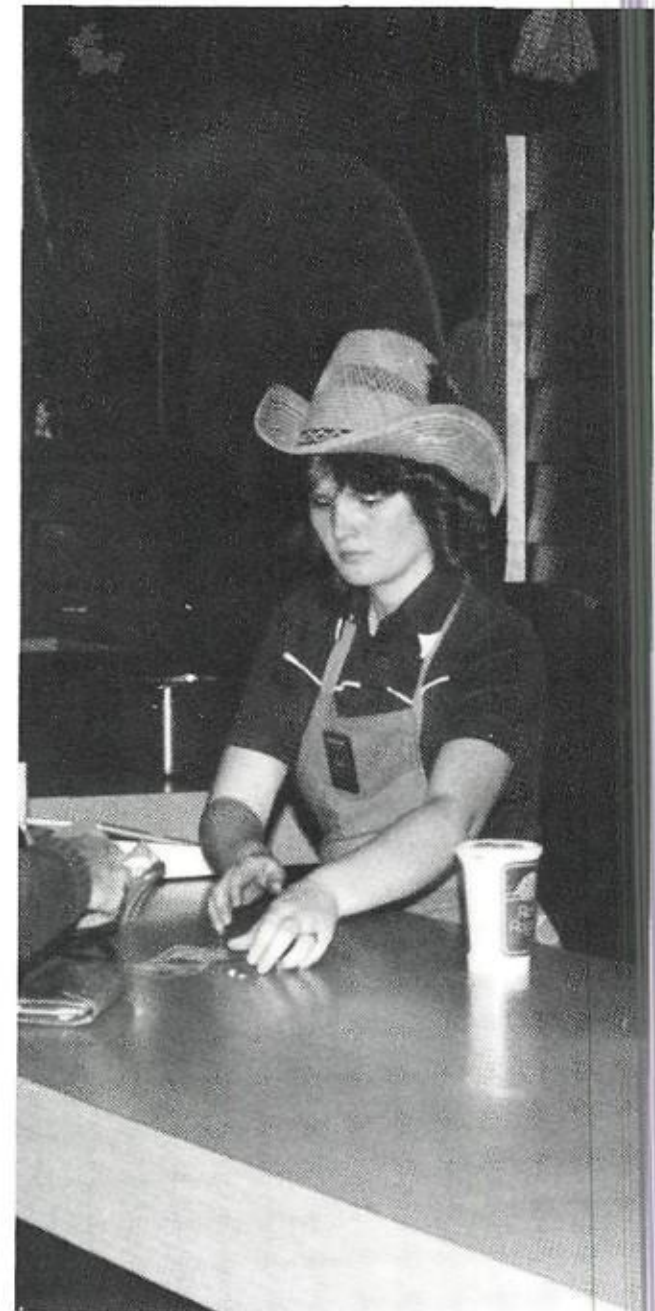

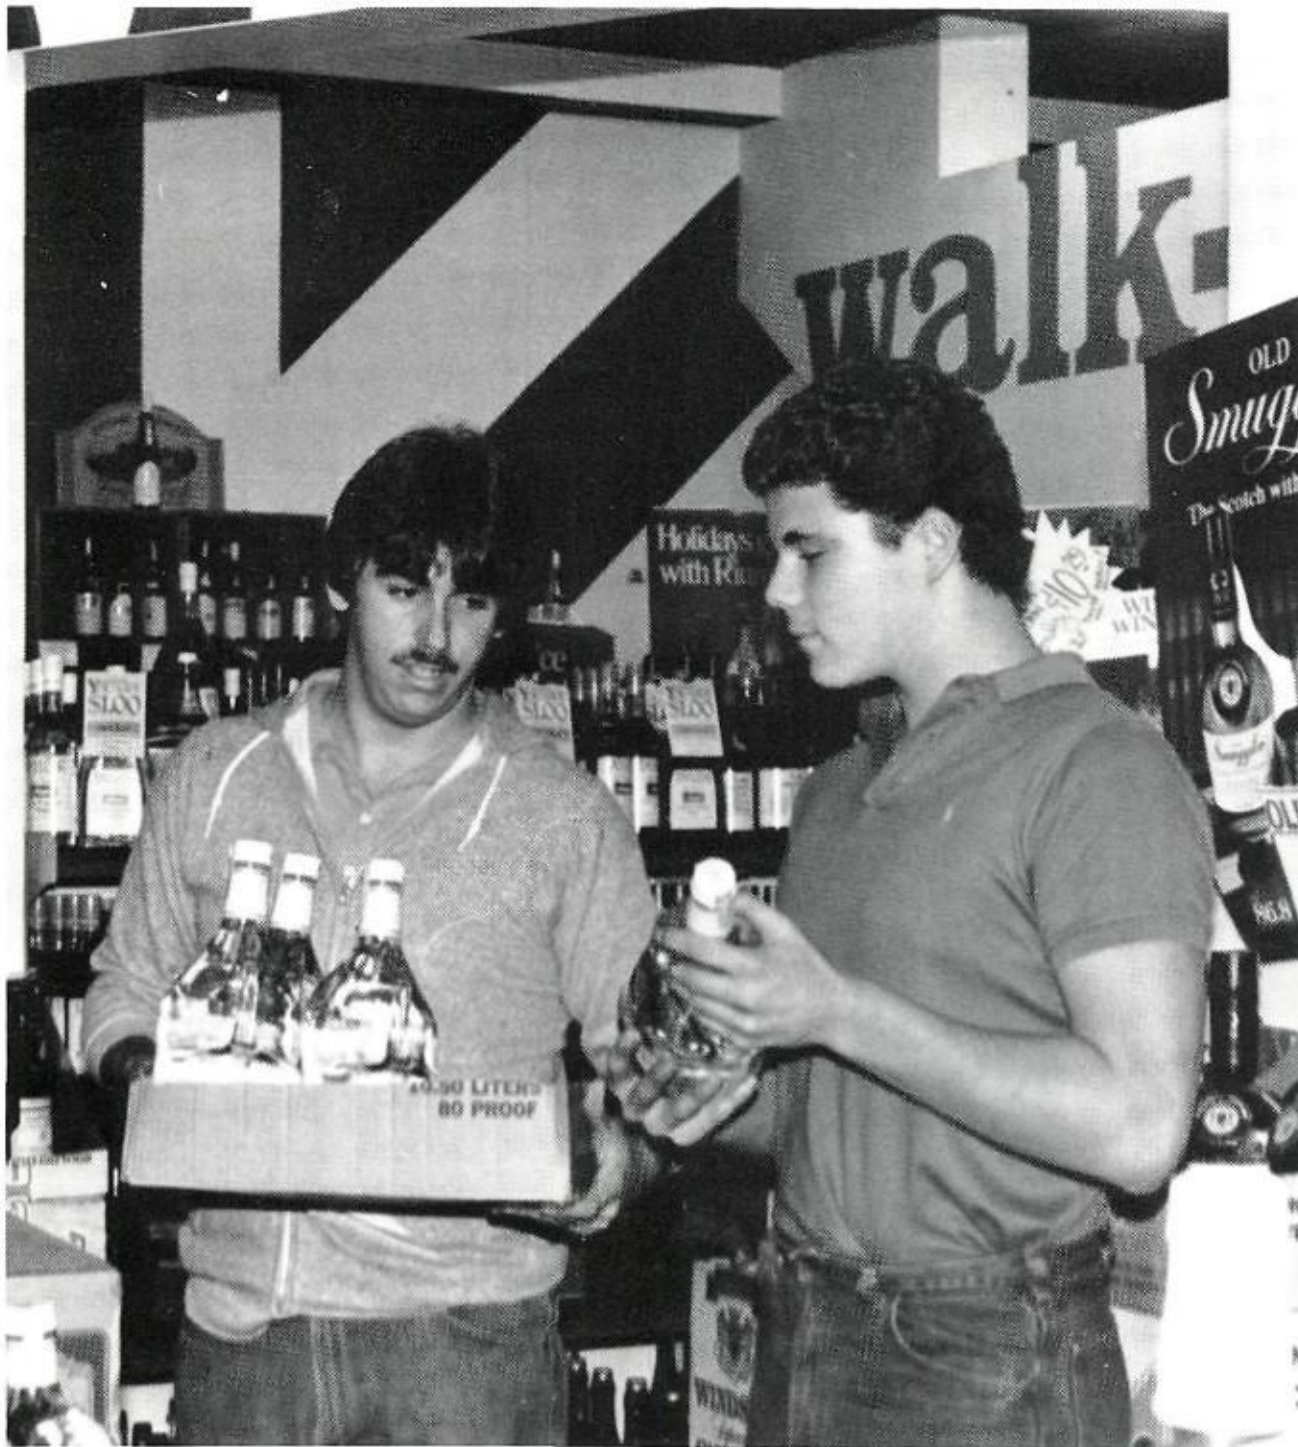

The Hornet 9 to 5'ers

Throughout their years in high school, students accumulate many debits for various reasons such as school dances, car insurance payments, clothes, announcements, cap and gowns, pictures, and the prom. Many parents find this change bewildering and demand that their children "get out there and help a little." In order to alleviate these costs, students enter the job market seeking employment to ease these costs which are now stealing money from their "pocketbooks."

At Surrattsville many parents and students have found these costs to be very real and as such there are many student/workers here. Most of the Surrattsville workers find jobs at the local restaurants and small businesses.

Tom Brady and Darryl Schumaker prepare drinks for customers in the bus station at the Brass Lantern Inn.

Paul King and Tommy Miller stock some shelves at B.K. Miller's.

"Why do they always pay with pennies? . . ." Jamie Williams returns a customer her due change at Roy Rogers.

Mary Gann listens attentively to what her customer wants done to her articles of clothing at Coyle's Cleaners.

Darren Richnafsky and David Billman price Christmas lights in the stockroom at True-Value Hardware.

Denise Durnbaugh massages shampoo into a customer's hair in preparation for a haircut at Julian's Hair Design in Camp Springs.

As the customer rattles off his order, Cheryl Burnett punches it in on the register at Hardee's.

The Boomerang staff set out to find just what Surrattsville's number one favorites were in music and entertainment. The results of the poll will be no surprise to anyone who is a true Horner because many of the winners are all-time favorites of Surrattsville.

In the area of music, four of last year's winners repeated. They include DC101, Lionel Richie, Pat Benatar, and Journey. Though it may seem that the Horners' taste in music has remained stagnant, the other winners prove that Horners can roll with the changing music scene also. 93KYS, a soul station, reflects SHS's diversified taste and the rock song, "Burning Down the House," shows that New Rock has arrived at SHS and is being accepted.

For entertainment, Horners love to party. If there isn't a party, Horners engage in a traditional ritual called "rolling" in which a group of people get together and "decorate" an unsuspecting victim's house with rolls of toilet paper.

All in all, the results of the poll reflect changes in the Horners' tastes as well as proof that tradition is big here at SHS.

#1 WEEKEND ACTIVITY

Rolling At The Morp Dance

WHAT?! No MUSIC . . . at a dance?

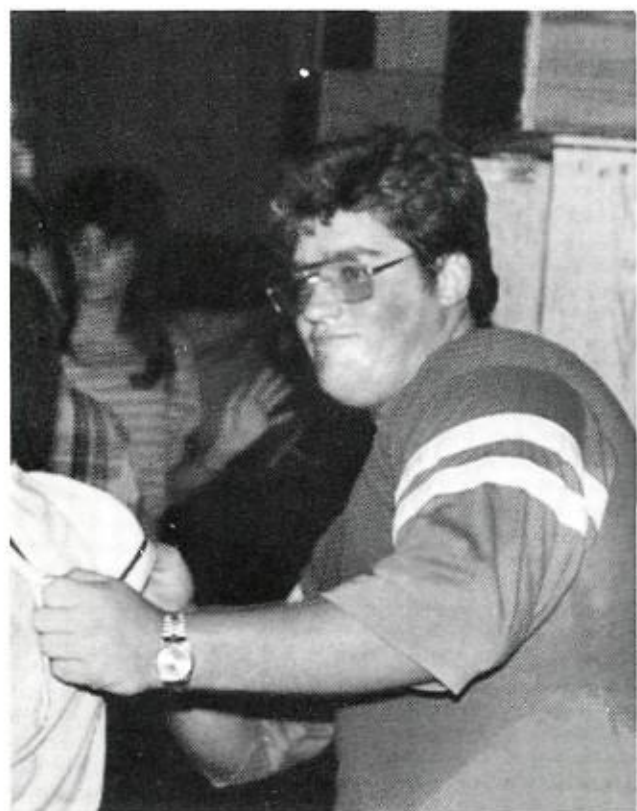

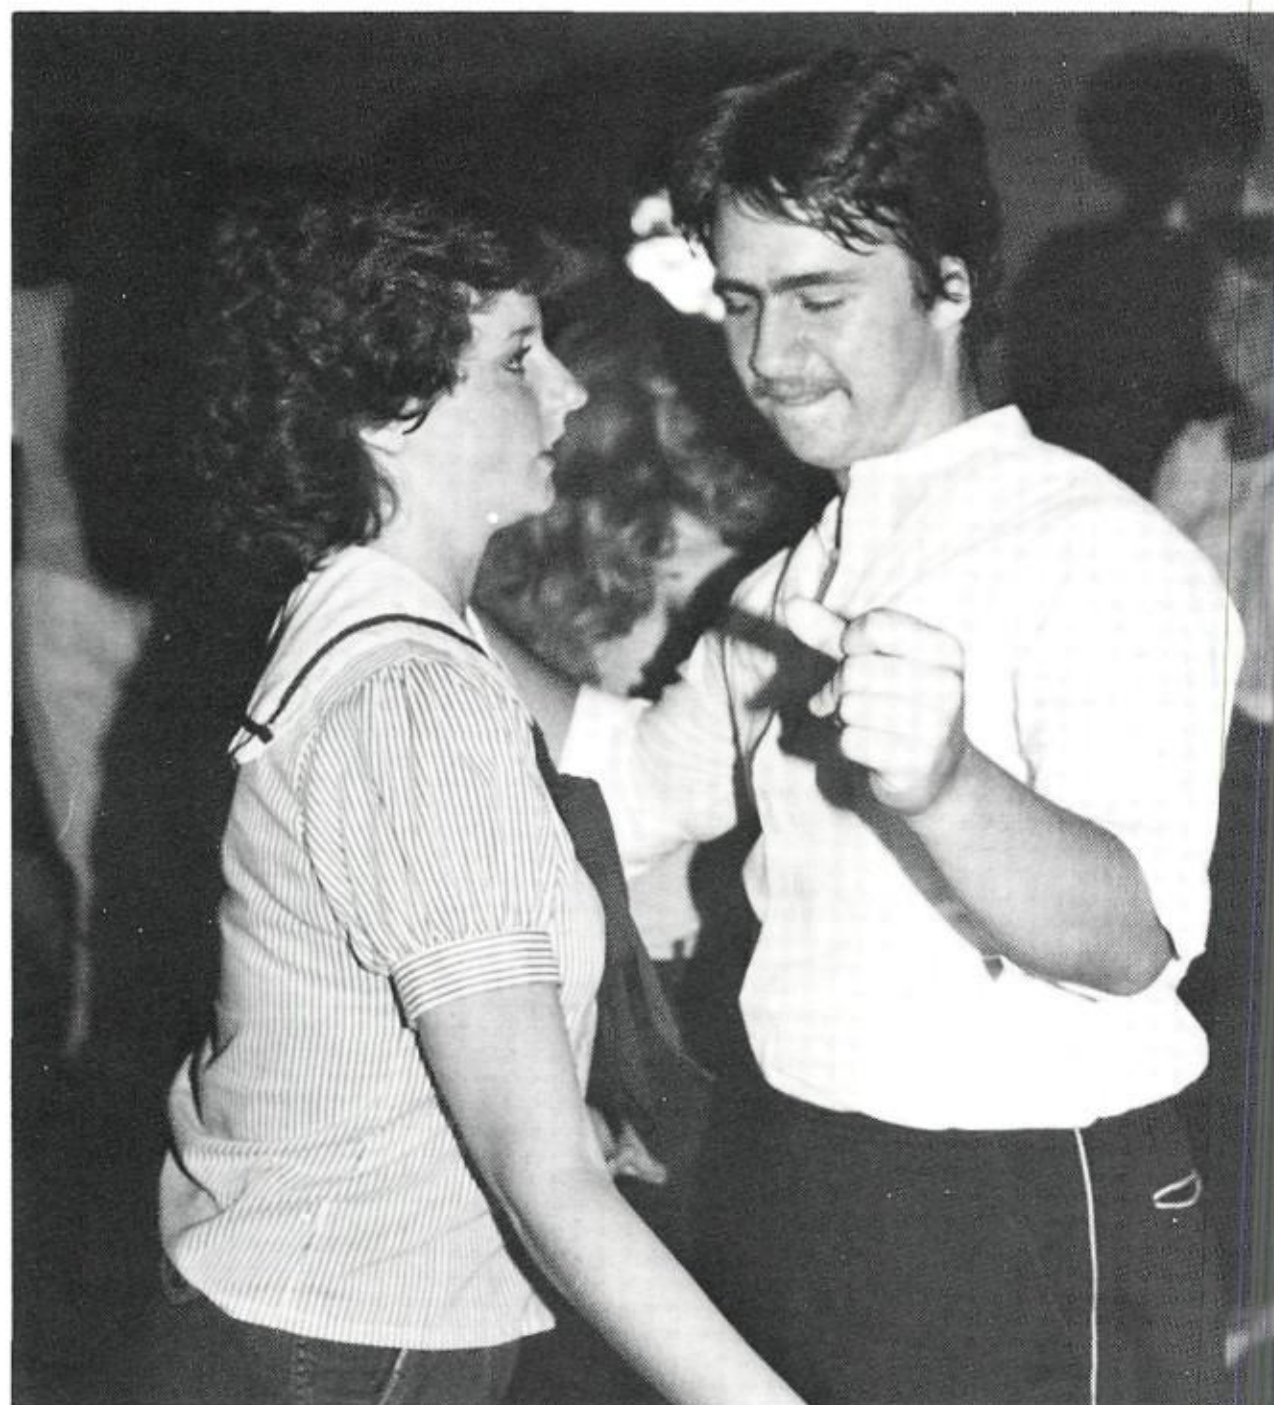

The second annual Morp Dance, sponsored by Surrattsville's pom-pom squad on September 9, was almost not meant to be. Apparently, the Sound Tech disc jockey's tapes were misplaced. So while waiting for another set of tapes to arrive from Sound Tech, the pom-pom squad gathered tapes from the students; thus, the dance was saved.

To start things off, the pom-pom squad taped invitations to the dance on everyone's lockers to assure that everyone knew about it. As a result, about 90 to 100 people attended the dance compared to only 60 to 70 people last year. It was a most successful night.

The theme of the dance was the same as last year's which was "Let's Roll." To carry out this theme, the squad engaged in a popular weekend activity: rolling. The squad enjoyed decorating the school's multi-purpose room with toilet paper as well as balloons and Christmas lights.

As the first dance of the year, Morp made a great opener for the 1983-84 school year social activities. The success of the dance was due to the very spirited crowd in attendance. Also, a number of alumni showed up to help kick off the school year. As an added plus, the dance was extended to 11:30, thanks to an understanding Mr. Colgan who thought that it was only fair since the dance had started 30 minutes late. Although the dance got off to a bad start, it certainly got the student body's school spirit "rolling."

Rock and rolling all night long, Senior Steve Vursinas and Allison Snyder prove that they can shake it right.

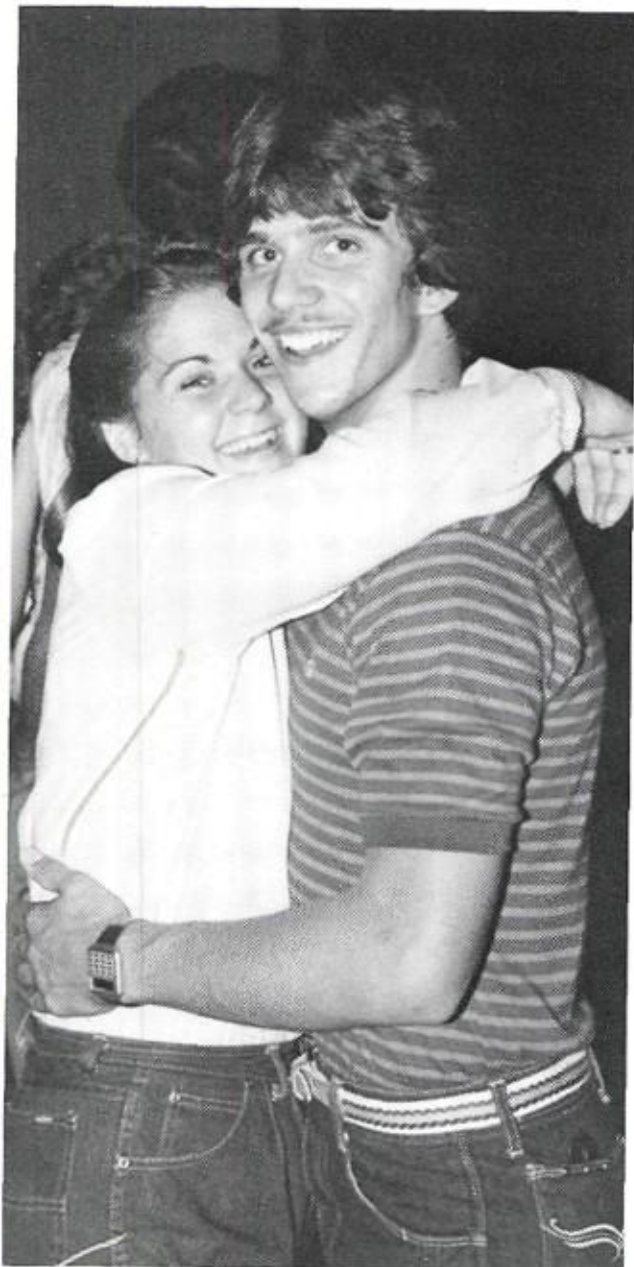

Giving it all he's got, Senior Mike Woodbrey shows his style.

"Cheri, uh, what are you doing? The hula?" Junior Cheri Oakes demonstrates a new way to smurf to George Fearwell.

Just having a good old time, seniors Rira Bouchard and John Dilsky exchange bear hugs.

Steve Twig and Pam Howard sit out a song for a few friendly words.

Senior Randy Hayden gives a solo performance.

"Hey, Mrs. Terry, have you heard the one about . . ." Senior Joey Hoffman and Mrs. Terry share a friendly joke or two.

"One, two, three, kick, step, and turn!" Shawn Stafford, Darryl Dillard, and Jarrod Edge try out some Michael Jackson steps.

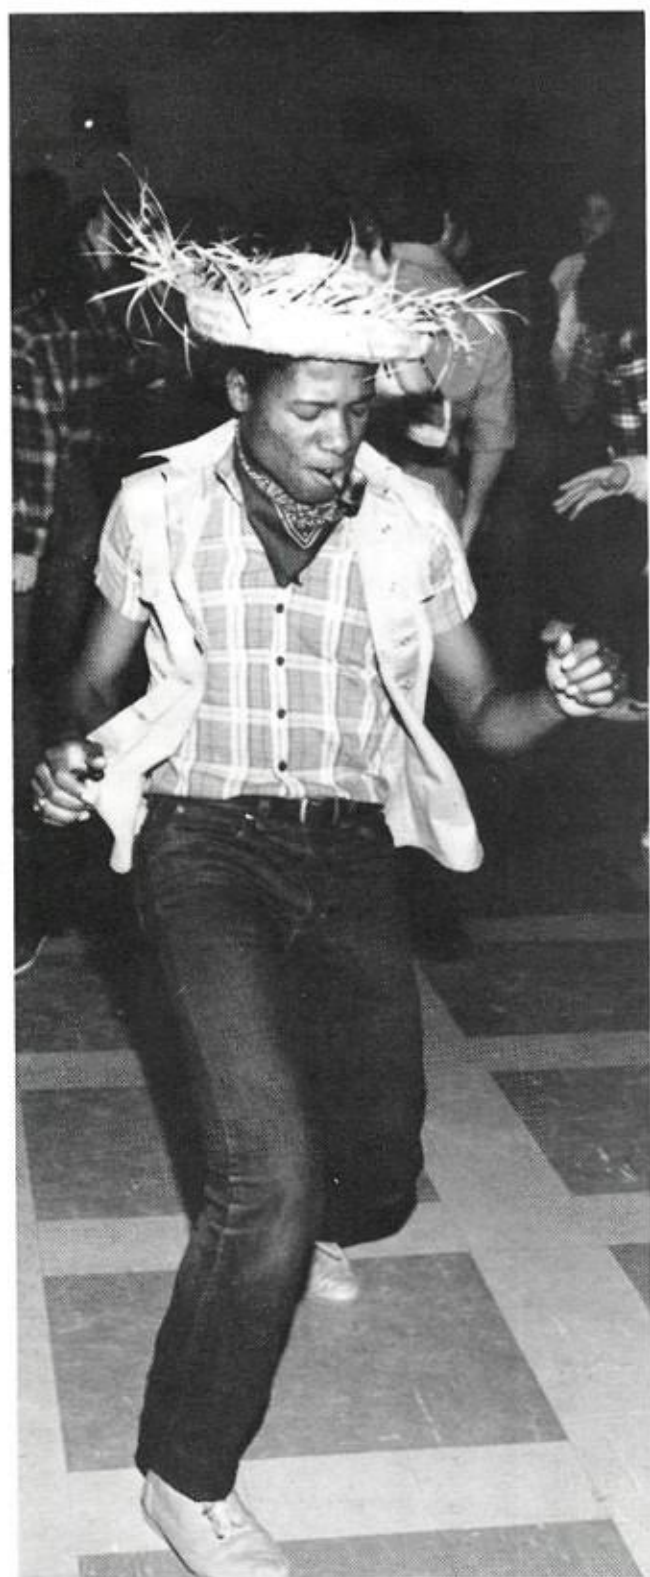

Mr. Tobler scans the floor for a dance partner-any volunteers?

Kick Up Your Heels!

The girls of Surrattsville anxiously awaited the Sadie Hawkins Dance which took place on November 18. The girls finally got their chance to ask the guys of their choice to go out to dinner and to the dance. Some girls even went as far as opening doors for their man. When they arrived at the dance, the traditional marriage ceremonies were performed for those who wished to tie the knot. Then they went to the honeymoon booth for sixty seconds. The rest of the evening was spent dancing the night away to Bristol Sound.

The hillbilly atmosphere set the mood. The senior class did an excellent job of decorating and organizing the dance. For the most part it was a foot stomping and knee slapping time!

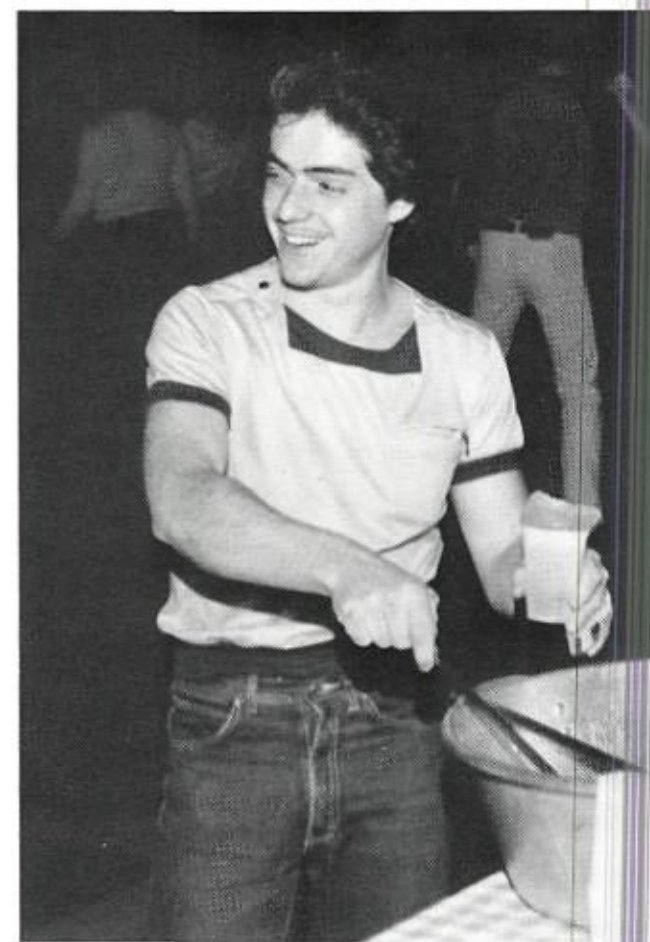

The music, provided by Bristol Sound, brought out the John Travolta in senior Ron Davis.

Ritchie Brenner enjoys a slow dance with Ann Rowe.

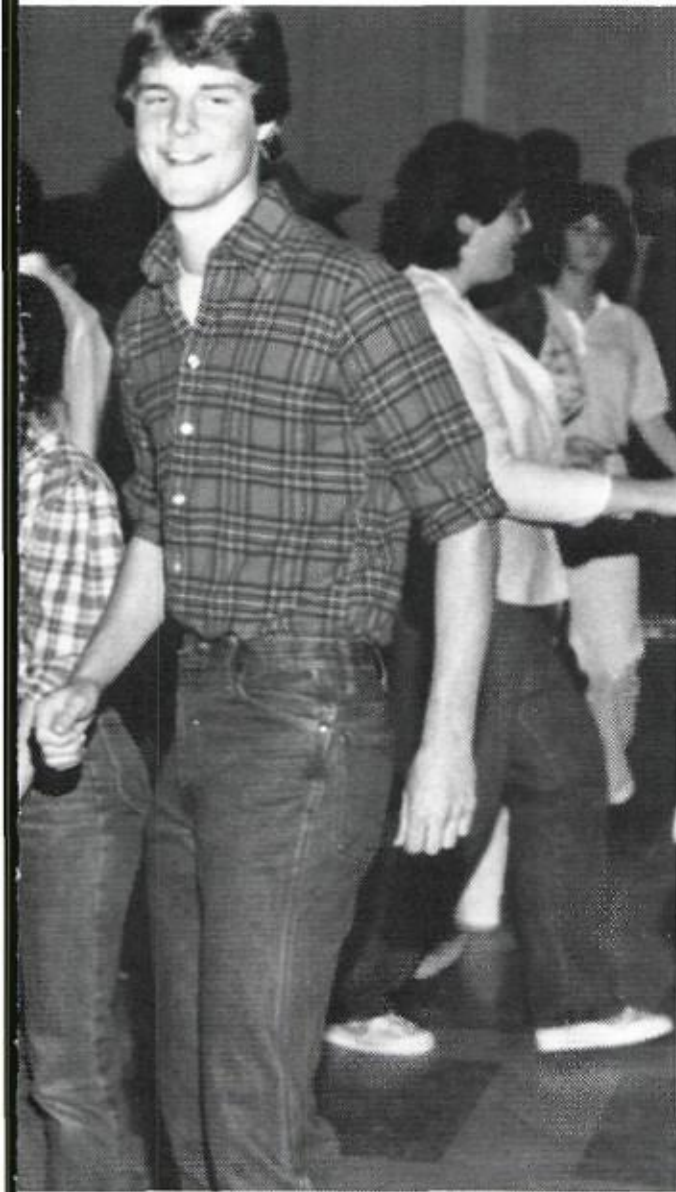

Mary Gann claims her cowboy, Charlie Boyer.

Junior Michelle Bouchard steals Danny Hoffman for a quick dance to the tunes of Bristol Sound.

Scott Miller takes time to pour his date a harmless brew.

"With this ring, I thee wed . . .". Mark Gorman and Debbie Kessler get hitched by Marryin' Sam.

Vivian Lee chose John Leishear as her date for the dance. From the look on John's face, it seems he's glad she did.

After a leisurely dinner at Chuck E. Cheese's and some dancing, Emily Ebling and Scott Gerczynski take a break.

Friday The

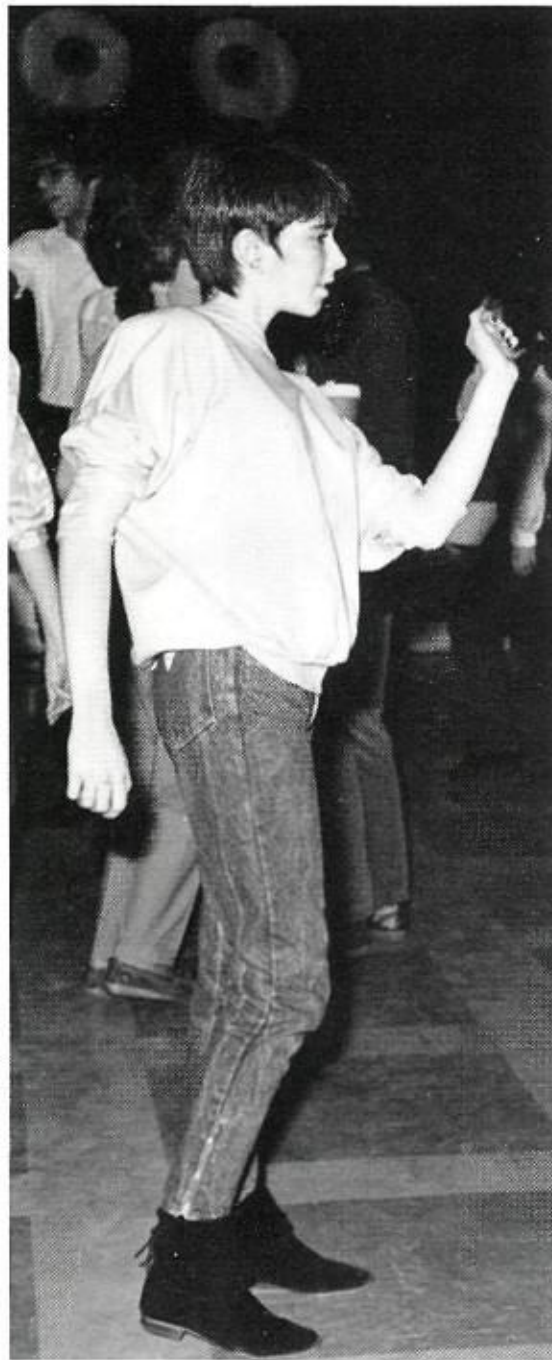

On January 13, 1984, for the first time in Surrattsville High School's history, a Friday the Thirteenth Dance was held. To the theme of Michael Jackson's smash "Thriller," the juniors and sophomores hosted a haunting tribute to the inhabitants of the underworld.

Decorated with red and black streamers and the hanging body of a former math teacher, the once peaceful cafeteria resembled the meeting place for the walking dead. Even the punch appeared to be a blood-chilling red.

However, through all of this, some disbelieving fools found the dance rather "cute," and decided to leave early to beat the ice storm that was brewing outside. Their bodies were never recovered.

"For no mere mortal can resist the evil of the thriller."

R.T.

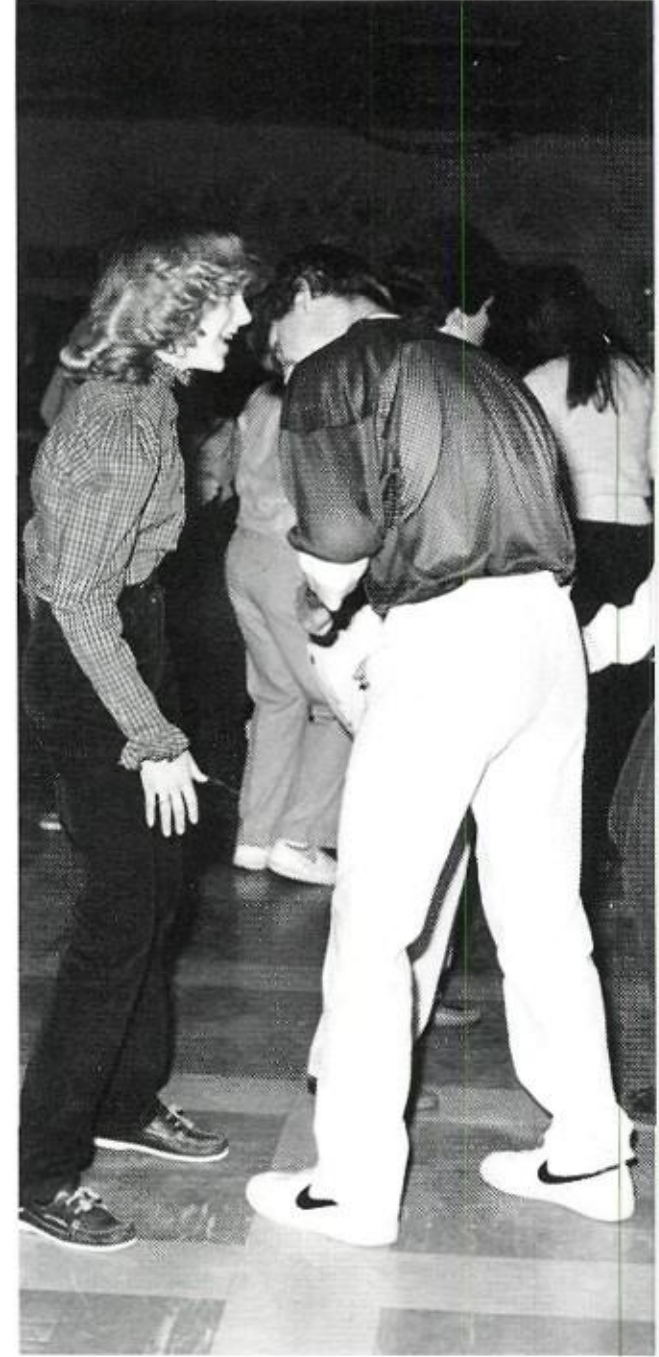

The spooky eyes watch sophomore Bridget Lavish dancing a new wave.

Juniors Billy Green and Mila Cook get it together to the eerie sounds of the Thriller Dance.

As the blood red eyes look on, the D.J. from B.T.Y.P. plays a mysterious tune.

Thriller 13th

Sitting one out. Dobby Gorman and Lynn Kennel take a break from a long night of dancing to share a quiet moment together.

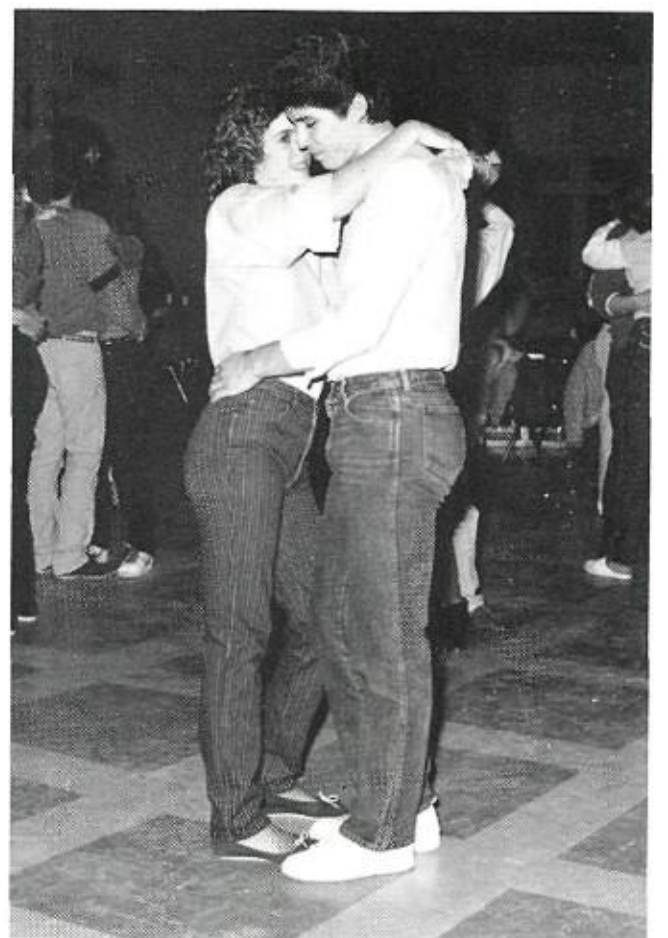

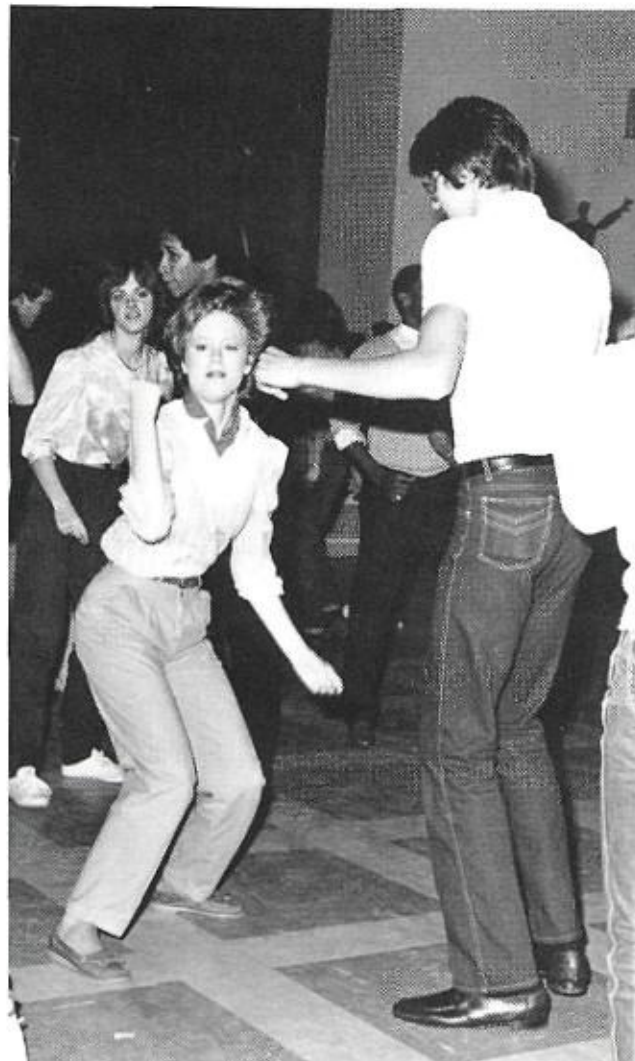

A former teacher at Surrattsville is the center of attention at the dance.

Juniors Stacy Giolda and Mitzi Carollo show the tall and the short of it while dancing together.

Juniors Lisa Kearns and Tommy Carnucci seem to enjoy the moment despite the creepy atmosphere.

A Change Of Heart

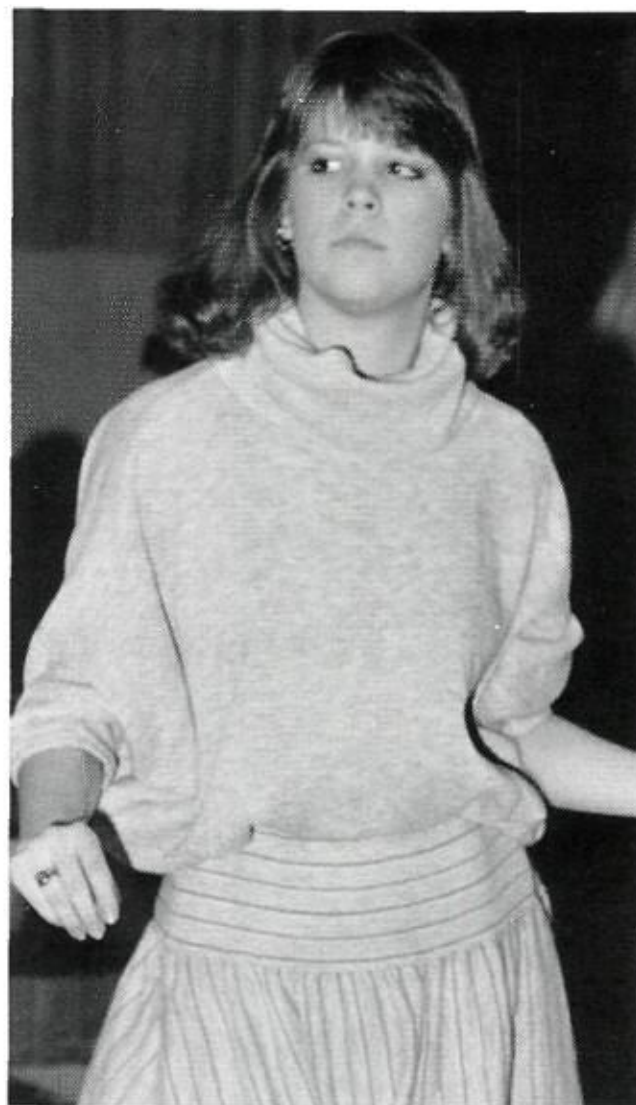

On February 17, 1984, the seniors sponsored the Valentine's Dance. The boys finally got their chance to ask their favorite sweetheart to this once-a-year event. Some of the girls even asked their favorite guy. The dance began at 8:00, and music was provided by Mega Sound, which is headed by senior John McGee and his brother Bobby.

The king and queen of this year's dance were Tommy Carania and Mirzi Carollo. The king and queen were decided by the number of hearts purchased for a student. Cupid's arrow seemed to strike many during the night. The dance was an overall success.

Bobby McGee helps out while his brother John Takes time out to dance.

Karen E. Hodge stares dreamily into space as she dances with Steve Vutsinas.

Julie Lee keeps her eye on that special guy while dancing.

Juniors Dawn Reynolds and Mike Quattrone share a cherishable moment as they dance to a slow song.

Senior Tommy Catania and junior Mitzi Carollo were crowned the Horner Honeys at the dance.

Senior Lori Martin struts her stuff as she dances to the music of Mega Sound.

Disc jockey John McGee did a spectacular job at the dance in making it a memorable night for everyone.

Sweethearts Bo Corser and Chris Ababa share a memorable moment as they dance to the last slow dance of the night.

Breaking New Ground

Ground breaking was a ceremony to commemorate the Surrattsville renovation project which will be completed in the spring or summer of '85. The ceremony itself was to show the first broken ground in the project. It was an invitation-only affair with the Board of Education asked to come. Selected students were also allowed to represent the entire student body.

Numerous county, school, and religious officials were present. Among the invited guests were Sue Mills; State Senator Mike Miller; Father David Bava, St. John's Parish; and Reverend David Hall, Pastor of Christ Episcopal Church.

Entertainment was provided by our own Surrattsville chorus and band. Refreshments were also served in the library.

Mr. Eugene Colgan, principal at Surrattsville, begins a speech concerning the renovation.

Senior trumpeteers Jamie Harris and John McGee harmonize on music that accompanied the ceremony. Jamie played on the varsity football team and was band treasurer. John was president of the band and also ran his own D.J. service.

Supervisor of Business, Ms. Sallie Fitts, listens to an enthusiastic supporter of the renovation.

Mr. Norman Saunders, Facilitations Committee member, begins to present awards to Dr. Jim Lally, Retired Col. Francis O'Clair, Mrs. Norma Raffaele, Mrs. Ellen Talbert-Miller, and Sen. Mike Miller.

Battle Of

The weather was very cold, very wet, and very dreary, but that did not stop the most spirited of Surrattsville's population from attending Class Night. Inside the gym, spirit and enthusiasm ran high in all the classes. People wandered in decked out in all sorts of costumes, adding fun and laughs to the atmosphere.

This year marked two firsts. Four instead of three classes battled it out for Class Night. The freshmen's input certainly made it a more challenging activity. Also, Class Night '84 was the first time two classes tied for victory. The juniors and the seniors, with their experience, showed the sophomores and freshmen how to do it right. Final score of the night: seniors and juniors, 104; sophomores, 70; and freshmen, 52.

The freshmen participants show their 50's spirit.

Melody Faber and Jerry Elmore compete in the pudding contest.

Freshmen Billy Cornelius is ready to roll!

Stacy Gielda said, "Oh no!" as Diana Lau races to the finish line in human croquet.

Debbie Ralis takes on the whole sophomore class.

The Classes

The sophomores show their spirit by cheering on their class participants.

Bridget Lavish stuffs a banana in Steve Ralis' mouth in hopes of a first place finish in the 3-legged race.

David DelVillar along with other sophomore participants puts in a team effort.

Tommy Rivoire, are you having fun making a mummy out of Debbie Shearer?

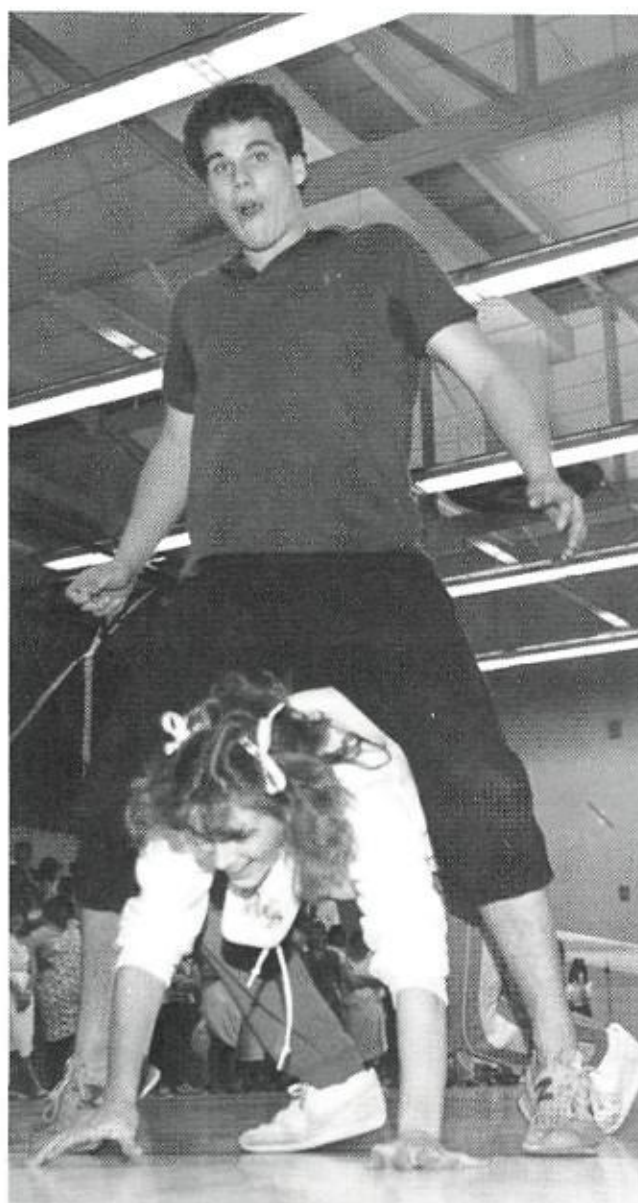

And The Winners Are

The junior class with their gangster theme placed third in the decorations category but won first for costumes.

Scott Gerczynski and Billy Greene carry a mummified Debbie Kessler to the finish line.

On his tiptoes, senior Tommy Miller gives ample room for junior Lisa Kearns to pass by in human croquet.

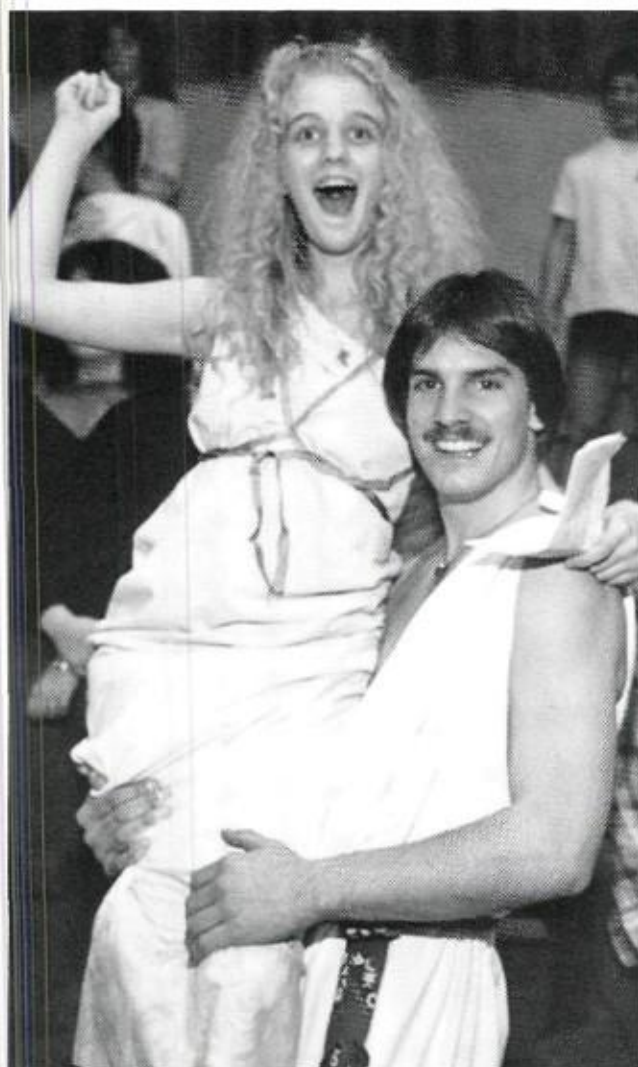

Junior gangsters Brenda Bougher and Darryl Dillard prove that two backs are better than one.

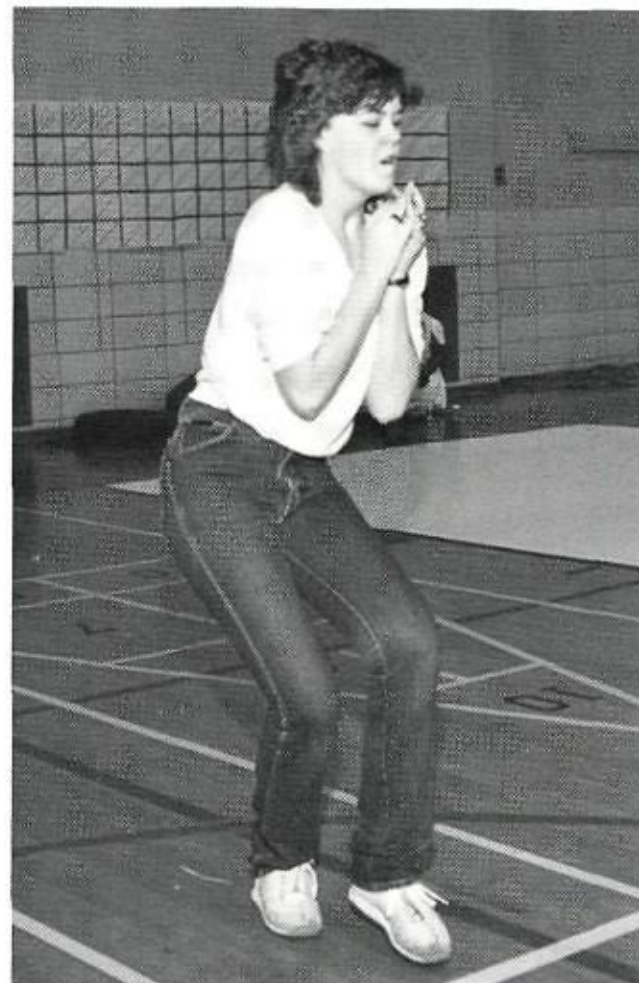

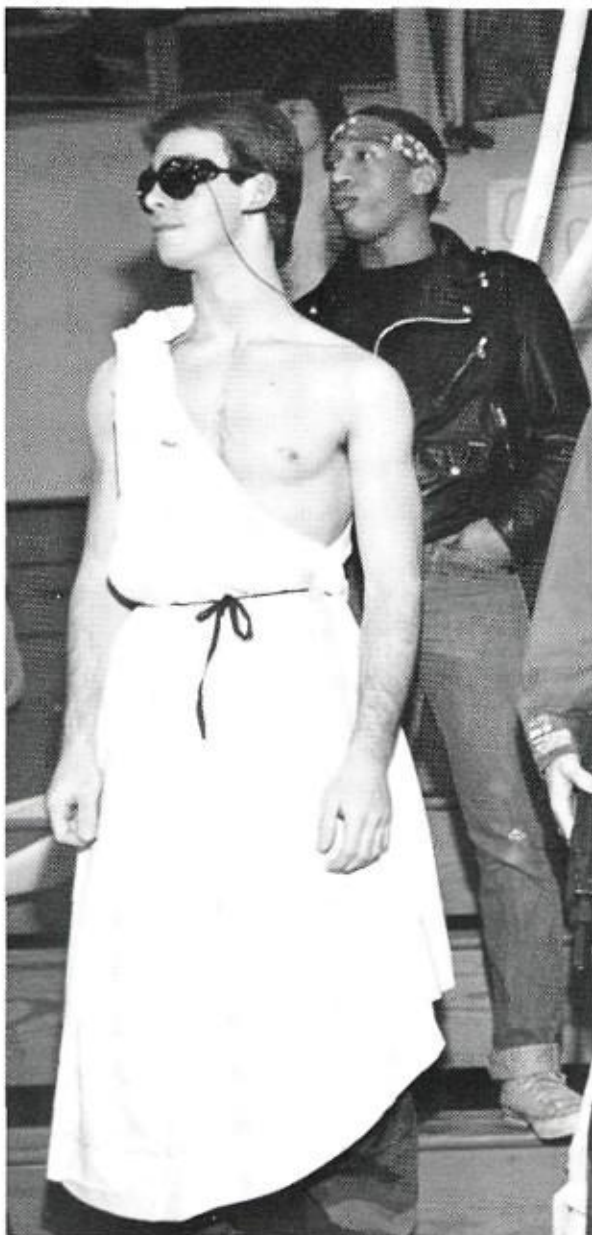

Marcie Perry, Richie Cooke, and Debbie Joyner come all decked out in stylish togas.

The seniors make the most out of their Animal House theme. The costumes ranged from togas and fatigues to rough bike-riders. The seniors got first place in enthusiasm.

Jeff Hale and Tammy Andersen show their senior pride.

Betsy Dunlap cradles the egg tenderly in her hands during the egg toss, winning first place in the event.

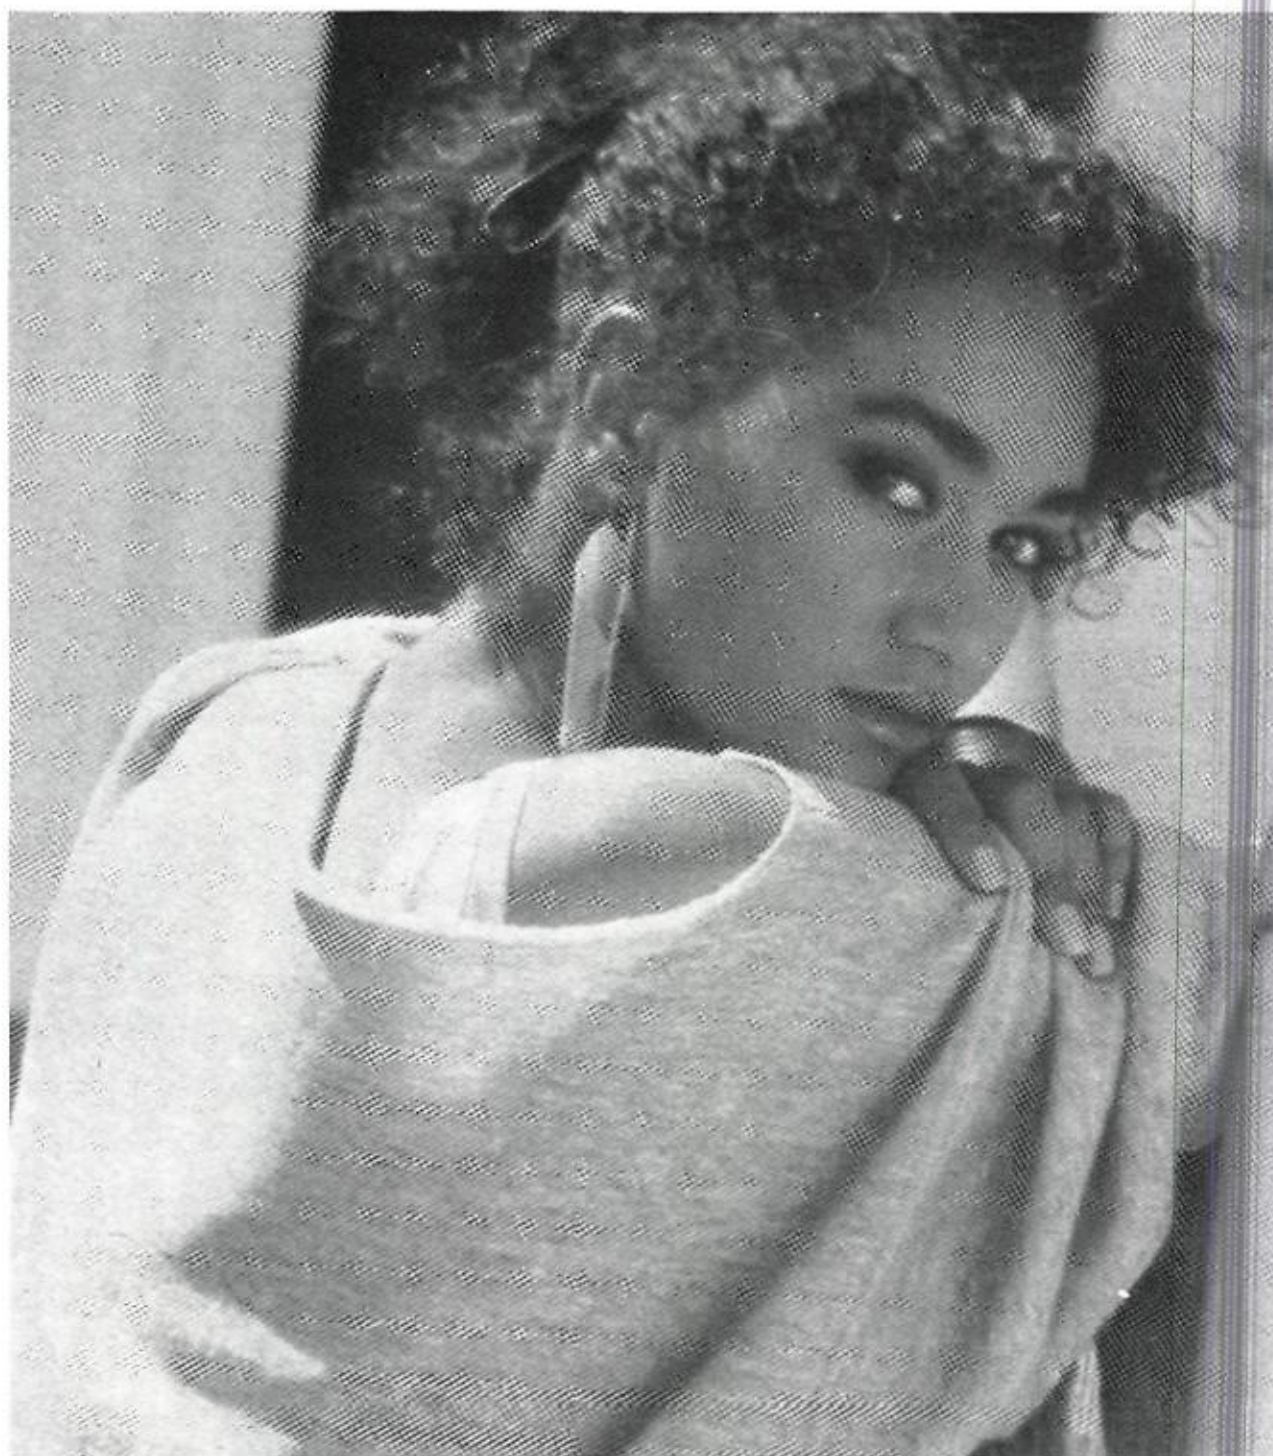

Eric Lenhart shows his version of a GQ Greek in fatigues and toga with funky sunglasses.

Our Everchanging World

HERE TODAY, GONE TOMORROW

Fads may come and go, but it's the impression these fads leave on us that influences society. Cordless phones became a necessity for many . . . Torn sweatshirt fashions inspired by Flashdance became popular . . . Popcorn became fancy with outrageous flavors like pinacolada, grape, and strawberry . . . Cute animal slippers and cuddly Cabbage Patch dolls became "the" thing to get for Christmas . . . The Neo-50's sunglasses dotted the beach scene . . . Cuddly Care Bears showed up in every home as did Garfield . . . Home computers became as popular as microwave ovens.

CURRENT EVENTS

It is sad to admit that 1983 was a year of unrest . . . Palestine had a civil war . . . Korean Airlines Flight 007 was hit by a Soviet missile, killing 269 innocent passengers . . . U.S.-related groups were plagued with terrorism. The bombing of the U.S. Marine Battalion Landing Team Barracks in Beirut was demolished by a suicidal attack, killing 239 Americans . . . U.S. Marines saw action in Grenada, winning the assault against the Marxist Regime . . . Pope John Paul II made a pilgrimage to Poland and Central America to heal political rifts within the church . . . 250,000 anti-nuclear war demonstrators in West Germany joined hands forming a sixty-five mile human chain to stop the scheduled installation of nine Pershing II missiles . . . Menachem Begin resigned from his post as Prime Minister of Israel . . . 147 villages in Turkey were leveled by an earthquake which measured 7.1 on the Richter Scale, killing 1,336 people.

A FIRST TIME-FOR EVERYTHING

The 1983-84 school year was a year of firsts . . . Dr. Sally K. Ride became the first American woman in space . . . Jesse Jackson ran for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. Harold Washington became the first black mayor in Chicago. Vanessa Williams was the first black Miss America . . . The year also marked the 100th birthday of the Brooklyn Bridge . . . 250,000 people commemorated Martin Luther King's birthday with a rally in Washington, D.C. . . Home video prices dropped drastically in 1983 due to technological advances . . . A troubling side of the computer revolution evolved when teenagers proved even they could tap into "secure" computer systems . . . The winter of 1983-84 was a record-breaking year for cold and blizzards, while the summer of 1983 brought the nation a severe drought . . . A court ruling forced the breakup of AT&T.

Our Everchanging Culture

THE BRITISH ARE COMING . . . AGAIN

MTV. It reached over 17 million homes in 1983, made over $20 million, and revitalized the record industry. MTV (Music Television) first aired over cable networks in 1981. Record sales had dropped drastically three years before and never seemed to pick up until MTV was carried over 300 cable channels to 2.5 million homes. The videos aired over MTV gave the public a visual dimension to music.

With the help of MTV and the birth of music videos, the British Invasion of 1964-65 was reincarnated. Groups like the Police, Culture Club, Duran Duran, Madness, U2, Eurythmics, and soloists like David Bowie, Elvis Costello, and Billy Idol were among the many who for the first time dominated America's top 100 singles. The American Top 40 was also invaded by the British with a ratio of 26:16.

Computerized music and Michael Jackson were all the rage. Herbie Hancock with a little help from his Apple computer led the way for new sounds in the record industry. Michael Jackson spent the year breaking almost every record in the music industry; his album Thriller sold more than any other soloist's album in history and had more singles in the top 10 than any other album.

NO BIX LIKE SHOW BIZ

1983 was the year for entertainment. It's no wonder the movie industry had a record breaking season with trendsetting movies like Flashdance, Risky Business, and War Games; adventure films like Return of the Jedi; and emotion-filled movies like The Right Stuff, Terms of Endearment, Silkwood, Yentl, and The Big Chill.

On television, mini-series like The Thorn Birds and Winds of War were popular as were controversial movies like The Day After and Something About Amelia, which dealt with the subject of incest. Probably the most watched T.V. show of the year was the last *M*A*S*H* episode after eleven years as a television series.

WE REMEMBER THEM WELL

The 1983/84 school year was marked by the death of many important people like Soviet General Secretary Yuri Andropov and radio and television personalities like Arthur Godfrey, Jessica Savitch, and Frank Reynolds. Movie greats Buster Crabbe and Slim Pickens, actor David Niven, Broadway actress Ethel Merman, silent film actress Gloria Swanson, and Olympic gold medalist-turned-actor Eubie Blake, Muddy Waters, Beach Boys' drummer Dennis Wilson, and playwright Tennessee Williams will also be missed. Artificial heart recipient Barney Clark died just 112 days after his transplant, a major scientific advancement. Athletes like Jack Dempsey, the World Heavyweight Boxing Champion from 1919-1926, died, as did Kansas City Chief Joe Delaney, who gave his life trying to save two drowning children.

WINTER OLYMPIC HIGHLIGHTS

The 1984 Winter Olympics were an overall success for the U.S. As expected, Scott Hamilton won the gold and Rosalynn Sumners won the silver in the men's and women's figure skating competitions. The brother and sister figure skating team of Kitty and Peter Carruthers captured the silver medal while brothers Phil and Steve Mahre prevailed on the slalom course winning the gold and silver, respectively. Darkhorse Bill Johnson captured the gold in the alpine downhill as did Debbie Armstrong who came in first in the giant slalom with teammate Christin Cooper coming in second. The U.S. had many other important achievements in the winter games that weren't awarded medals. Figure skater Tiffany Chin placed fourth as did ski-jumper Jeff Hastings and ice dancing couple Judy Blumberg and Michael Siebert. The American bobsledding team came in fifth in the four-man competition, the best since the 1956 Olympic games.

Marja-Liisa Hamalainen a cross-country skier from Finland was the only competitor in the winter games to win three gold medals. Hamalainen, East German speed skater Karin Enke, and Gunde Svan, a cross-country skier from Sweden, each won four medals, more than anyone else in the winter Olympic games of 1984.

MILESTONES AND MIRACLES

In 1983 Rod Dixon became the first foreigner ever to win the New York City Marathon while Joan Benoit finished first in the women's division of the Boston Marathon with a record time of 2:22:42 . . . In golf Steve Ballesteros won his second Masters Tournament and Larry Nelson prevailed in the U.S. Open . . . Sixteen year old Aaron Krickstein became the youngest male tennis player ever to win a Grand Prix event by winning a tournament in Tel Aviv while Yannick Noah became the first Frenchman in thirty-seven years to win a French Open. Jimmy Connors defeated Ivan Lendl in the U.S. Open and John McEnroe surpassed Chris Lewis to obtain his fourth Wimbledon title as Martina Navratilova overwhelmed Chris Evert Lloyd and Andrea Jaeger to win the U.S. Open and Wimbledon, respectively . . . In pro basketball Dr. J and the '76ers were #1, while on the college circuit N.C. State ranked #1 . . . Newcomer Joe Altobelli managed the Baltimore Orioles all the way to victory in the World Series with shortstop Cal Ripken, Jr. as M.V.P. After 3,308 games with the Boston Red Sox, Carl Yastrzemski retired . . . Jim Plunkett and the Los Angeles Raiders became the #1 NFL team in Super Bowl XVIII, while Marcus Allen not only captured MVP of the game but also set a new Super Bowl record with a seventy-four yard touchdown. The Washington Redskins became the first NFC team to win fourteen regular season games when they finished the year with a 14-2 record. Rams rookie Eric Dickerson led the NFC with 1,808 yards in rushing, setting a new rookie record and winning the title of Rookie of the Year. In college football Nebraska halfback Mike Rozier captured the Heisman Trophy and led the nation in rushing with twenty-nine touchdowns, an NCAA record, while Miami ranked #1. In the newly formed USFL the Michigan Panthers defeated the Philadelphia Stars for the first title game . . . On the racing circuit Tom Sneva won his tenth Indianapolis 500 . . . The New York Islanders own their fourth consecutive Stanley Cup, defeating Wayne Gretzky and the Edmonton Oilers. Brian Lawton became the first American ever to be drafted #1 when he was recruited by the Minnesota North Stars, with Pat La Fontaine drafted #3 by the Islanders. The Washington Capitals attended their first playoff game ever, only to lose to the Stanley Cup winning Islanders . . . After 132 years on American soil America's Cup was brought to the land down under after Australia II and her winged keel defeated USA's Liberty.

Changing Minds

Agnes Meyer award winner, Mr. Ben Collins, displays the new study skills added to the curriculum this year.

"... what man has made,
man can change."

Fred M. Vinson

The emphasis this year was placed on basic academics. Throughout the years, the field of education has taken many turns. Educators have tried new methods such as stressing certain subjects. This year at Surrattsville we have experienced new techniques for improving our academic achievements.

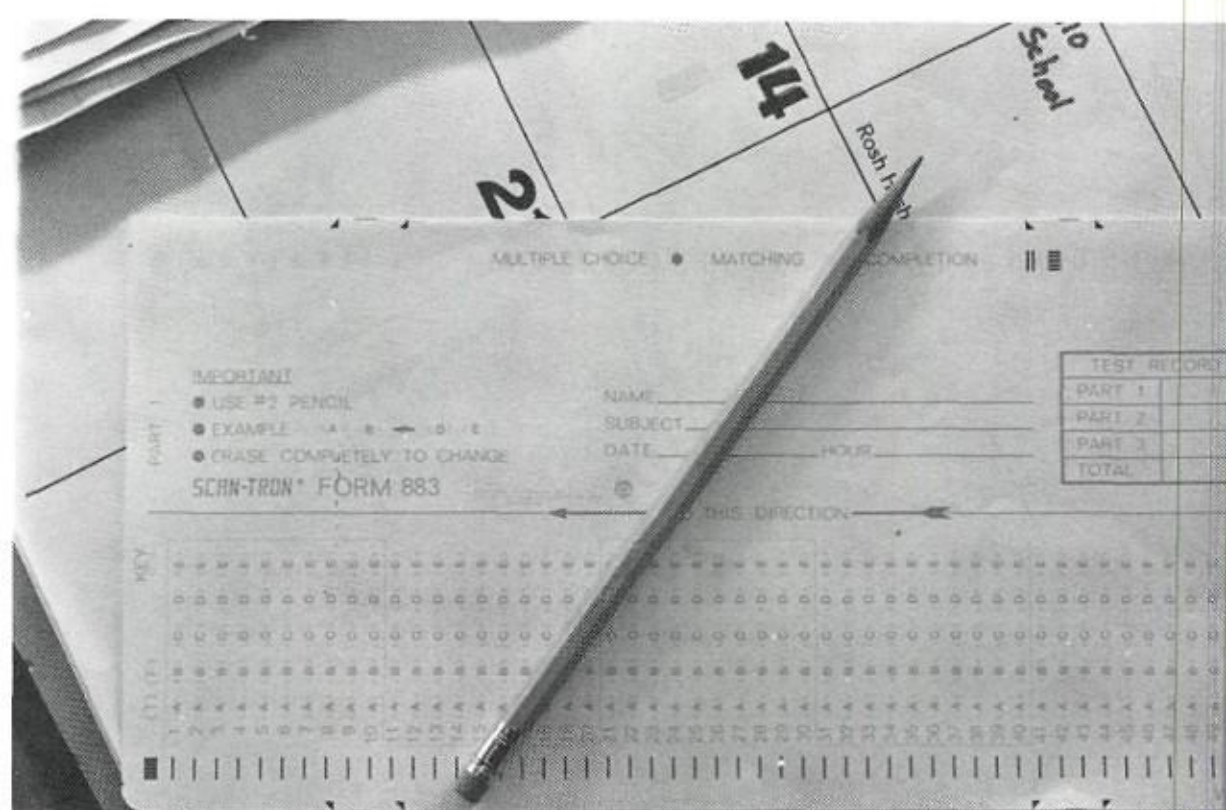

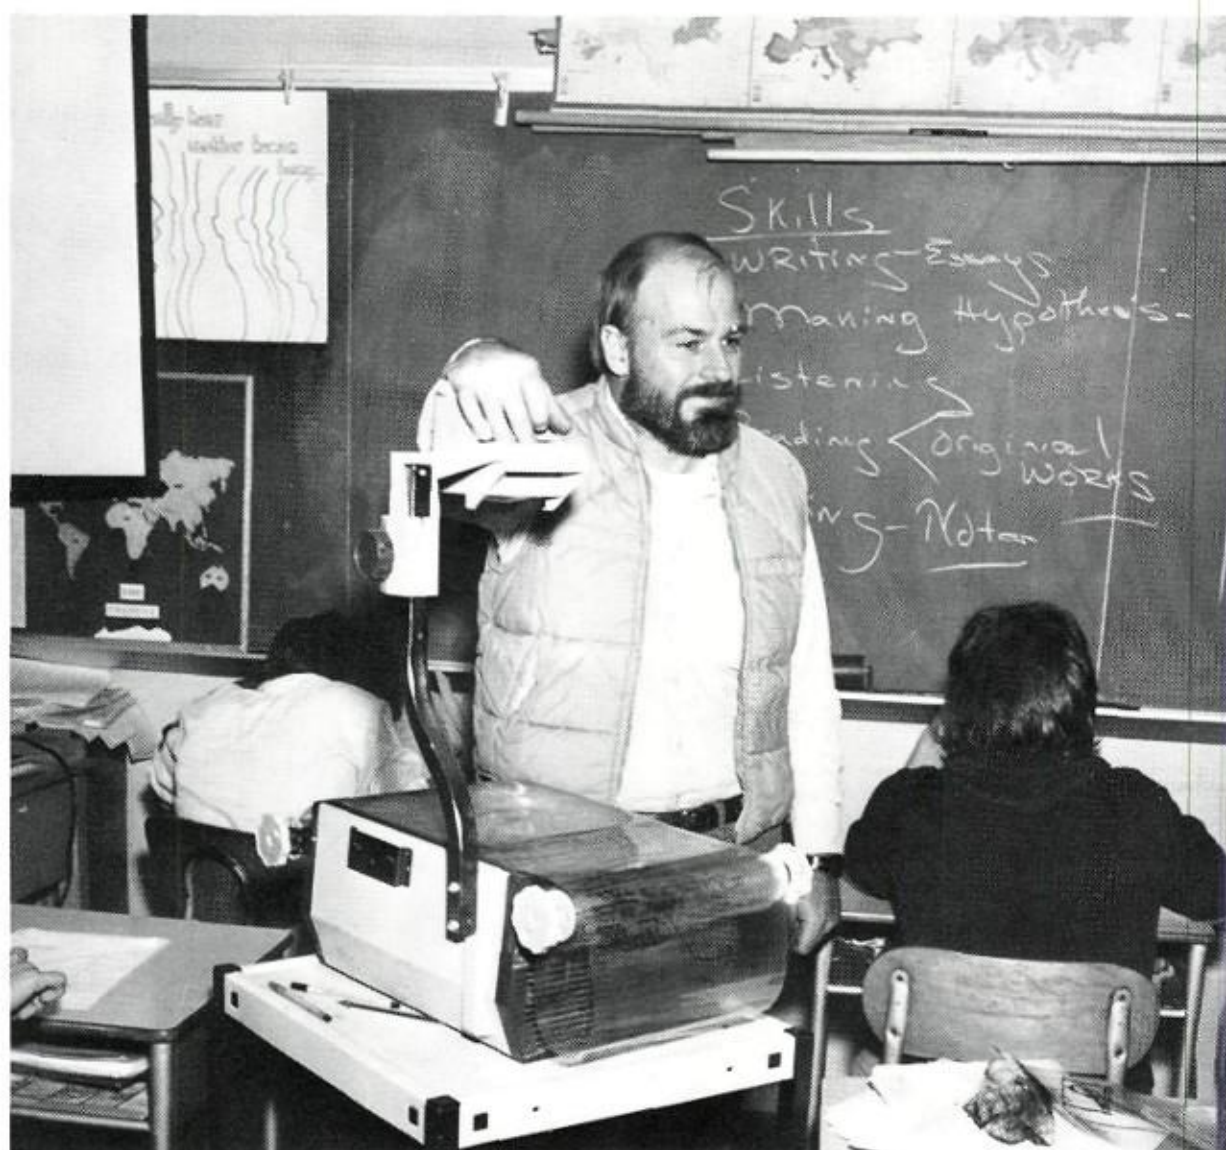

For each subject there was introduced a warm-up drill, which helped motivate the student for that particular class. An example of this is math class; problems were placed on the board and ample time was given to solve the problems, therefore pointing out strengths and weaknesses which could be dealt with on a teacher: student basis.

There has been much controversy over the writing ability of students graduating from high school in the past decade. It is generally felt that the graduates do not have command of the basic skills needed to survive in everyday situations. At our school, the English classes were geared to eliminate some of the deficiencies which graduates face in instances where command of English is an integral part of success, whether the student is college bound or seeking employment after graduation.

The late 20th century has been very science oriented. In this field there has been a demand for scientists as we are striving to find excellence among young capable minds. It is at Surrattsville's Science Fair that we can see how much stress has been placed on the students to compete by using their innate experimental talent.

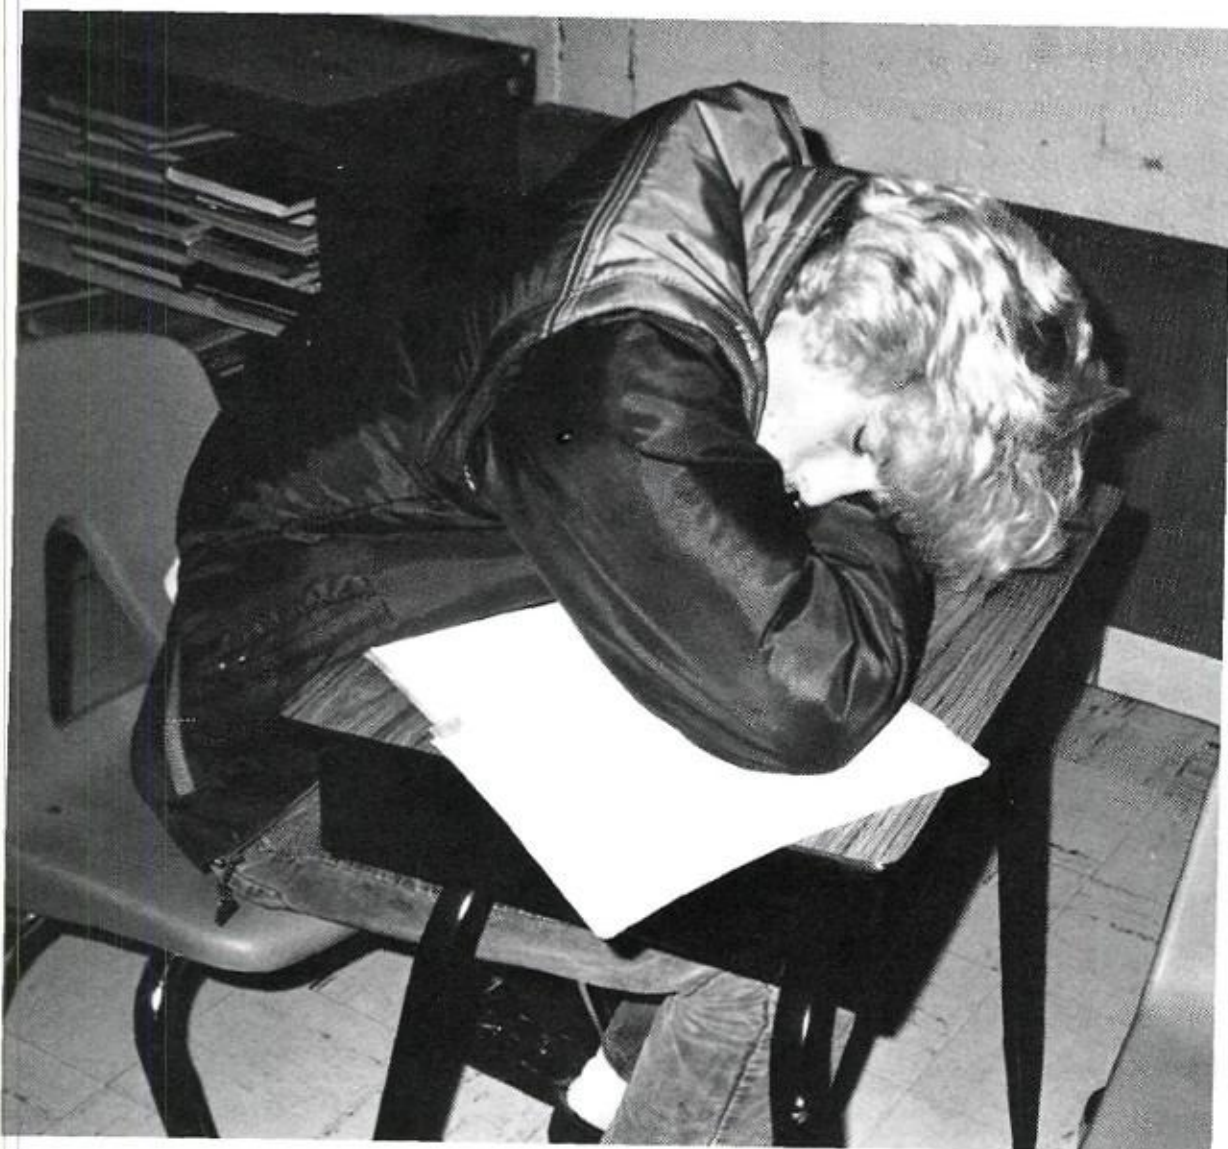

Also at our school, the computer age has been given much emphasis. Classes have been scheduled in this area where students are introduced to basic computer skills providing a foundation for the future.

Even after the school day is complete, students must use the study skills which will reinforce what has been taught during class time.

To students, these computerized test cards are dreaded, but teachers love the time they save in grading.

Junior Kim Bruch, like many other students, spends extra time studying in the media center.

As senior Larry Johnson shows, too much academics can wear a person out.

When not playing football, senior Steve Timmerman learns the homemaking side of life.

Orwell's 1984 ? . . .

Last year's 11th grade TAG English class headed by Mrs. Williams brought to life many characters of the stories read throughout the year.

In order to raise the academic standards to a new stature and to better the future of the students of Surrattsville, amendments were made to the curriculum by the English Department. Beginning with Surrattsville's freshmen class, a Maryland Functional Writing Test will be instituted as a graduation requirement. Senior high school students must be able to construct both an expository and a narrative essay in order to pass the writing test. Along these lines, a writing skills laboratory was introduced to provide students with a source of reference to improve and refine their writing skills.

The writing skills lab was facilitated by the new English Department curriculum coordinator, Mr. Brown, in cooperation with the other English teachers. As such, Mr. Brown's position serves a twofold purpose-teacher and coordinator. Ms. Peale and Mrs. Hunter were also among the additions to the teaching staff here at Surrattsville. Ms. Peale is the new reading skills teacher.

The English Department helped to build a future for the students here at Surrattsville contradictory to the grim prophecies foretold by Orwell in his classic 1984.

Stephanie Overton is ready and waiting to give M Seidell her answer.

Our Year For History

Michelle Stewart and Terry Young make a great team working together on their history assignment.

Shelly Dunn flips through her early western civilization book in search of her answers.

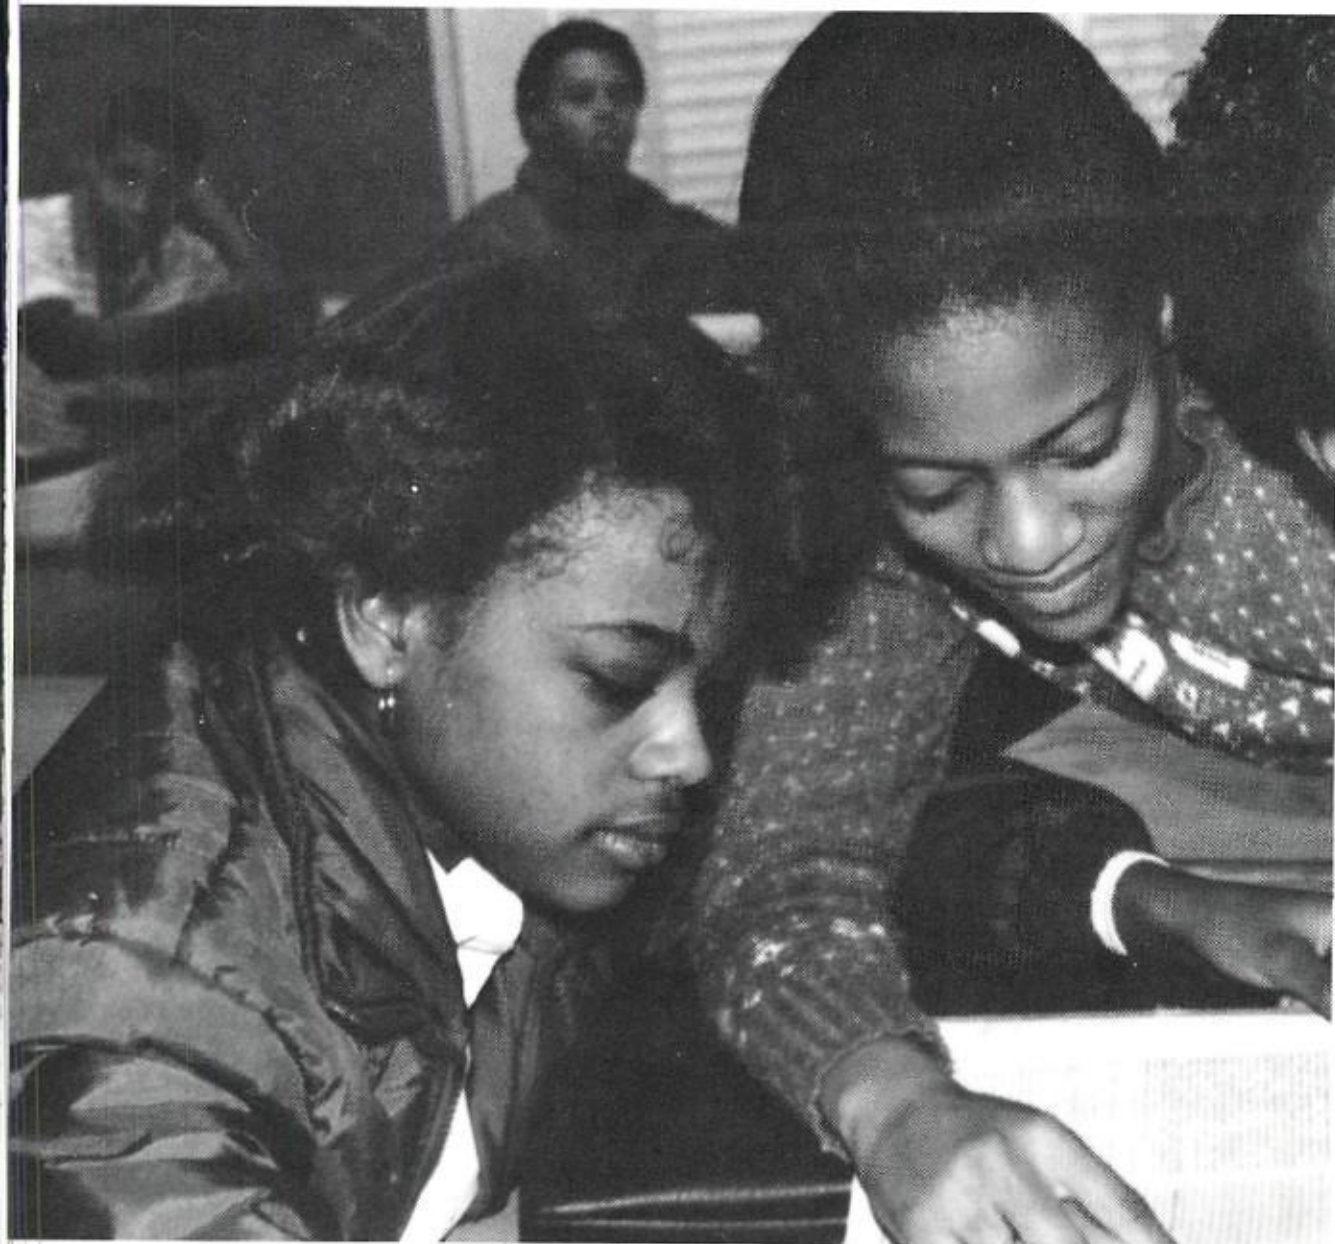

The 1983-1984 school year will be remembered as a year for changes within the Social Studies Department. It was a year in which staff additions were made, and policy amendments and curriculum enhancements were introduced. Among the myriad additions to Surrattsville's teaching staff was Mr. Sr. Ledger, who was hired to facilitate the civics and geography courses to the new freshmen.

In conjunction with the county policy guidelines, each department instituted a curriculum coordinator. Mr. Ben Collins accepted this position for the Social Studies Department, and his purpose was to coordinate and implement the policies and ideas of the school and the Board of Education, as well as to incorporate these and other suggestions into the classrooms to further enhance the education of the students concerned.

With hopes of raising Surrattsville's academic standards, changes in policy have ensued. Surrattsville's freshmen will find that in order to graduate from high school, they will be required to have completed four social studies credits and to have passed a Maryland Functional Citizenship Test.

The Social Studies Department also instituted a current events series and an "Understanding Art" series to enhance the curriculum. In some classes, students were asked to watch a world news program on Channel 26 called PBS Assignment: The World, and were then tested on their knowledge by a Channel 7-sponsored news quiz. Through the cooperation of the National Gallery of Art, the TAG "Understanding Art" series was continued for students to further their comprehension of art.

Tammy Dotson gives a helping hand to fellow classmate Cindy Campbell. SUBJECT? History, of course.

It All Adds Up Two . . .

The Boomerang staff went straight to the new math department chairperson, Mrs. Martha Brown, to inquire about any changes in her department. Addition is, of course, one of one of the several differences in this particular section. Mr. Orr not only made his initial contributions to the science department, but also made his mark mathematically with nothing short of diligent and seemingly tireless effort.

Along with nearly every other department, several of the mathematics teachers migrated from the comfort of their former habitats to the harsh realities of temporaries. Among the teachers who have sacrificed their more favorable domains were Mrs. Stewart, Mr. Hartley, and Mr. Schmidt.

The math team, which was composed mainly of new members this year, is understandably the pride of the Math Department. The freshest and most prominent face amongst this group is the new sponsor, Ms. Butcher.

Junior Bobby Myers concentrates during his second period math class, only to be enhanced by the teaching talent of Mrs. Stewart.

In Algebra II/Trig. class senior Dean Huston earns brownie points with Mrs. Stewart by trying his best at the blackboard.

As Cindy Boblett demonstrates, math work is not nearly as difficult if tackled with a good attitude.

Serious senior A.P. Biology students Chrissy Moore, Susie Miller, Kenny Rhoad, Rita Bouchard, Parti Scott, Mike Cowley, and Debbie Davis show that when it comes to dissection, the more the merrier!

Biology student Eddie Gank attempts with diligent care to master the fine art of handling a microscope.

In Chemistry class, juniors Mila Cook, Billy Makell, and Sophia Carr seem enthralled in their laboratory experience.

... Metamorphosis?! Yes, metamorphosis! How could you possibly forget that word you simply had to learn in biology class that translates to mean a marked change in structure of an animal during its growth? This term seems to be particularly apropos when summarizing the science department because not only does an education of the sciences require a strong sense of curiosity, but the ability to adapt to change is also a necessity.

... Along with part-time science teacher, Mr. Orr, Mrs. Rogers made the change from a junior to a senior high school this year. She teaches both physical science and biology at SHS.

... Additions in the science curriculum, such as TAG physics and earth science, were essential to accommodate the new ninth graders and the promotion of a class of science oriented seniors.

... Metamorphosis!

Busy In Business

The Business Department at Surrattsville includes sixty percent of our school's enrollment. The reason for the popularity in business is that this department provides marketable skills enabling students to go straight from high school into the business world. Surrattsville is keeping up with the world's development by updating its equipment with funds available to go along with the progression of the world.

The major addition to the assets of the Business Department was the purchasing of eight new microcomputers. This was just another thing Surrattsville has done for our students.

Mrs. Goodwin, the Business Department chairman, has made sure our school has kept up with the changes in the business world through community resources. She has brought in many speakers to talk with our students to better their understanding. Some of these speakers came from I.B.M., Catherine Gibbs, The Washington School for Secretaries, The Medix School, and Yorktown Business Institute which offers a $1500.00 scholarship each year to one of our Surrattsville business students.

Surrattsville High School has tried to prepare its students in the best possible way for the future.

Senior Verna Butler obtains a basic print out after her program has been processed.

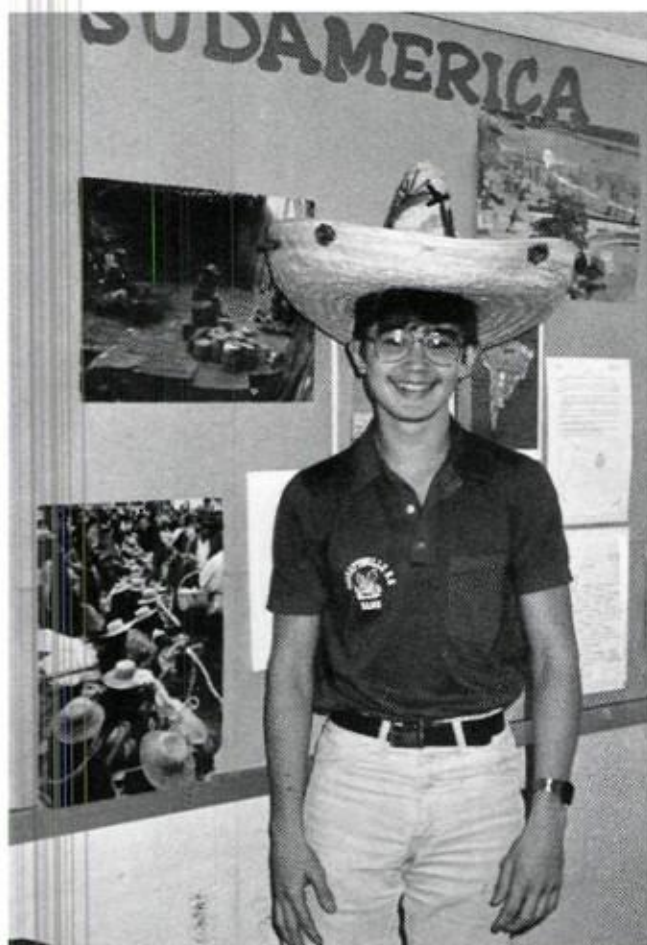

John Brown uses the access to Suitland's terminals to hook up with Surrattsville's new microcomputers.

Juniors Mike Settle and Eric Tinkham study the results of their programs on the new microcomputers.

A Touch Of Culture

Mr. Anderson shares French delicacies with his French class students Yvette Hamill, Elaine Vaden, Dana Bowen, Faye Kepner, Michele Gank, Kim Altizer, Karen Jackson, Debbie Davis, Laura Pollock, and Rita Bouchard.

UNA TOCA DE CULTURA means a touch of culture in Spanish, and a touch of culture is exactly what students are getting in the Foreign Language Department this year. Cultural exchanges are planned once every quarter in which the students themselves cook delicacies from a foreign country and exchange them with other students.

Mrs. Tracey, the new Spanish teacher, is very pleased with her new students and says that the students work hard and are very cooperative. Her students took the idea of a cultural exchange one step farther by holding theirs in a decorated room and even had menus. It was lovingly called "Casa Tracey." The success of these cultural exchanges can be attributed to the enthusiastic attitude of the students according to both Mr. Anderson and Mrs. Tracey.

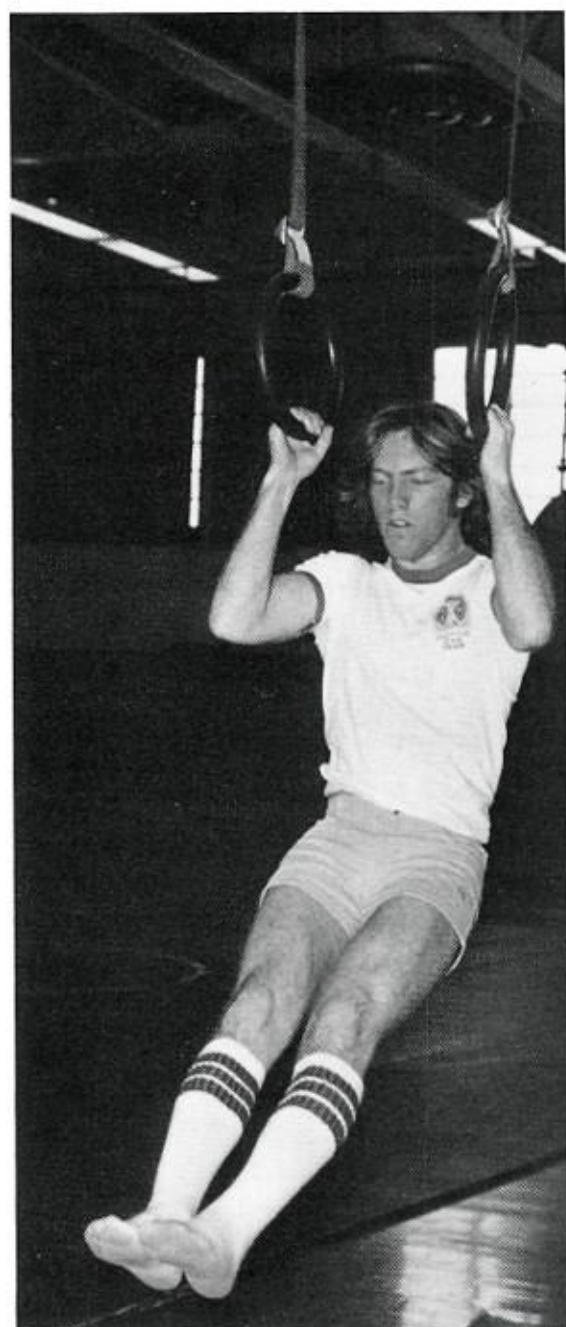

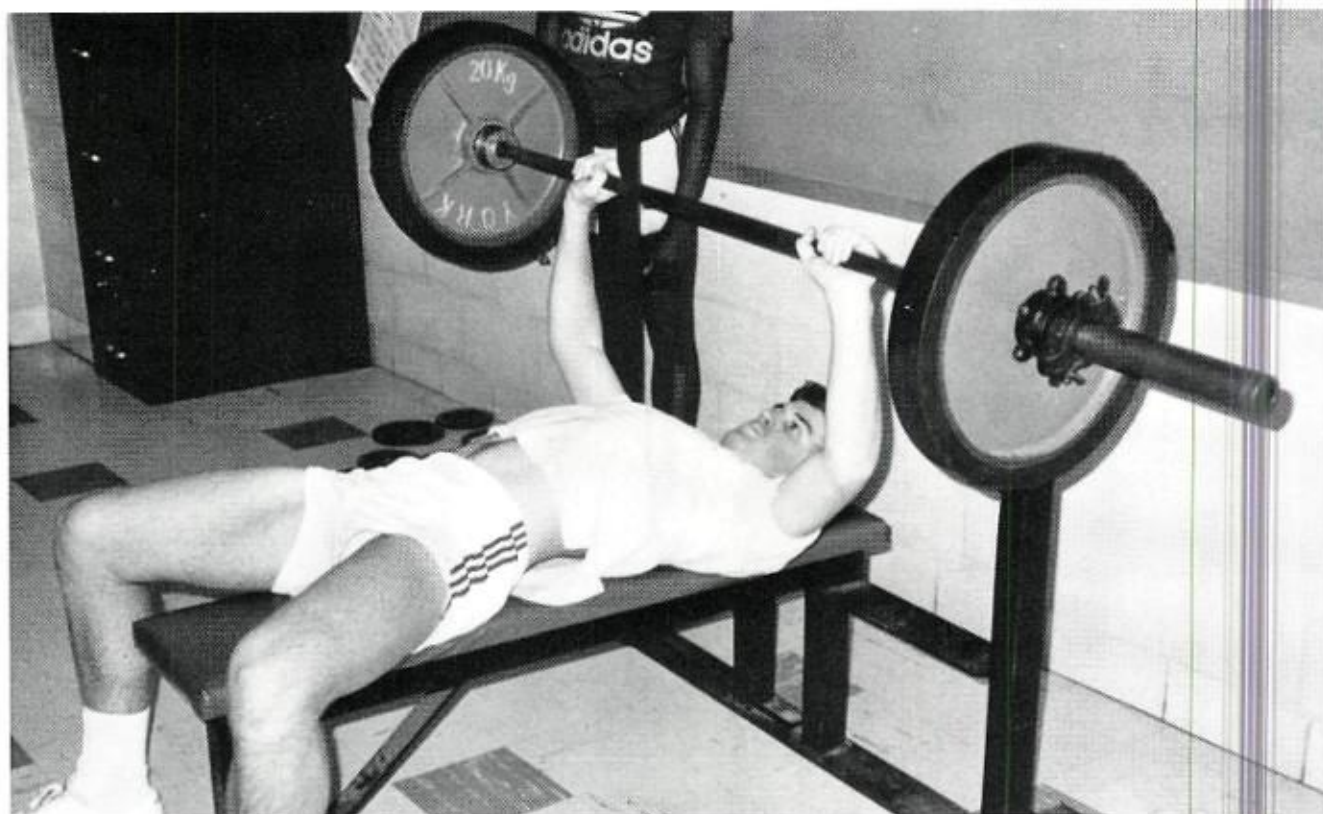

As a result, the teachers plan on granting their classes more special activities to give the students a touch of culture from their respective language.

Shaping Our Bodies . . .

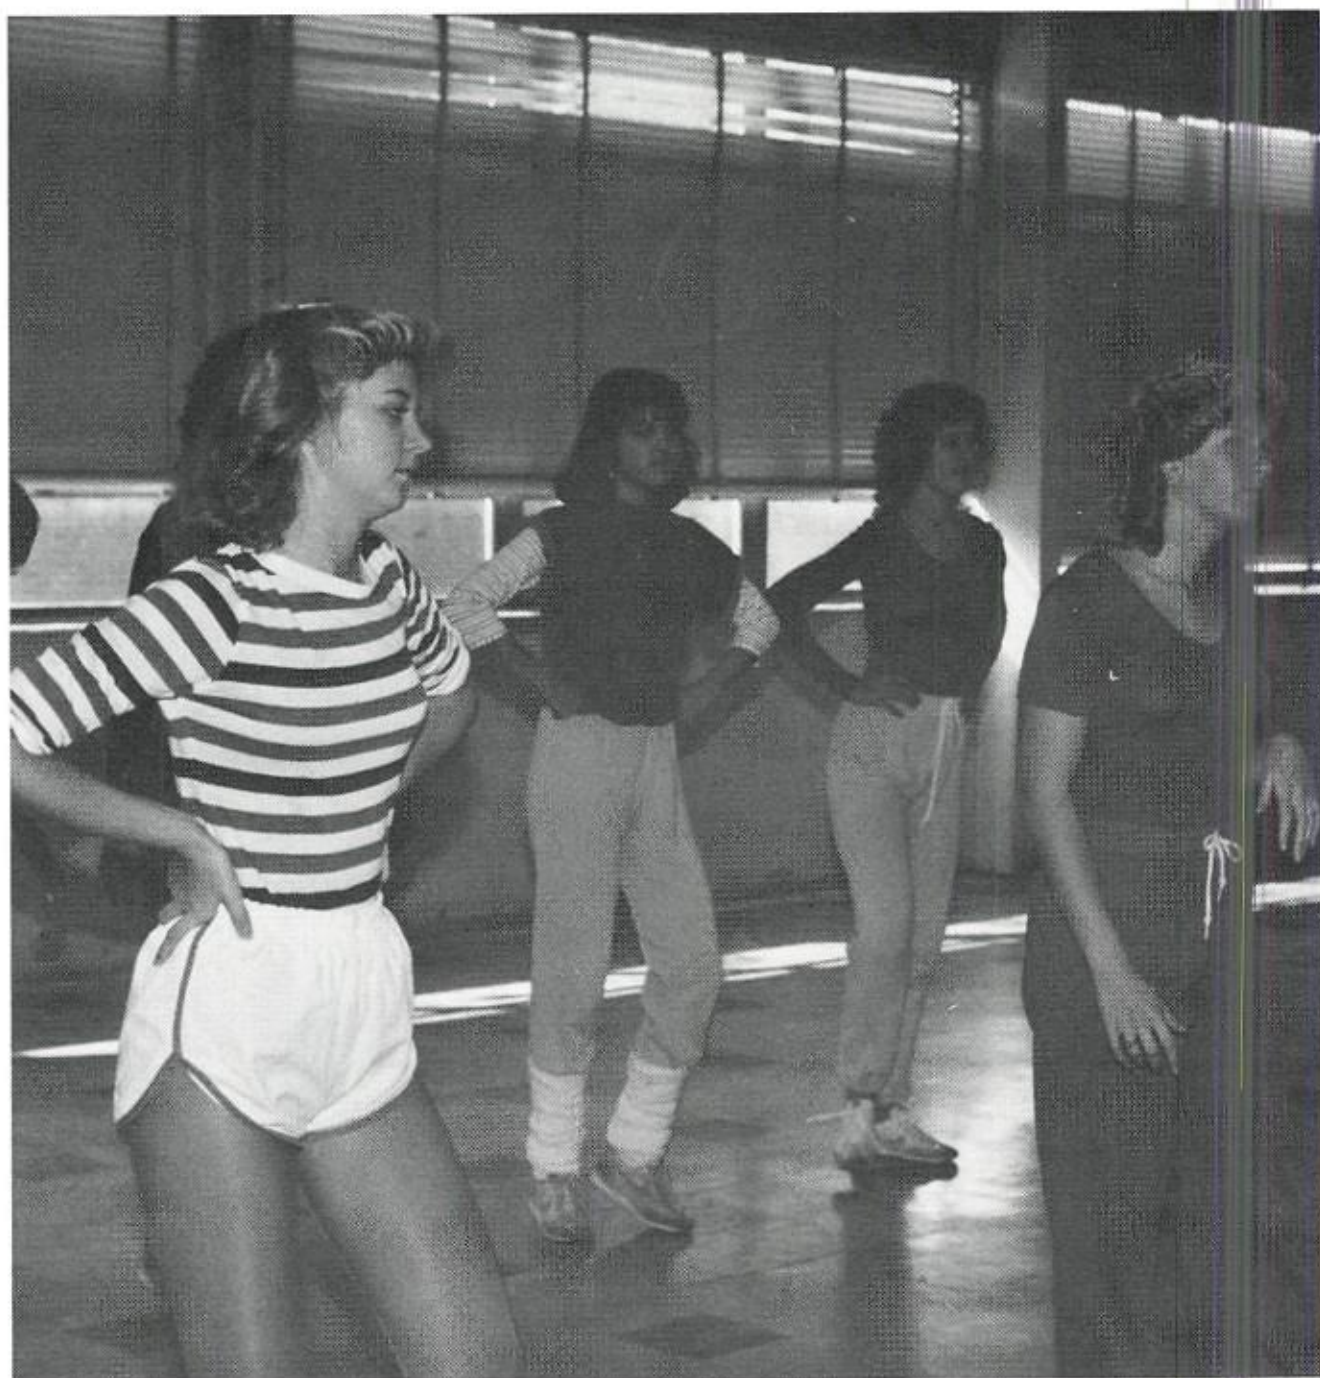

During his weight lifting class, Mark Kelly thinks, "Work that body! Work that body!"

Physical education gives students a much needed break during the monotonous day. While students can participate in many enjoyable activities, they learn new skills as well as build their old skills. Since the Physical Education Department offers many different classes, the students may pick a class that they are really interested in. There are classes that feature different kinds of activities. In these classes students play football, basketball, volleyball, and soccer. There are also five weightlifting classes, a dance class, and a gymnastics class.

The pom pon squad had their own dance class this year. This class helped them improve their dance techniques and built their stamina. During the year they learned routines in jazz, rap, and ballet. The cheerleaders also had their own class in which they learned gymnastic stunts, jumps, and pyramids.

Pom pons Cathy Lumley, Julie Lee, Lesley Kearns, and Stacey Lengle practice tap dancing during dance class.

And Our Minds

Sandra Ford practices her typing for a possible secretarial career.

Stacy Ford demonstrates her skills as a seamstress.

Testing on skills learned in Vocational Development is a necessary part of the students' curriculum.

Surrattsville's Vocational Department was one of growth and change this year. A new program was beginning to be organized. This pilot program was designed to expand pre-vocational skills. It also featured a work experience program. The students had the opportunity to listen to guest speakers in class and out of class. Simulated work samples were another way the students could become interested in a field of work.

The work experience program also had a "shadowing" or apprenticeship program. The students were given the opportunity to work along with experienced workers at a particular job. Also, by participating in video taped job interviews, the students got an idea of what an actual interview was like.

Surrattsville is one of seven schools in Prince George's County participating in this program. The goal is to give students an idea of a career to pursue.

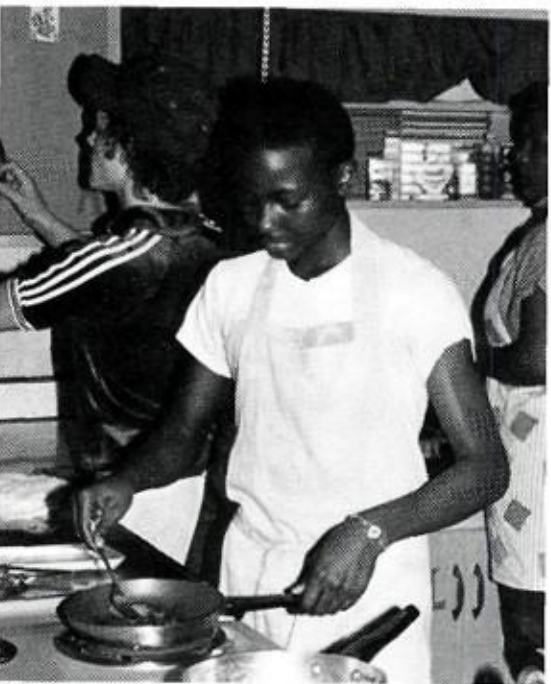

Lorenzo Mingo experiments with the electrical equipment in the simulated workshops.

Stirring Up New Ideas

The Home Economics Department has undergone many changes over the past few years. Two new classes have been added. A Young View On Aging reaches high school students about the aging process, and they also develop inter-generational relationships by going to see older people. The other new class is Child Growth And Development. The class has existed for a few years but has just been converted to a full year course. Both male and female students participate in the class. They learn how to become good parents and work with children.

The foods classes have also grown in size. More male students are now seen in these classes. In International Foods, students learn about the culture and geography as well as prepare and eat foods from foreign countries.

Children from the Child Growth and Development class model their costumes at their Halloween party.

Jimmy Hampton discovers other aspects of cooking.

Danny Burell learns the art of cooking.

Crystal Atkins talks with friends about the upcoming meal in home economics.

Working Handily

Darryl Schumaker shows his artistic talent while painting a wall portrait of Iron Maiden in visual media class. He is also wearing an Iron Maiden shirt which was made and printed in class.

The Industrial Arts Department will go through many changes over the next few years. The name will be changed to graphic arts, new machinery will be brought in, and new programs will begin. The department consists mainly of two classes, metal shop and visual media.

Visual media is unique because a great deal of class work goes to serving the community and the school. The class prints such things as the graduation programs, which saves money. Metal shop works with the properties and construction of metal. The accomplishments of these classes are greatly appreciated.

Jimmy Edge welds a frame in metal shop.

A Brush With Art

The renovations have not stopped the art students from succeeding in various areas. The year began when Gordon Watkins, Lionel Jones, LeRon Walron, and Melissa Smith were accepted to the Maryland College of Art and Design's scholarship drawing class. Many students participated in art competitions, and some competed for scholarships at various art schools.

The renovations did inhibit the classes from projects such as pottery and sculpture, but drawing, painting, and design flourished. When the proposed renovations take place there will be a three-dimensional studio and a two-dimensional studio.

James Roach, a senior, works diligently on an art project.

Seniors Cora Shorter and Cristy Brinson design the decorations for the showcase.

A shelf in the art room exhibits the sculpting talents of the art students.

A Key Note Is Music

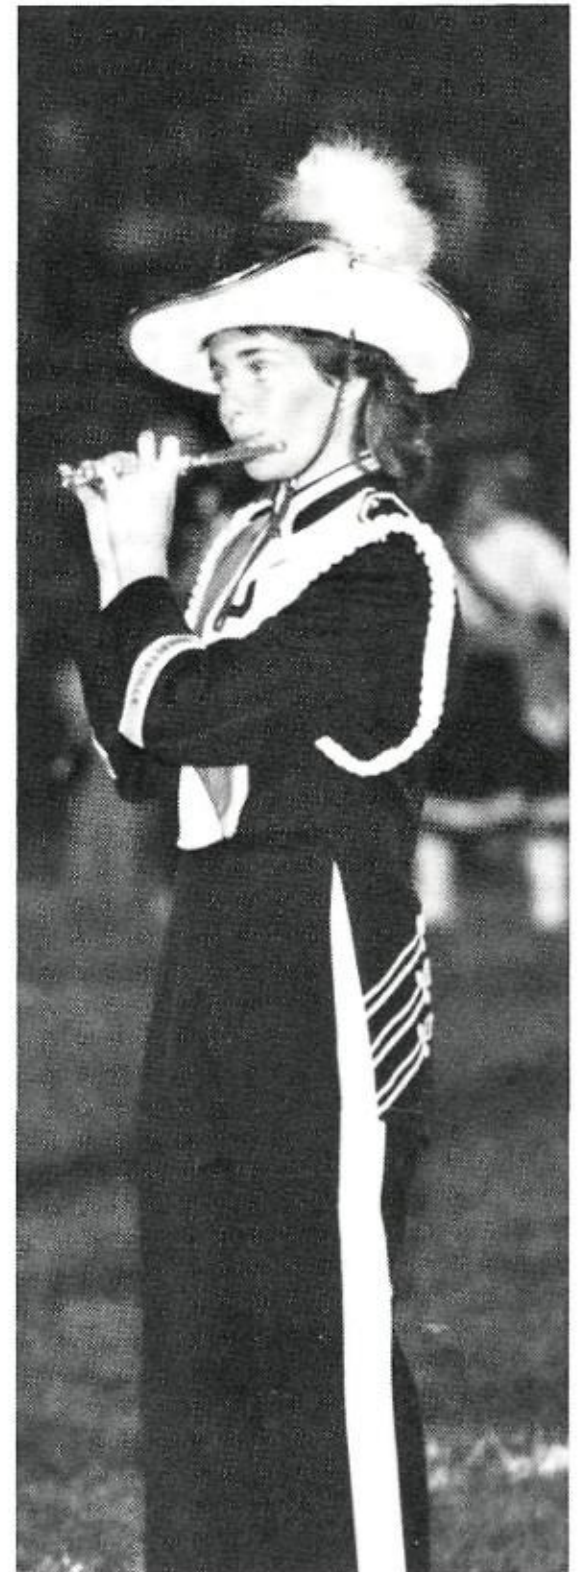

Junior Jo Hanrahan jams on her trombone in music class as David Lau accompanies her.

The music program at Surrattsville is one of the best in Prince George's County. Students on any ability level can become a part of the band program or chorus group. For the first time students who have never played an instrument can learn how to play in the basic band and advance to a higher level the next year.

The addition of the ninth grade to the band and chorus will prove to be beneficial to both programs. They have added to the number of students participating, and the quality will have improved by the time they are seniors.

The chorus takes a break from practice to rest and listen to Mr. Waddell's directions.

band during a half time show.

CHANGING FACES

"Nothing changes more constantly than the past; for the past that influences our lives does not consist of what actually happened but of what men believed happened."

American Heroer

Changes in the faculty and students are an accepted pair of each new school year. But the 1983-84 school year brought a new twist to the population of SHS- ninth graders became a part of our student body changing the name of our school from Surrattsville Senior High School to Surrattsville High School. Although the new ninth grade class was unusually small (only 114 students), the rest of the student body tried to make them feel like an equal part of the school, including them in all student activities. Although they did not have a homecoming float, the Class of '87 had two representatives on the Homecoming court. Just as the freshmen were new to Surrattsville this year, so were the sophomores. Although the transition from junior high to high school is traditionally difficult for sophomores, the Class of '86 could take comfort in the knowledge that they would not be the youngest class. Although there were no outstanding changes for the Class of '85, the juniors had a rough enough time adjusting to the changes taking place around them. The seniors had little to do in the way of adjusting; however, by May twenty-fourth the Class of '84 had to adjust to life after graduation, probably one of the most significant changes of their lives. Due to the increase in the student body new members were added to the faculty and administration in the foreign language, history, English, math, vocational development, and science departments as well as a new vice-principal and guidance counselor.

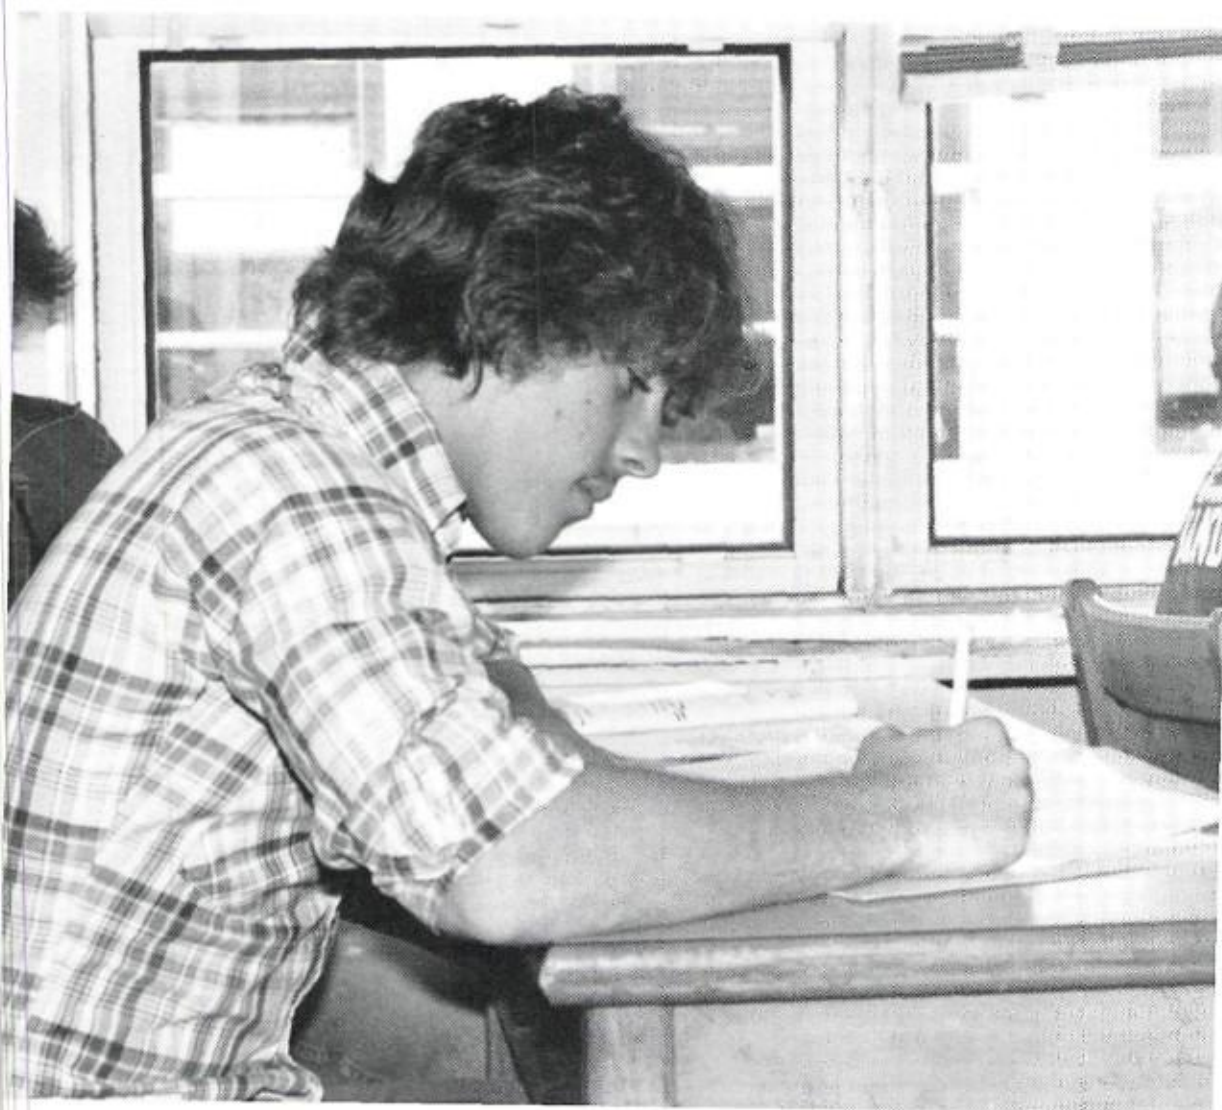

These changes in the faces at SHS were not the first, and they most certainly won't be the last, but change is inevitable and in nature change is constant.

Sophomore Debbie Shearer gets caught doing a last minute deadline for yearbook class.

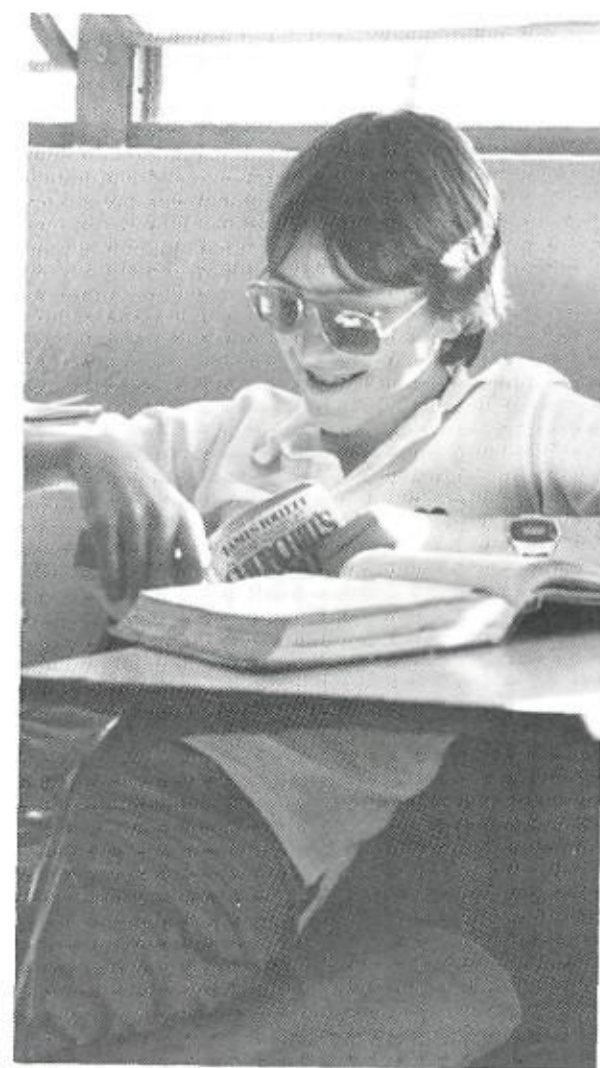

Foreign exchange students Dirk Pelzer from Germany, Anni-Marie Seppala from Finland, and Santiago Beron from Columbia try to get accustomed to the American culture.

Junior Mark Costello slips away from his textbook for a moment of silent reading.

If There Was One Thing You Could Change About Education What Would It Be?

"After thinking about this question for some time I came to the conclusion that I would change the average and below average students' attitudes toward education. All the money, equipment, man-power and advanced techniques have no real impact if the student is not receptive. The greatest frustration is seeing students wasting the opportunity they now have and complaining about education's future. Parent attitudes must change if student attitudes are to change. This is a deep-seated problem. There is no simple answer and yet reality dictates to parents and students that either a change take place or failure in life is inescapable. The results are predictable, the problem is defined, and the solution is beyond the walls of the school. It is outside in the community, which in the long run will feel the impact. The primary responsibility for education rests in the primary social group-family."

What Event Do You Believe Changed The Course Of Modern History The Most?

"In 3000 B.C. man invented writing which initiated the informational revolution. Through the next 5000 years mankind on the capsule earth reduced the number of questions about his existence. In 1969 we stepped off the capsule earth exploring the insular scope of our questions and opened a portal into a new universe."

What Author Do You Believe Changed American Literature The Most?

"Edgar Allan Poe can be credited with having changed American literature as it is asserted that he invented the short story form. Though his claim is unjustifiable, Poe was the first to establish a theory of laws governing the construction of the short story. His theory was to determine the story's effect, the number and use of characters, and indirectly, its length."

A Change Of Pace

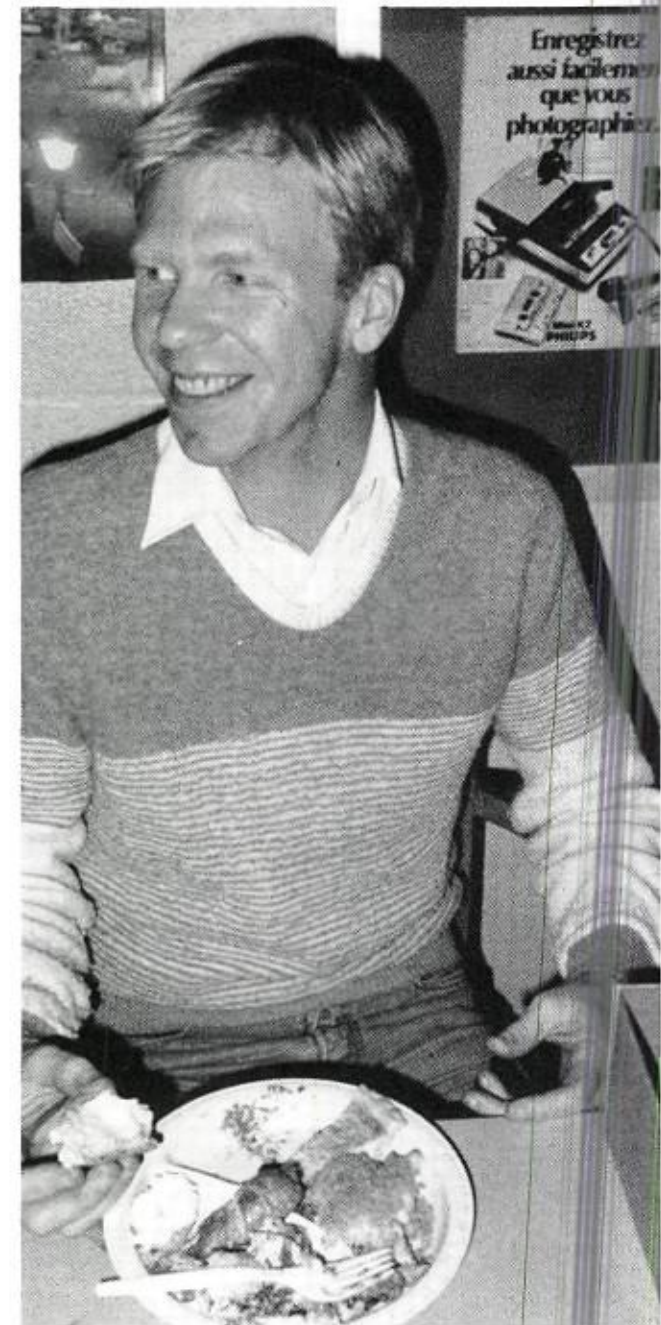

A million dollar lottery winner or a full time mother are two things that Mrs. Hunter would like to be. But, for the past year, she has been an English teacher new to Surrattsville. She liked teaching here and said, "The students were amiable and fun to work with." What she likes most about teaching English is seeing students improve their abilities to think and respond to experiences around them or to ones shared by authors. She chose her profession because as a high school student she became disillusioned with school and her teachers. By becoming a teacher, she felt that she could prevent this from happening to other students.

While Mrs. Hunter enjoys being a teacher, she would rather be a full time mother to her one and three year old children for the next five years. She believes her greatest contribution to society would be two responsible, well-adjusted citizens who would likewise contribute to the world around them.

Mr. Anderson, our French teacher, has been teaching at Surrattsville for five years. Before Surrattsville he taught at James Madison Junior High School for five years. He really has no preference between junior and senior high schools, for he gets different things from the two different worlds. He has done quite a lot of traveling, especially to France. He goes to France every summer or every other summer and takes a class every two years.

Some of Mr. Anderson's spare time activities include reading all types of books, going to nightclubs to dance, taking college courses on drug and alcohol problems, and actually counseling people with these problems.

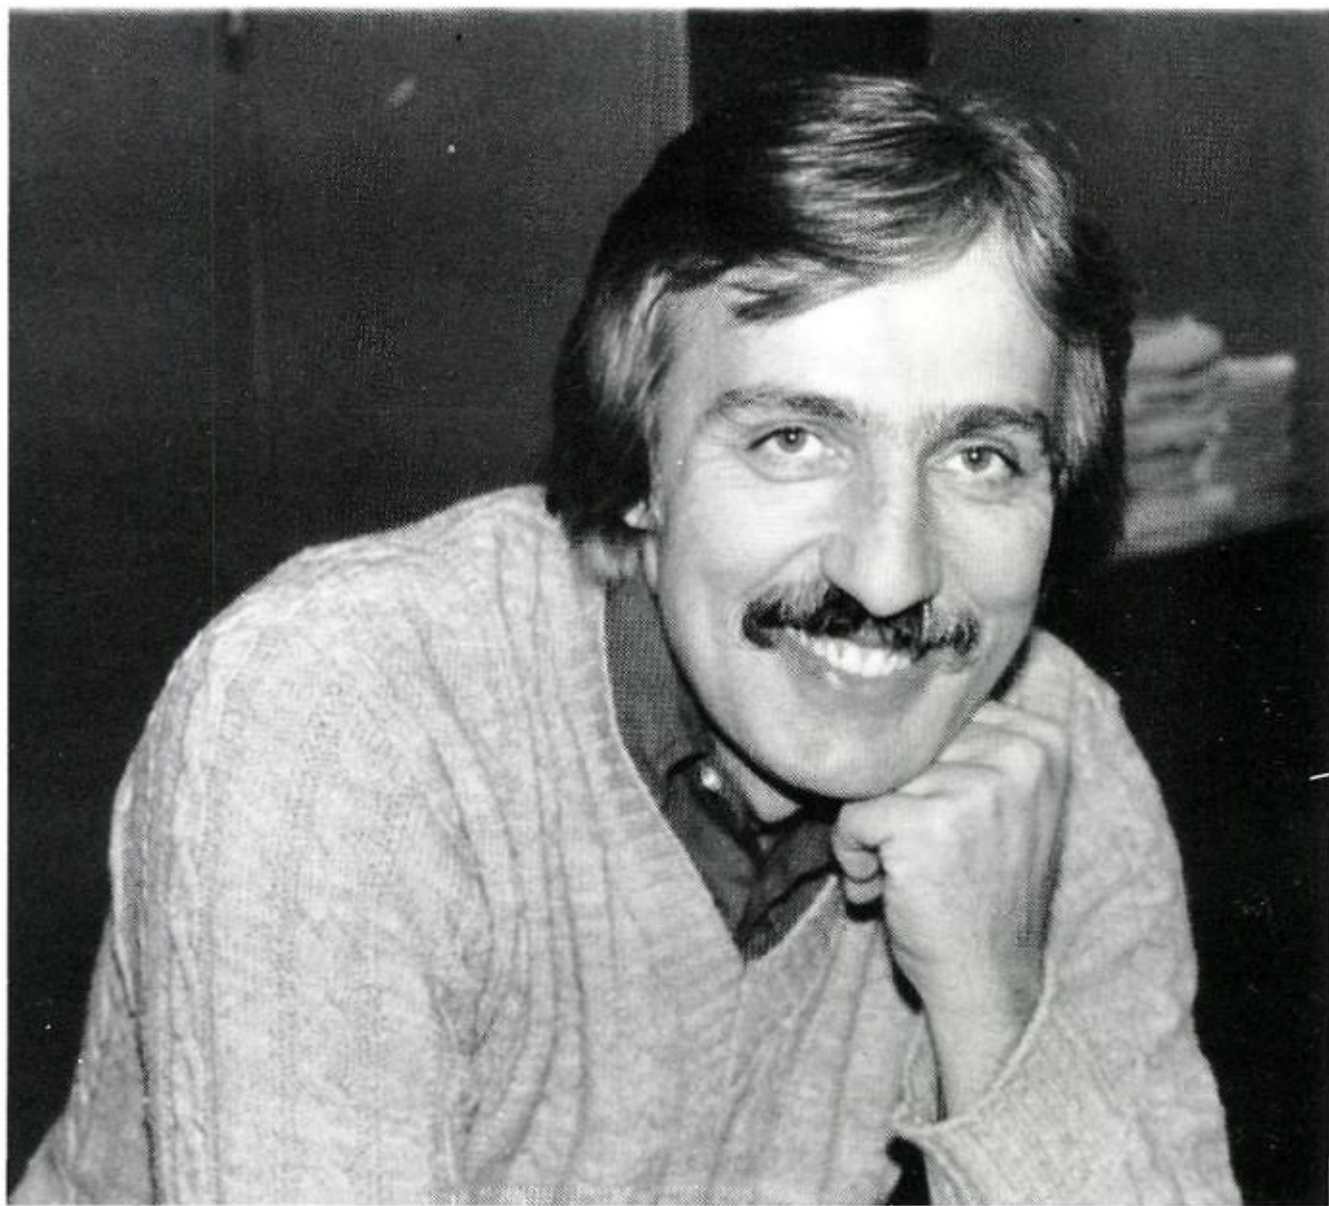

There is more behind Mrs. Karnes, our librarian, than most students know. Did you know that she was in the Air Force for three years as a flight stewardess? She has been all over the world including Germany, Spain, France, Ethiopia, Libya, Saudi Arabia, England and the British Isles. Spain was her favorite, but she feels that England is the most educational.

The reason Mrs. Karnes became a librarian is because she enjoys reading and working with students. If there was one career she would have liked to pursue, other than that of a librarian, it would have been that of a lawyer.

Our chemistry teacher, Mr. Jenkins, has quite an unusual hobby. For the past fourteen years, he has been buying houses to remodel. He has mainly done these in the Capitol Hill area; but for the last four summers, he has redone houses in North Carolina. The first house was the hardest; but once that was sold, he bought other houses and started his continuous chain of remodeled homes. He hires people to do the plumbing and electrical work but does all the carpentry work himself and/or with the help of some of his students. He and his students worked weekends during school; he had one student work for him for five years. Although he is not doing a house at the present time, he does own some commercial property.

Best of luck
Keep up the good work
Sincerely,
Philip Jenkins

Mr. Brown, a new addition to Surrattsville's English Department, has been a teacher for thirteen years. What he likes best about teaching is to watch and aid in students growing intellectually. His spare time activities include going to restaurants, seeing friends, watching movies and reading. His favorite book is Thul Ching. Picking a favorite author was impossible for there are so many talented authors to choose from. Psychology and the psychic world are two topics that are of interest to him.

Seniors Do It Better

For the last two years, we have had the unforgettable help of our sponsors, Richard Mortimer and Leonard Anderson. They have contributed much supervision and support to our class.

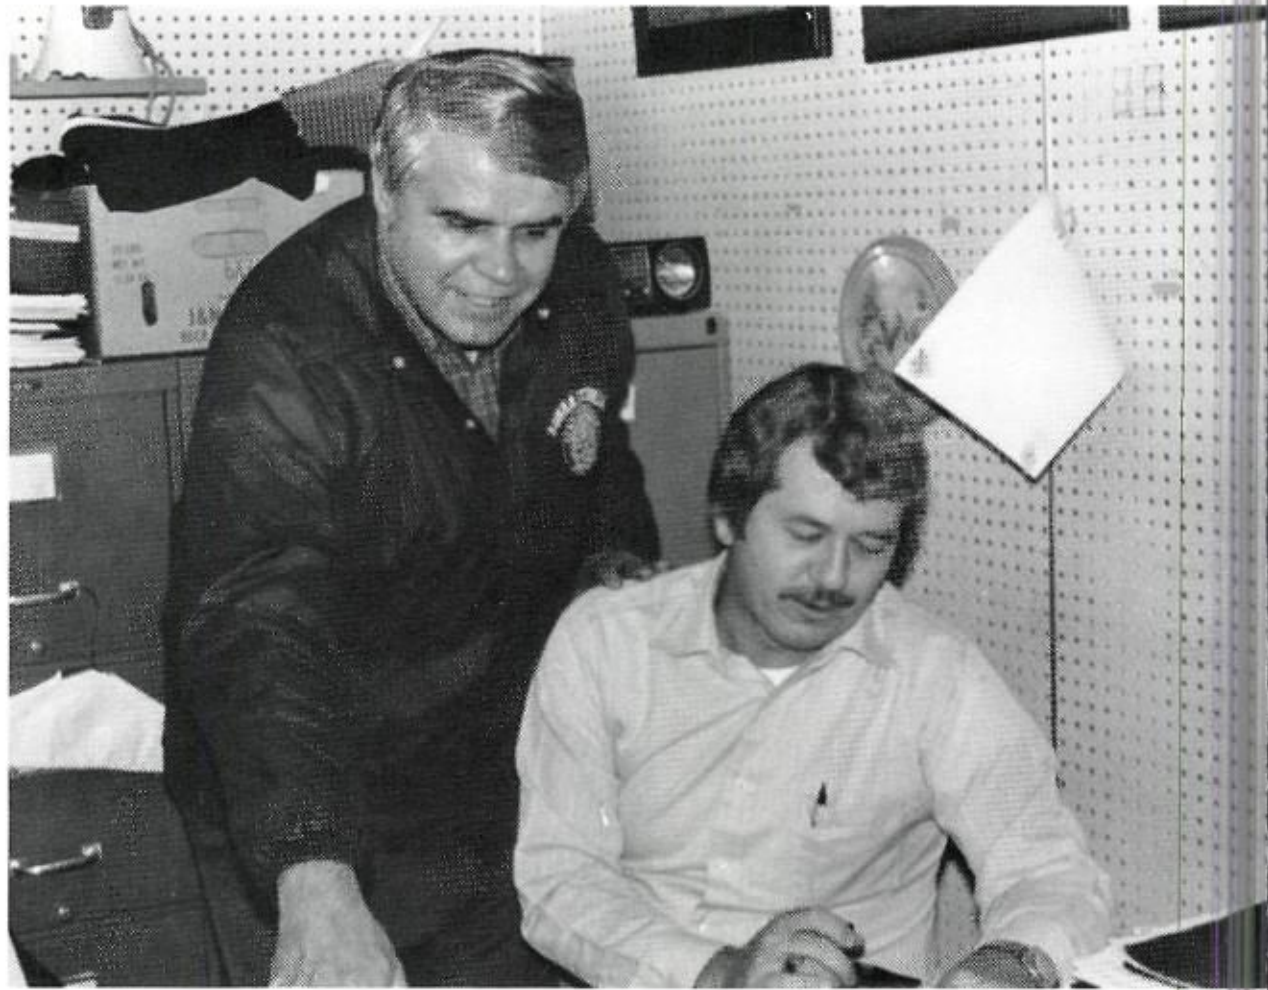

This year the senior class has sponsored many activities. The first of these was the senior floor. The senior class floor came in second place after running a tight race with the junior class floor.

The next event the senior class sponsored was the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance which was a rip-roaring success. Due to the excellent planning for this dance by the senior class, the gals enjoyed their evening with their guys.

The senior officers also organized the speedy order of the caps and gowns and announcements for the Class of 1984. To help raise money for the class, seniors had a successful doughnut sale which raised a total of $250.00.

The senior class calendar remained crowded for the year with activities such as the Valentine's Dance, the spring Talent Show, and, of course, the prom and graduation.

Senior class sponsor Richard Mortimer writes a memo to the senior class with the help of sponsor Leonard Anderson.

Senior class secretary Belinda Lee has contributed much to the senior class.

Senior class president Karen E. Hodge led our class in many new activities and helped tremendously during our senior year.

Senior class vice-president Susie Miller has been an officer for the past three years and was a key element to the Class of 1984's success.

Senior class treasurer Debbie O'Clair has been in the senior class government for two years and has given much to our class.

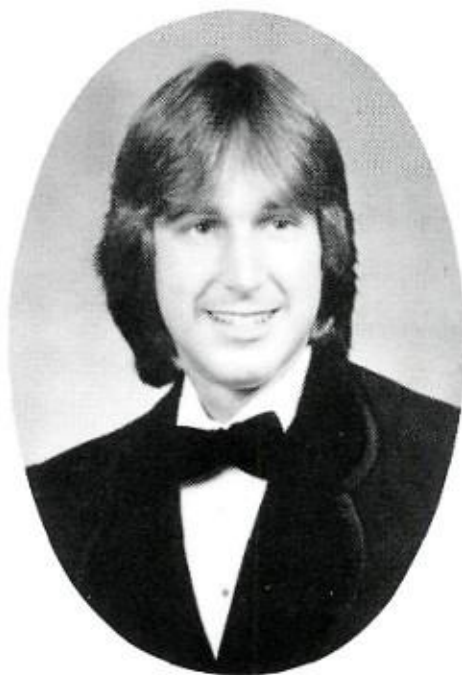

Senior class delegates Mike Zick and Wanda Proctor have lent a helping hand to the senior class officers throughout the year.

Junior Class Officers: Michelle Bouchard, delegate; Billy Greene, delegate; Christine Ababa, secretary; Jarrod Edge, president; Danny Hoffman, vice-president; Nicole Finch, delegate; Bill Toth, delegate; Sharon Leason, treasurer.

According to president Jarrod Edge and secretary Christine Ababa, this year's junior class is one of the more spirited of all the classes. The members are enthusiastic about every activity they get involved in. There are many individuals in the group who have original ideas, and there are some who are very talented in putting these ideas to use. Together, these members will show Surrattsville what they have to offer.

As president Jarrod Edge said, "I have no plans to run for president next year, so this year will be my only chance to really help my class. I'm going to make sure this year will be memorable for me but especially for the whole class. We've got what it takes to be the best."

"Will You Turn My Ring?"

A popular question on September 29, 1983, was "Will you turn my ring?"

The junior class received their long awaited class rings in a special ceremony in the multi-purpose room. Teachers and students arrived at 7:30 for the joyous occasion.

The traditional ring turning began immediately with eighty-five turns being the magic number for good luck.

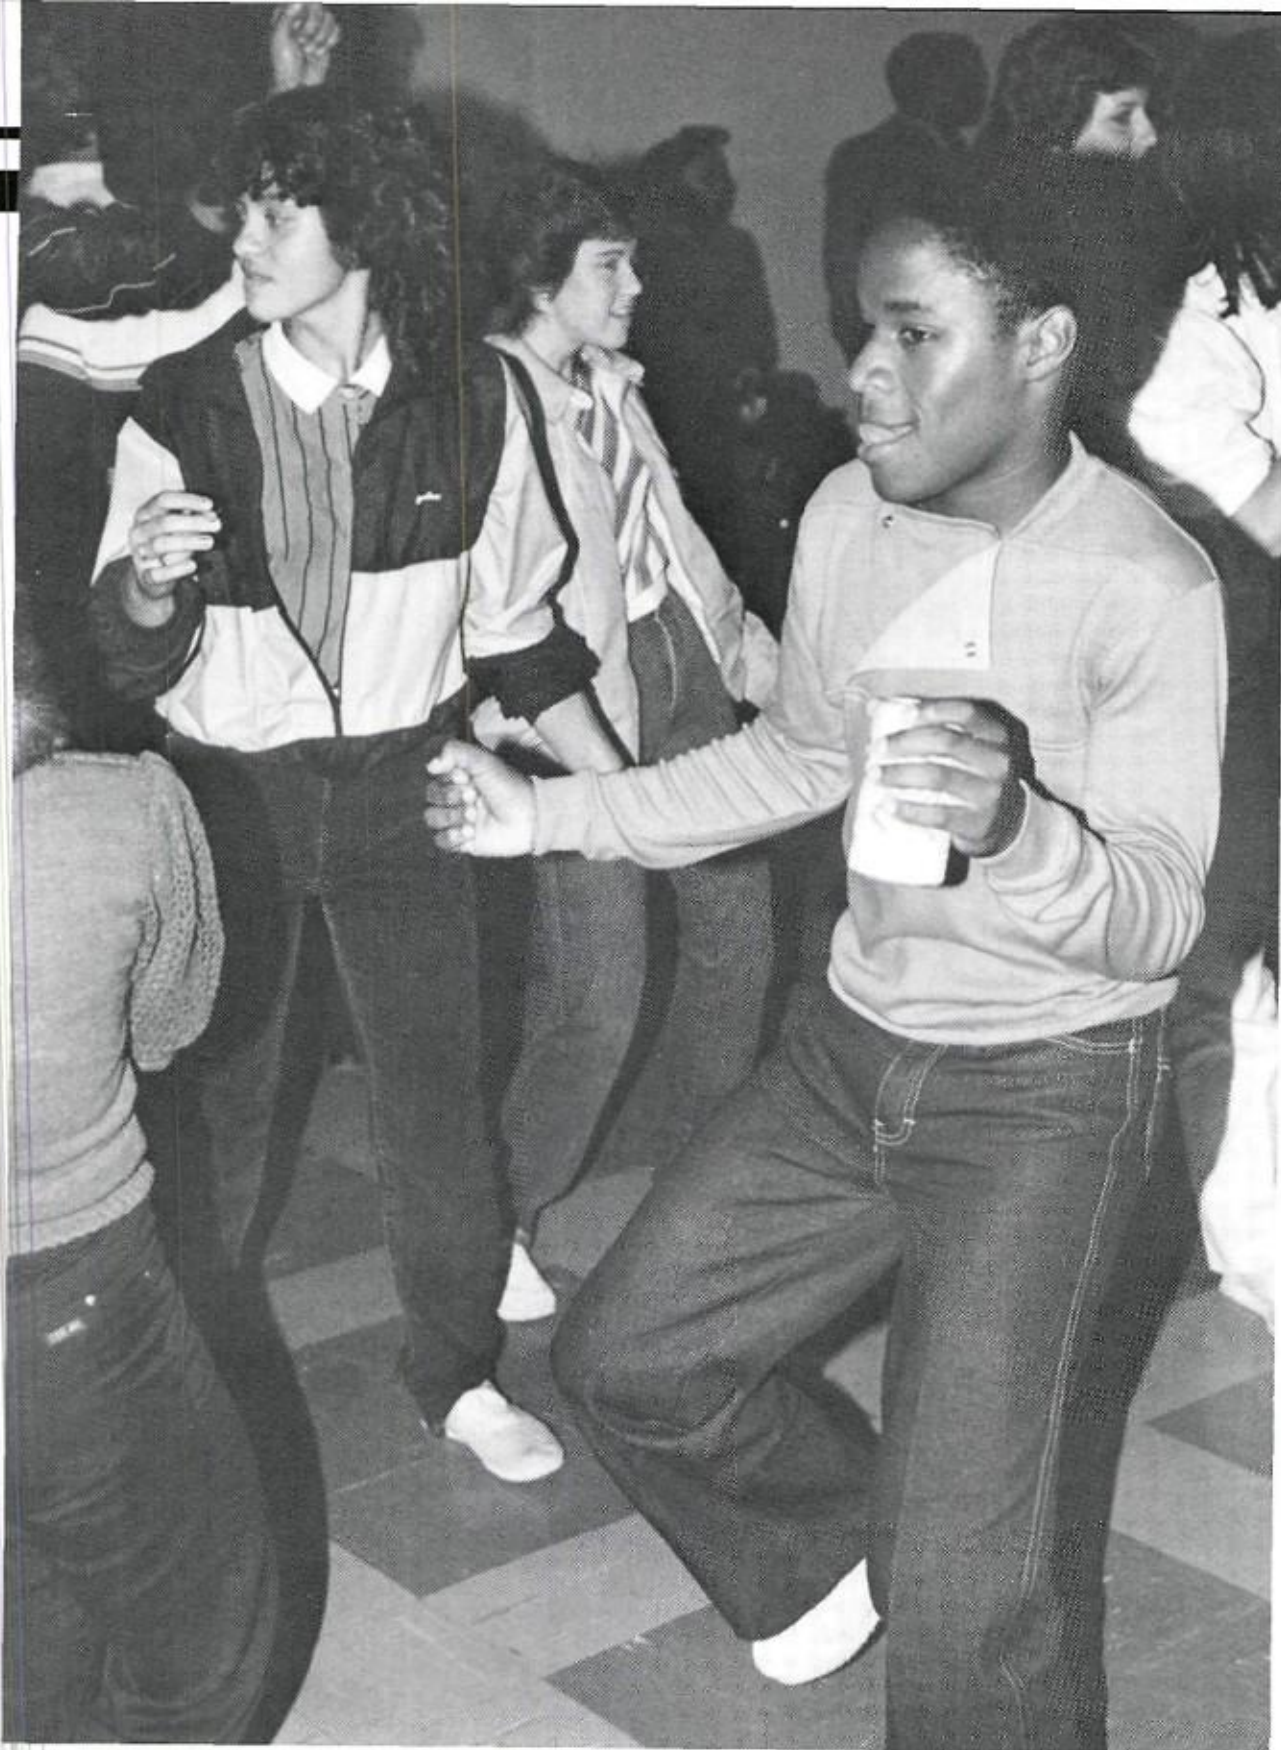

Tradition dictates that seniors may turn a junior class ring twice, fellow juniors may turn the class ring once, and sophomores and freshmen may turn a junior's ring one half of a turn. The eighty-fifth and last turn is special because that person receives a kiss!

Six excited juniors proudly show off their new class rings.

Rich Thomas and Stephanie Merchant admire their new rings.

Ring turning, a tradition at Surrattsville, is displayed by Beth Bond and Howard Morgenstern.

Bill Greene and Anita McCrone show that trying to get to the eighty-fifth turn is an awesome task.

Shawn Stafford celebrates the arrival of his class ring.

Darryl Dillard gets his ring turned by freshman Cindy Crocker as Scott Miller and Shelley Cavanaugh look on.

MaryAnn Dement counts out the money that is needed to pay for her class ring.

Since their arrival to Surrattsville Senior High this year, the sophomores have noticed quite a few changes within their academic and personal lives. Many sophomores were queried as to what the most outstanding changes they have experienced thus far have been. Questions included:

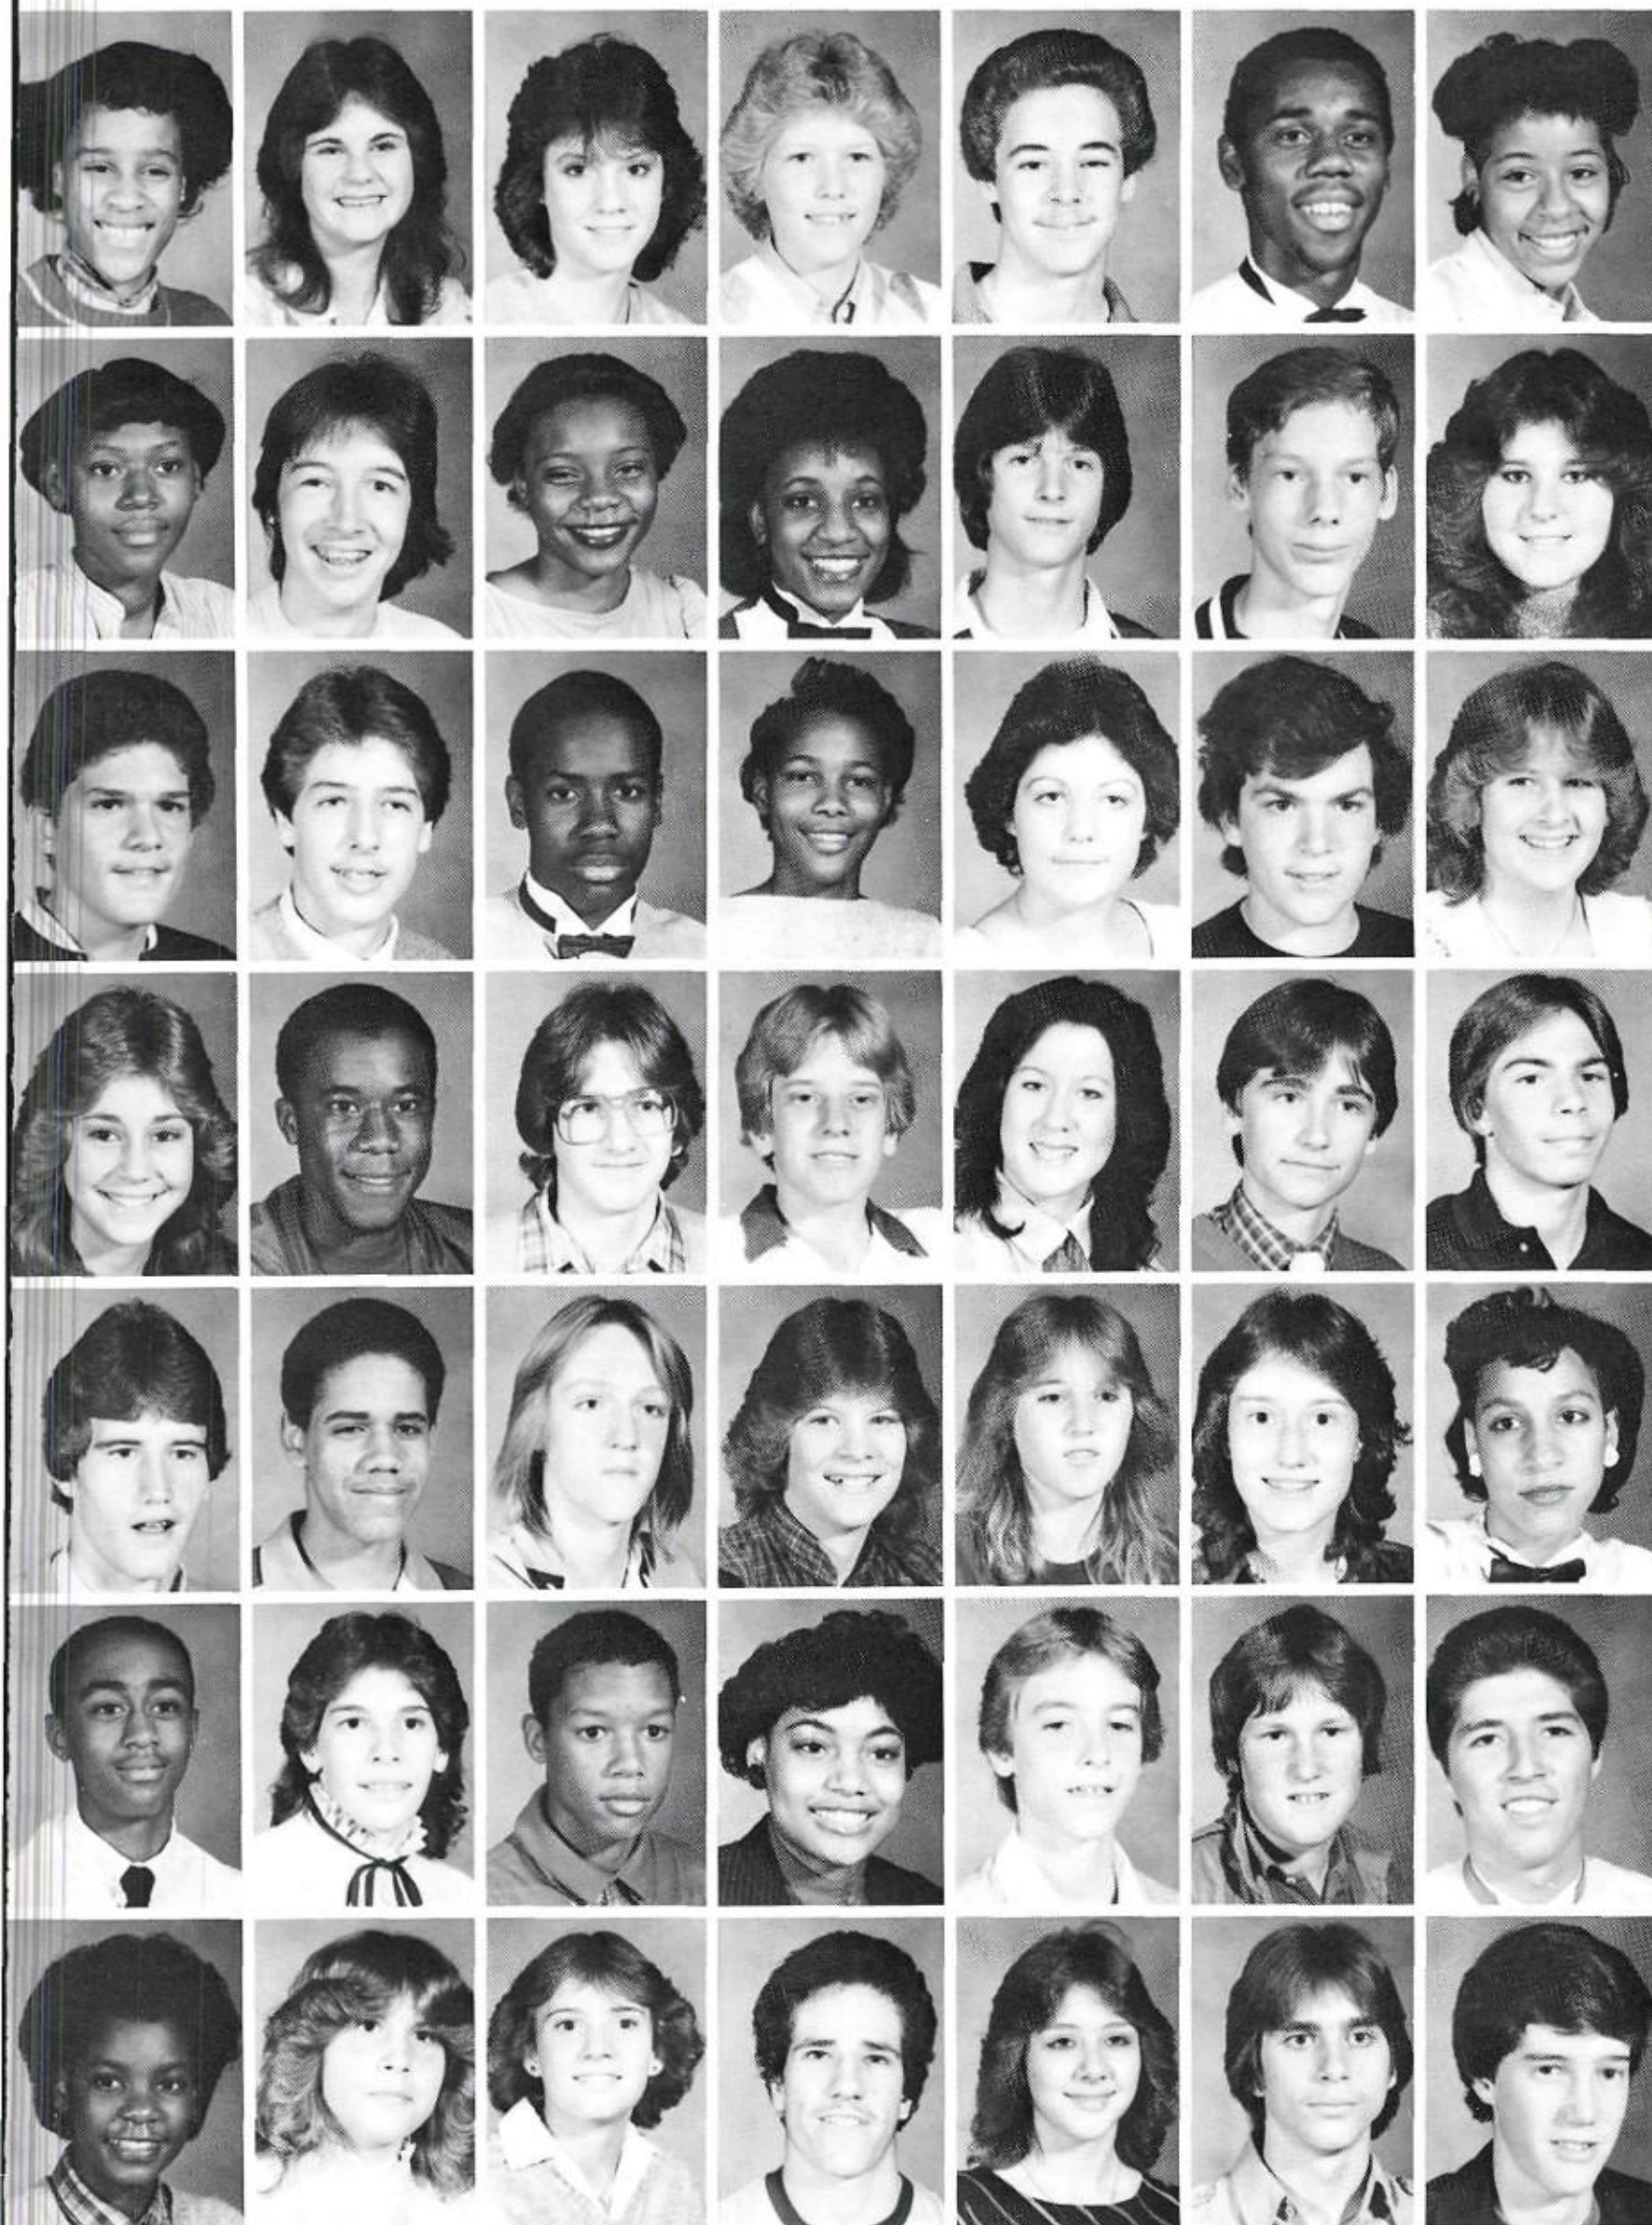

1. What is the biggest change experienced?
2. How have you adapted to this change?
3. Which do you prefer: junior or senior high school?

Although there were a few mixed feelings the general consensus was a positive one. Following are the reactions to the aforementioned questions:

"... we get more freedom ... new friends ... got more spirit ..."
 "I've become more outgoing ..."
 "I like senior high MUCH BETTER!"

Sophomores Get Oriented

Candice Tibbs, Teresa Bishop, Jernine Crayton, Tomiko Marshall, and Michelle O'Neill observe the surroundings which are Surrattsville before they are oriented for their sophomore year.

Rules, rules, and more rules . . . Joan Dirksa listens to Mr. Colgan and Mr. Tobler set up the guidelines to be followed for this year.

Sophomore Mike Pauling stops at his locker between classes.

Carolyn Cook and Barbara Martin are only two of the nervous sophomores awaiting their orientation to begin.

Standing next to Coach Wright, Kevin Haselbush awaits his chance to enter the Hornets' game.

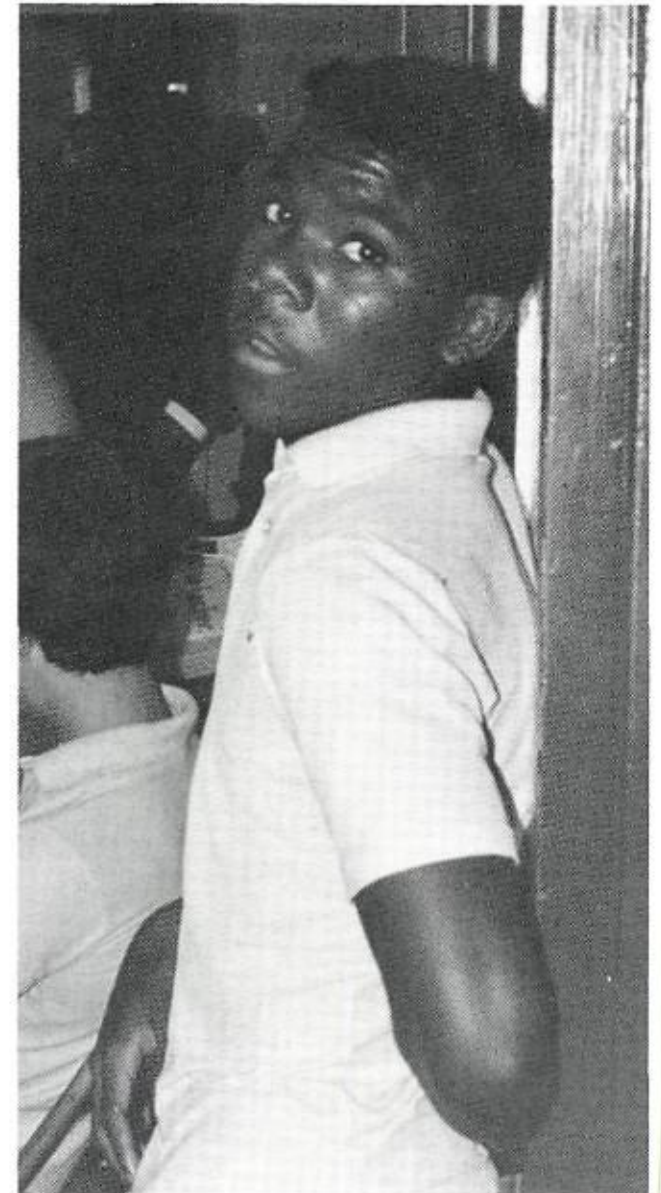

Robin Burroughs, Teresa Turner, Jodi Lowry, and Denise Dixon file into the SGA sponsored sophomore assembly to be read their rights.

Sophomores- "Wise Fools"

Tonia Naylor is looking for someone, but it doesn't appear to be Rick Brightwell or Mark Barree she is looking for.

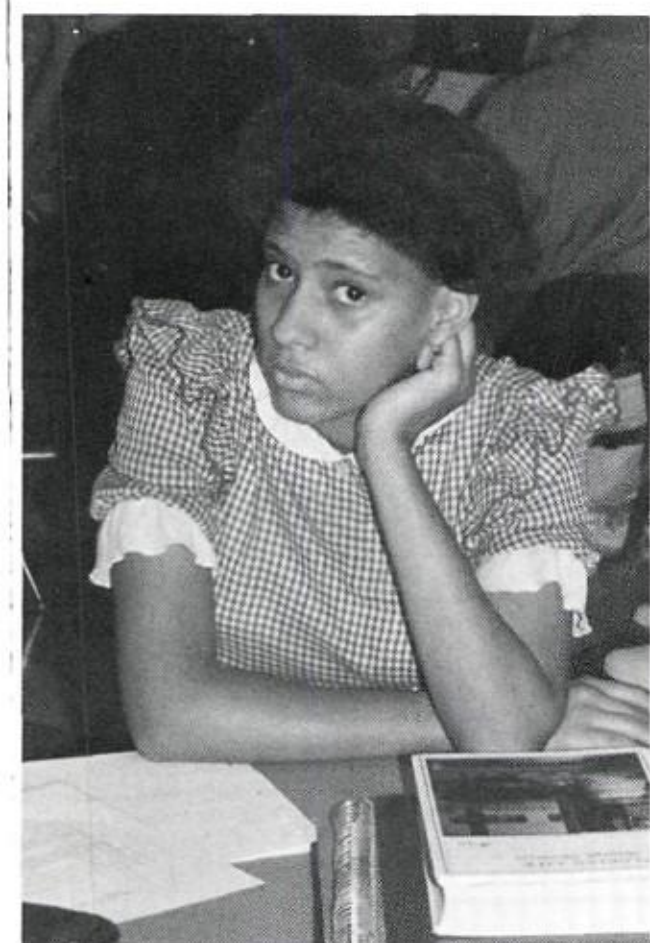

Sophomores Larry Cadenhead and Vincent Pell are loaded down with more than their thoughts as they enter the cafeteria for orientation.

What, I didn't do anything, did I? . . . Dobby Dillingham has to stand in the back of the cafeteria during the sophomore assembly.

Cindy Boteler, Trish Tennley, Pam Glass, Chantay Simms, Dorrie Hessler, Marcie Collins, and Rachelle Workins take time out from the assigned English exercises to exercise their smiles.

Kaylon Wingfield isn't exactly elated at the thought of selling the school's fall fund raiser, Christmas candles.

Cheryl Lewis must be smiling in chemistry class because she is the newest addition to "Allah's" favorite student list.

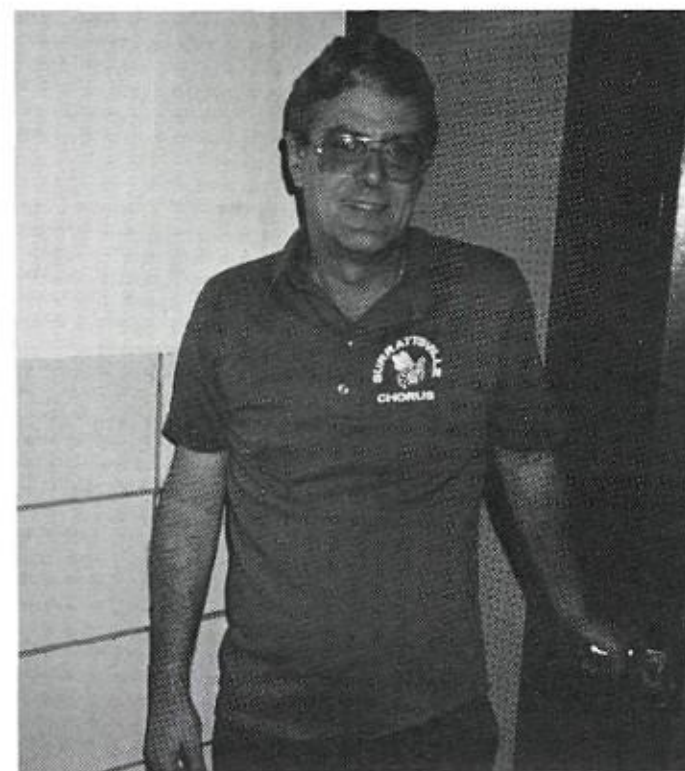

Freshman Class Officers: Isaac Battle, delegare; Cindy Crocker, president; Lisa DePhillip, treasurer; Lisa Berman, vice president.

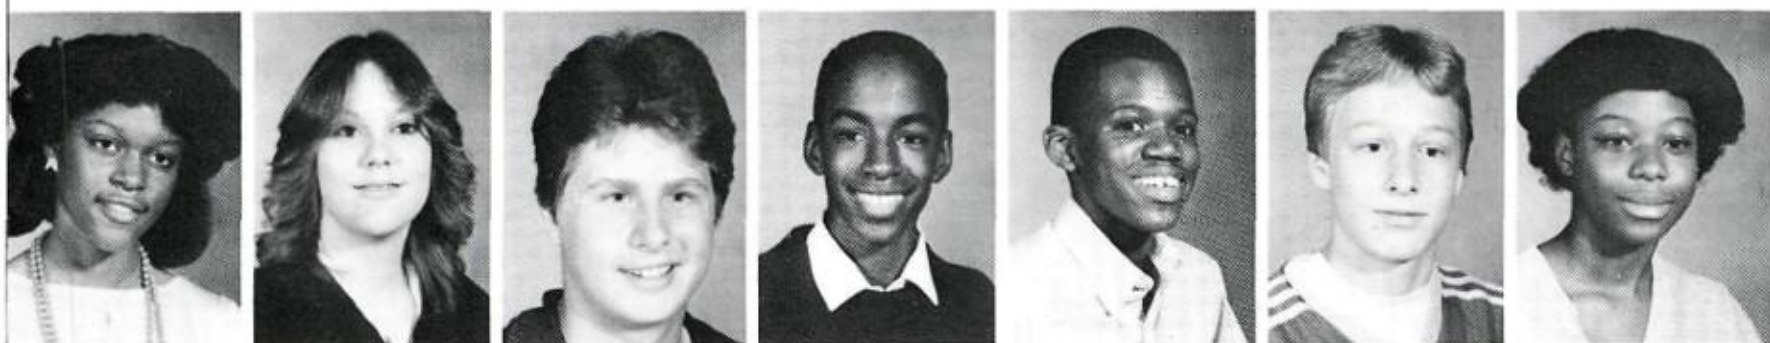

For the first time since the opening of the new Surrattsville Senior High in September of 1960, ninth graders will spend their freshman year in this school rather than local junior highs. This reorganization of the school system was county-wide with Surrattsville being one of the last schools affected. The class of '87 represents the first graduating class to have spent four years in the current building.

CHANGING SEASONS

"Most of the change we think we see in life is due to truths being in and out of favor."

Robert Frost

Along with success, changes were also noticed in the athletic program this year. Changes occurred in many areas including the coaching staff, the teams' personalities and the physical appearance of the locker rooms, press box and scoreboard.

There have been additions and changes to the coaching staff of many teams. Mr. Wright and Mr. Orr helped the soccer team in many ways during their first year. The team obtained second place in the county and regional championship and finished in the top four of the AB teams in the state. Also joining the coaching staff was Bill Sr. Ledger. Mr. Sr. Ledger, along with his brother Jim, coached the girls' basketball team. With many returning lettermen the girls' team has improved its record over last year. The final addition to this year's coaching staff was Melvin Johnson, the boys' basketball coach. He was assisted by Mr. Orr, who coached the junior varsity team. The boys with their help were determined to strive for higher goals.

In addition to the transition in the coaching staff, Mrs. Hilman was named Athletic Director. With her organizational skills, the entire athletic program ran more smoothly.

Each team's personality was altered this year with the welcomed addition of the freshmen. Undoubtedly teams in the future will be more successful since the extra year of competition will give them experience.

A surprising change for all Horner fans on the football field was the new press box, planned and built by the Boosters' Club through donations, and the new scoreboard, which was replaced through the courtesy of Coca-Cola. Now spectators can easily read scores, and they can enjoy the benefits of the press box through video taping and listening to a better public address system, as well as getting snacks from the refreshment stand.

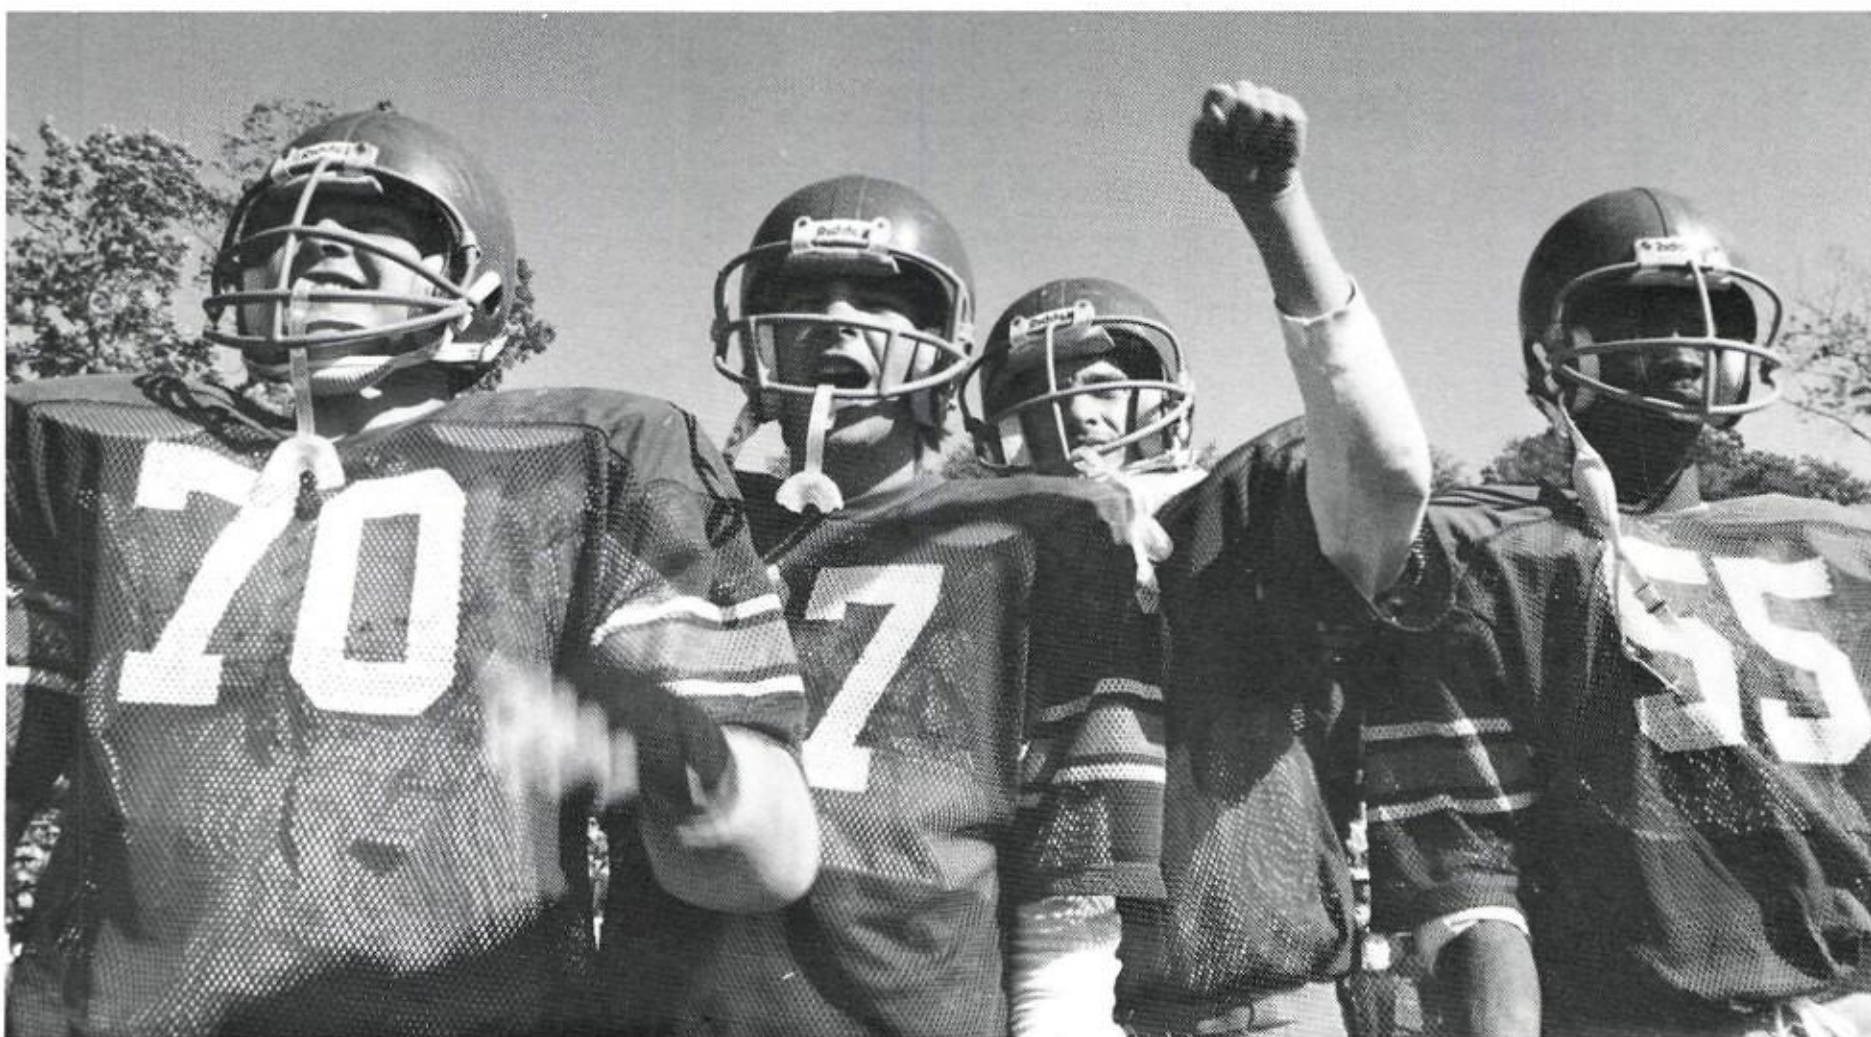

The players noticed a difference in the locker rooms. The football team room was relocated in the shop wing, while the main locker room was moved to the English hall. However, any inconvenience was overlooked with the appearance of new uniforms on several of the teams.

Danny Hoffman, in his second year on the team, gets into the swing of things during the playoffs against Northwestern.

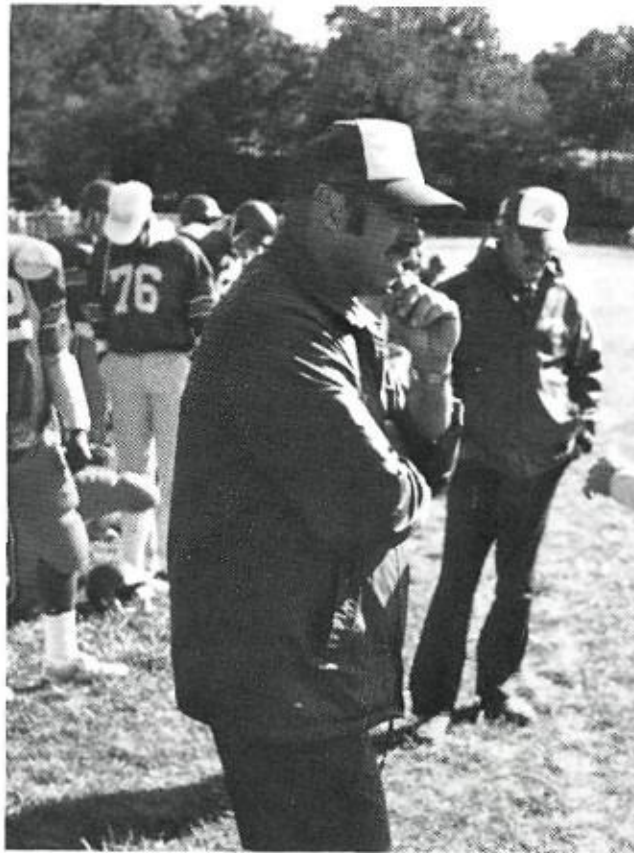

So Close . . .

After having a slow start, the football team suddenly burst into a first place league tie with impressive wins over Central, Douglass, Gwynn Park, and Forestville. The league championship came down to one game and ultimately one play.

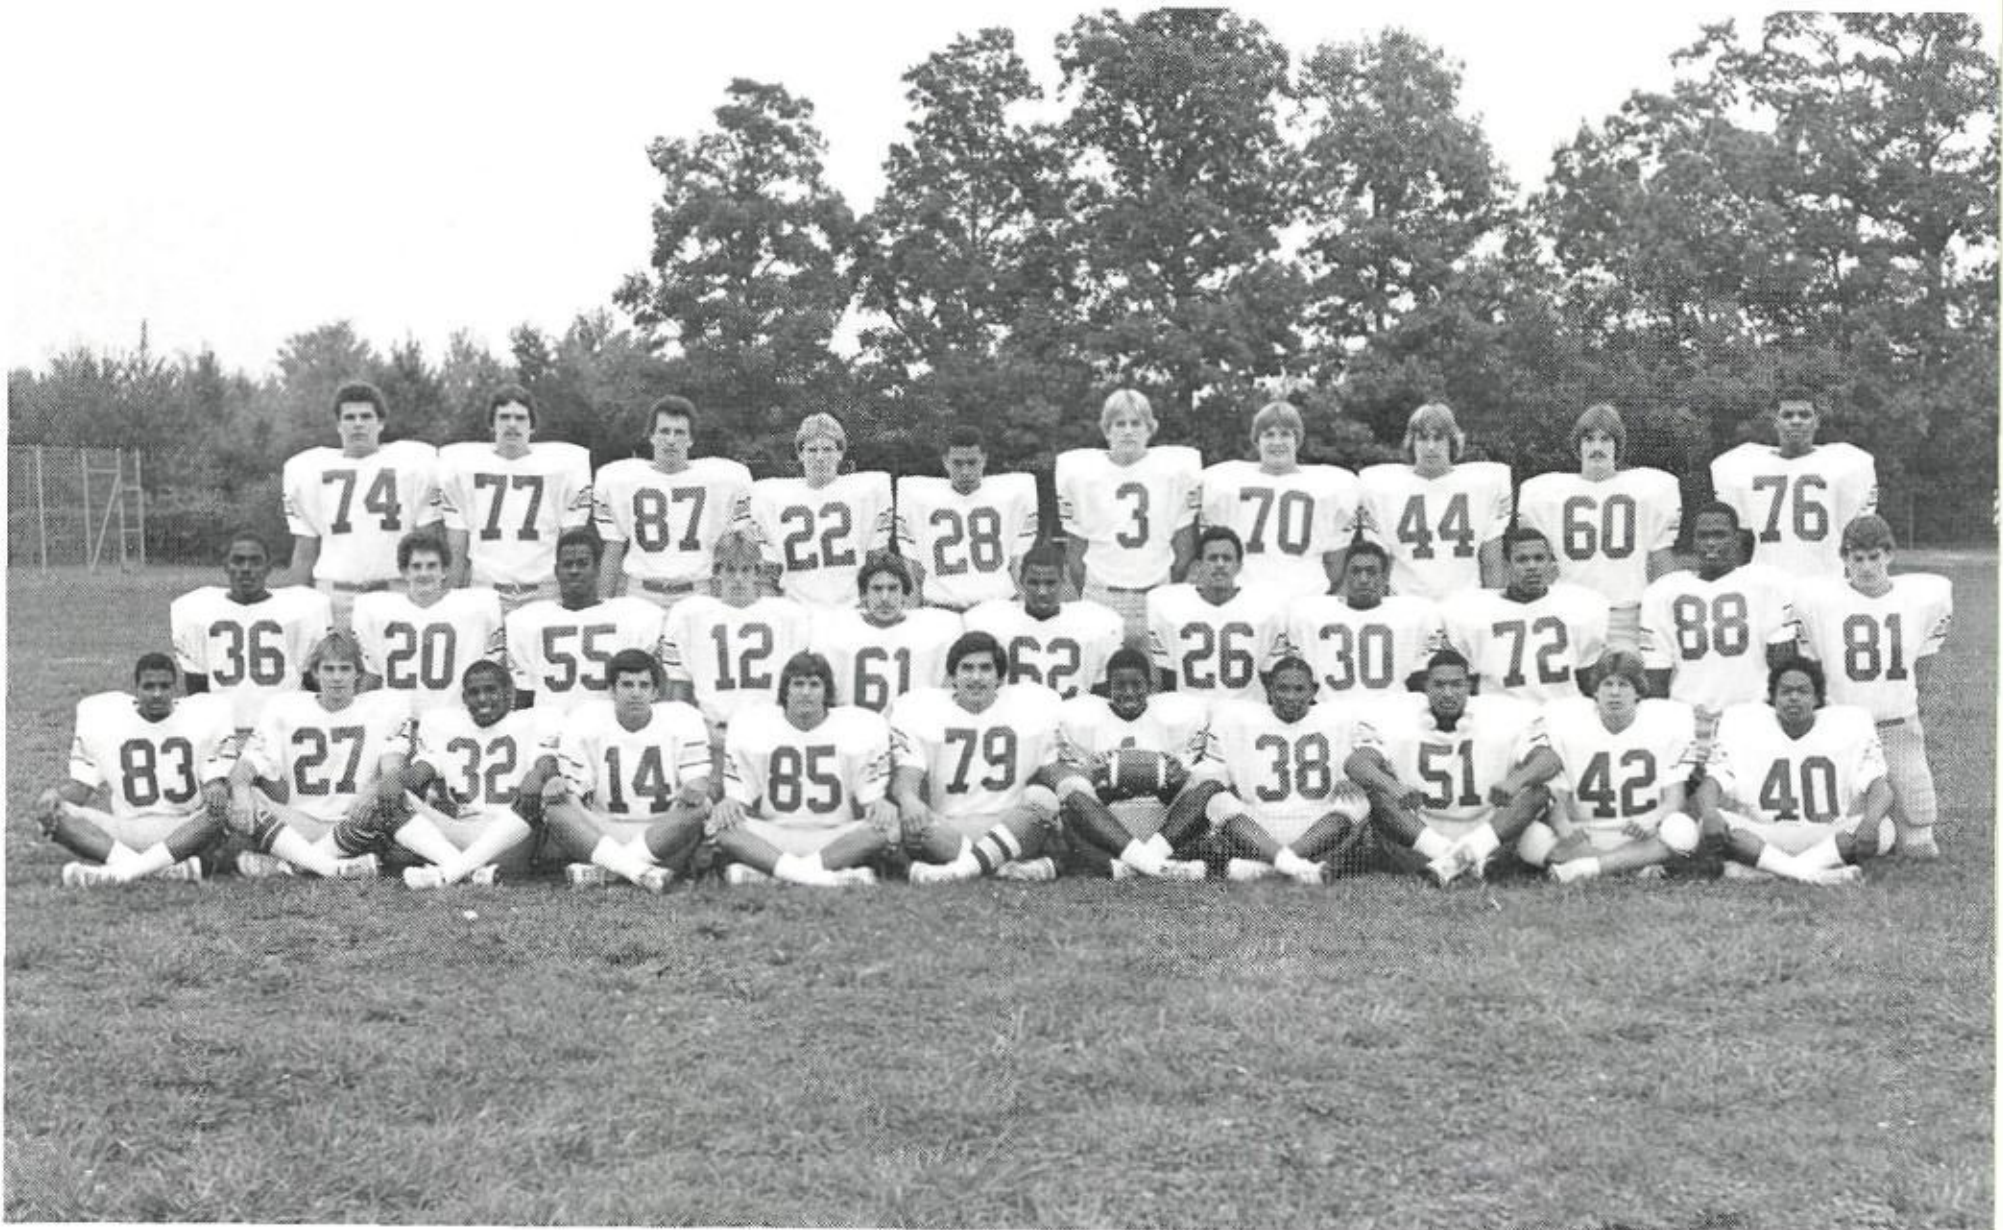

On November 12, 1983, the Hornets were marched up against Fairmont Heights, who was also undefeated in league play. With the score tied 6-6 late in the third quarter, Fairmont Heights drove down the field but was unable to get in the end zone. They decided to attempt a 35 yard field goal. The kick was called good by the official, but to everyone else the kick appeared to have gone in the space below the crossbar. The coaches and players appealed but were unsuccessful.

The Hornets still came through with an impressive season over all. Despite their opening losses, they proved to all that they were a force to be reckoned with. The team and this football season will long stand out in our memories. Instead of remembering just one play let us remember the players and coaches who came within that one play. Their effort should be appreciated by all. The improving Hornet football team came so close . . .

Coach Zier concentrates on the action to figure out the next play to call.

Tommy Catania, a two time varsity player, expresses his joy after scoring the first touchdown of the season against McDonough.

Do It To It!

The Horner volleyball team did it to their league this year with a regular season record of twelve wins and two losses. After winning their first twelve matches and clinching the league title, Surrattsville lost to AA opponents Crossland and Largo. Unfortunately, these two season ending losses hurt the team's confidence immensely, and they lost in the regional playoffs.

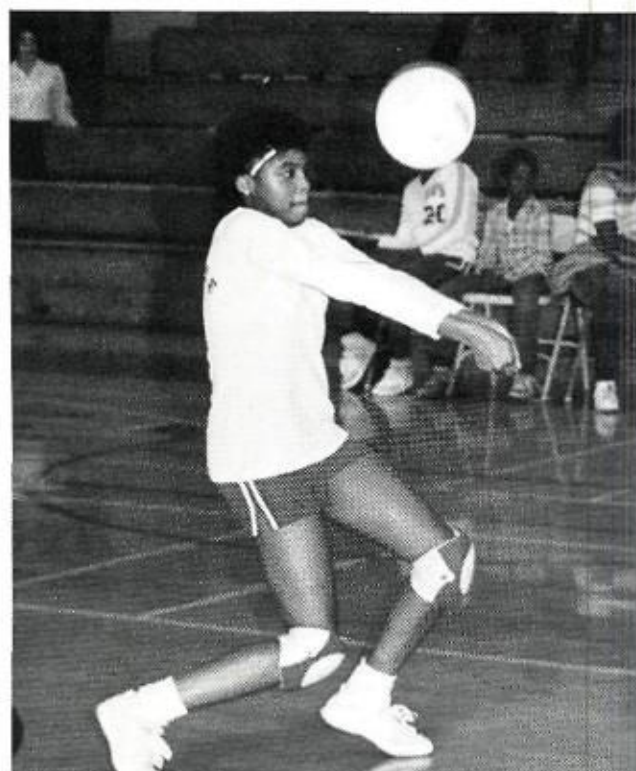

Regardless of their loss in the regional tournament, the league title was Surrattsville's ninth in the past eleven years. Surrattsville is known throughout the state for its strong volleyball program, which can be attributed to the fine coaching of Mrs. Hilman and Ms. Grouby.

Early in the year the coaching staff did not know what to expect of the team after losing five varsity players to graduation last year. The team came through with a good balance of players from all grades. This strength should leave the team well set to continue with their winning tradition in years to come.

Rita Bouchard, watching attentively, awaits her turn to play.

Denise Lindley shows the determination to receive an opponent's serve.

Belinda Lee and Michelle Bouchard get last minute instructions from Coach Hilman before the Forestville game.

At a between game talk, Coach Grouby discusses the team's strategy as the players concentrate on what she is saying.

Hornets Reach New Goal

The Hornets' soccer team reached a new goal this year by defeating Broadneck and South River for the region title. With these victories, the 1983 squad advanced to the state semi-finals making it the first soccer team from Surrattsville to make it to the state play-offs. The opponent Surrattsville faced was Walter Johnson. Although the Hornets did not win the state semi-finals game, the Horner booters finished the season with twelve wins and three losses.

The Horner team was under the leadership of Coach Wright and Coach Orr this year. This was the first year that Coach Wright had ever coached soccer and Coach Orr's first season with Surrattsville.

With only five returning varsity players, Surrattsville had a totally new team. This seemed to be a disadvantage but they pulled through and ended with a better than ever season.

Taking A Shot

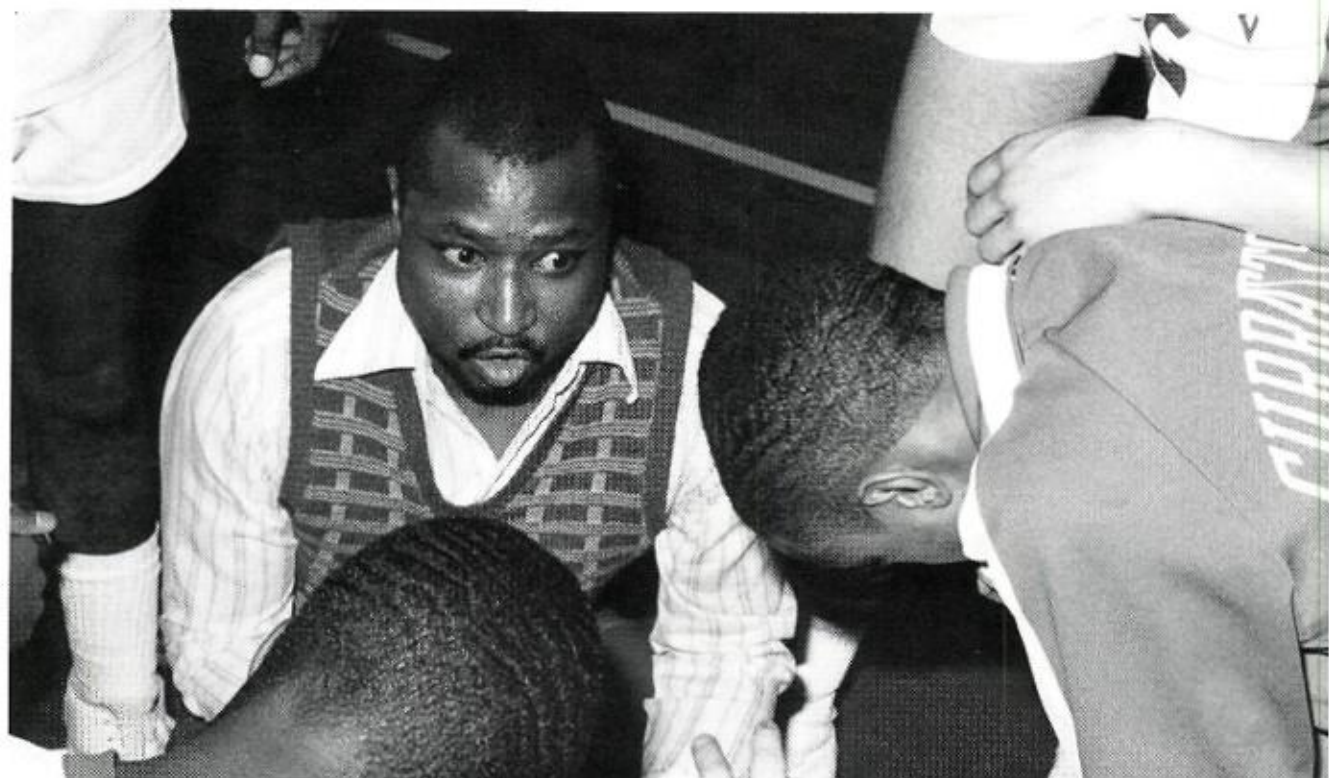

The Surrattsville Horner boys' basketball team has undergone changes as has the rest of the school. The biggest difference is the change in the coaching staff. The new J.V. coach is Gary Orr, and the new varsity coach is Melvin Johnson.

Coach Orr has done a fine job in preparing the J.V. players for the varsity team in seasons to come. Varsity coach Johnson is to be commended for his efforts. In his first year as coach, the team has won more games than last year and has brought excitement to the school. Senior Sam Taylor, a three year player and this year's captain, has played a big part in the Hornets' victories. The Hornets have taken their shot at success and achieved more than anyone ever expected.

Blocking a shot of his opponent helps Chris Jones and his team members insure a victory against Douglass.

Being heavily guarded, Joey Cryer shows us that he can shoot the ball against anyone.

Hornets on the Rebound

The Horner ladies were definitely on the rebound this year. Compared to last year's record of 2 wins and 18 losses, this year's season was a big improvement.

When the season started, the team had three main goals. They were to win more games than they lost, to make the playoffs, and most of all, to have fun doing it.

There are a few reasons why the team succeeded in achieving these goals. First, the new addition of Bill St. Ledger as assistant coach helped greatly. Second, the dedication and hard work of the players was extraordinary. Third, an asser to this year's team was the past experience of Tonja Lindsey, Susan Abell, JoAnn Owen, Kathy Cochran, and Janet Baron.

The first freshman ever to play on Surrattsville's team was Kitty Harple. She played every game and has a promising future with the team.

Captains: JoAnn Owen, Tonja Lindsey, Susan Abell, Kathy Cochran.

In keeping with tradition Mr. Wright again walked down Surrattsville's halls to the gym and reported to the wrestling room as head coach of the wrestling team; except this year Coach Wright had some help. Former graduates and wrestlers Ron Alvarez, Ed Wolfe, Eric Burrello, and Marc Rainey aided Coach Wright in training the Horner wrestlers and in teaching the new additions to the team strategy and grappling techniques. This year has also seen the addition of freshmen Billy Cornelius and Jeff Martin to the Horner wrestling team.

Although the Hornets had a losing season this year (2 wins, 8 losses), Coach Wright believes that the up and coming freshmen and sophomore wrestlers will continue to improve and is hopeful that next season the team will do much better.

Hornets Net County Title

In 1983, the tennis team took the county title for the fourth consecutive year, again beating Douglass. There was a difference however, since this was the first year for a truly male-female alignment. Each team played nine matches: two male and two female singles; two male and two female doubles and a mixed doubles. While some of the teams had some good players, only Surrattsville had strength in all positions.

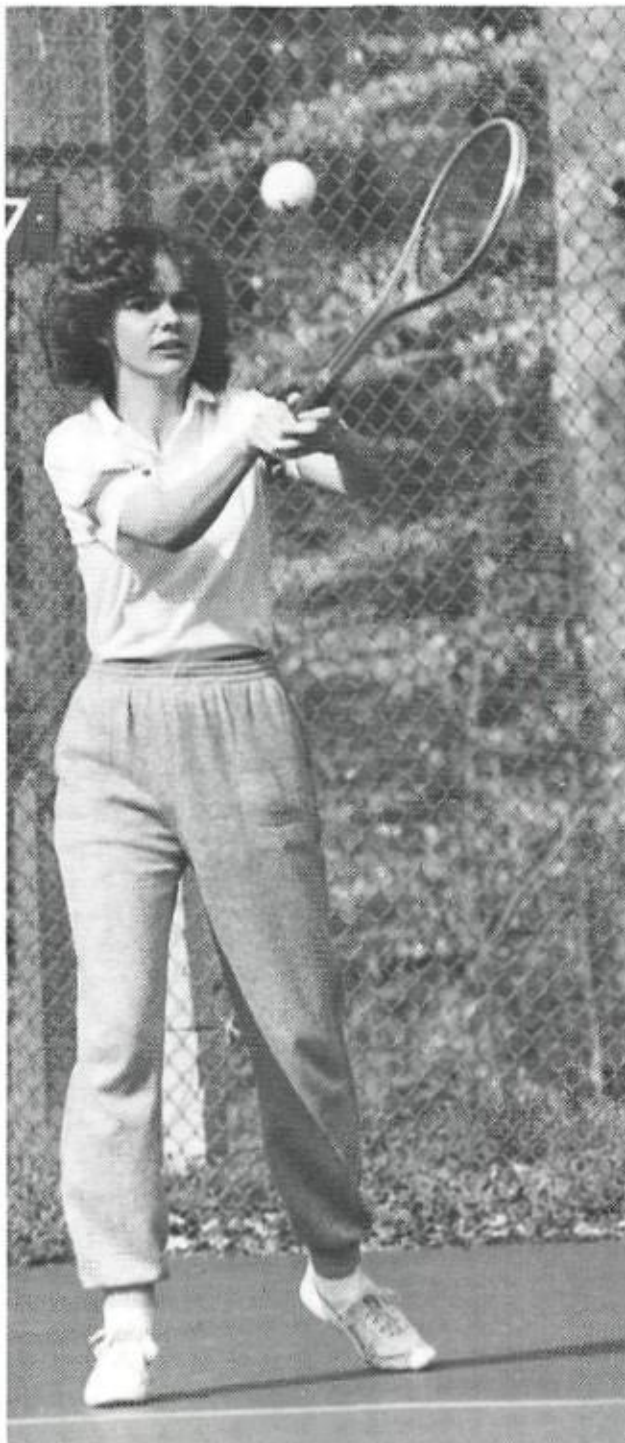

The only two setbacks in 1983 were against AA opponents Bowie and Friendly. While losing to traditional rival Friendly on their courts, the Hornets were able to avenge the loss at home. Against Bowie, the Hornets opened strong, winning the first set in five of the nine matches, but only one player prevailed while the other matches were dropped in three sets.

Under the expanded mixed format the tennis team carried twenty-eight members and each played in at least one of the regular season matches. "Having coached the Horner tennis team to six county titles and over 100 victories, I was proud of this year's squad," said Coach Cady.

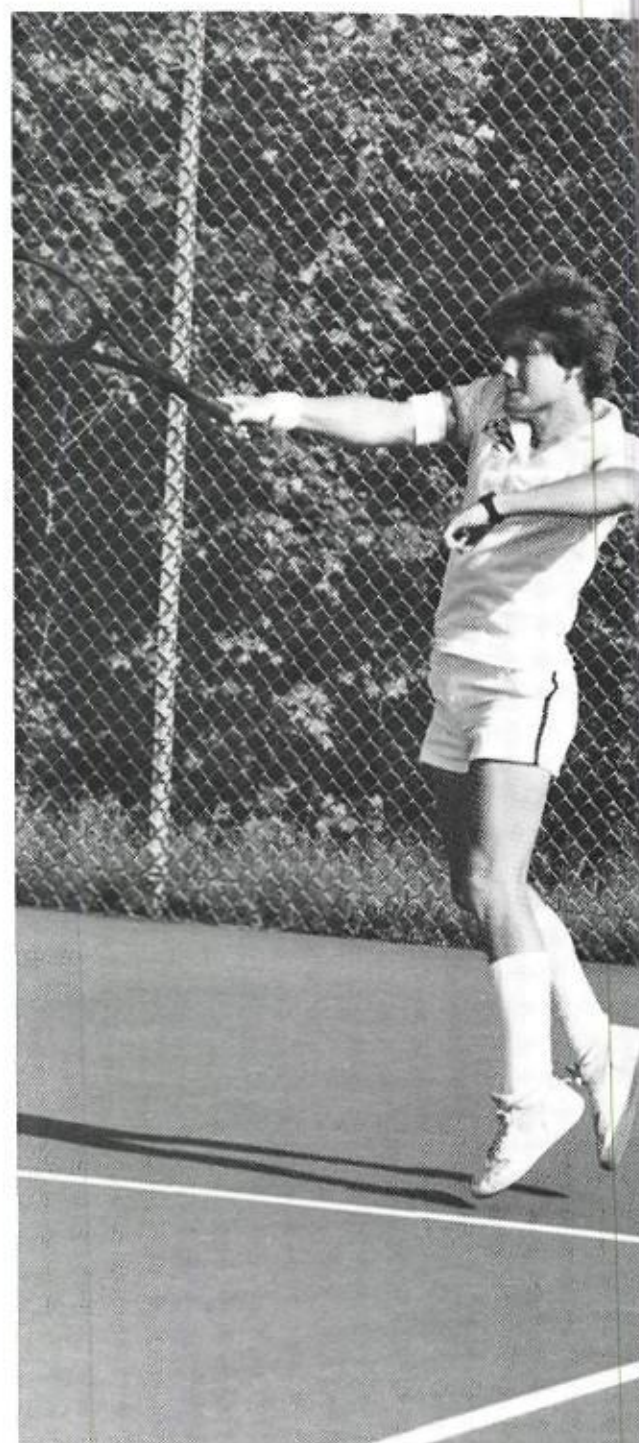

Surrattsville's fans and players anticipate a county victory as they watch the county finals at Cosca Park.

Senior Allen Brisbon shows his form and concentration with a backhand return. After having successful seasons on the team, Alan will be an important factor to this year's team.

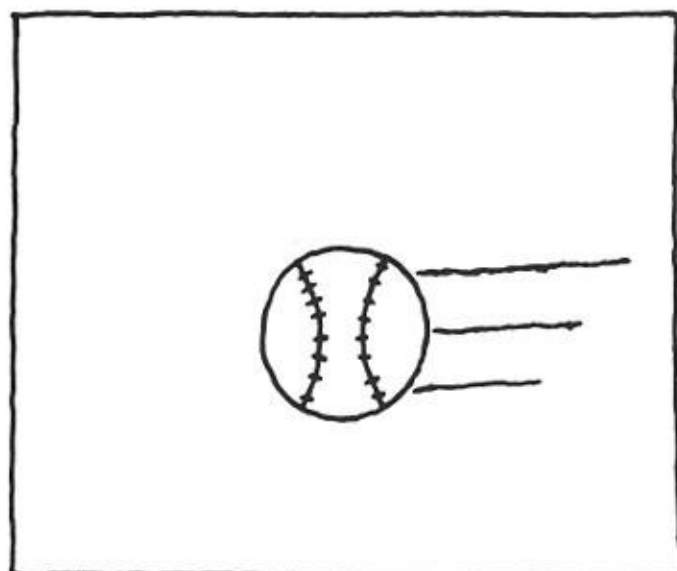

Senior Chris Coleman hits his ferocious serve in a practice match at Cosco Park.

Senior Belinda Lee executes the skillful forehand that has led her to many victories. Belinda has been with the team for three years.

Hornets Up At Bat

The 1983 baseball team was made up of fourteen of the best players at Surrattsville. They had a very spirited and promising team.

Although the baseball team did not make it to the state championship, they are very optimistic about the outlook for the 1984 season.

Good luck, guys, for the upcoming year!

Hornets Pour It On At State

When it rains, it pours on the Horner softball team. In the 1982 softball season Surrattsville's playoff hopes were cut short by a down pour in the seventh inning against Rockville.

Once again in 1983, the Surrattsville softball team, two time victors of the state championship title, in the midst of rainy conditions advanced to the finals of the state championships with the previous year's rival: Rockville. Withstanding a two and one-half hour rain delay, both teams took the battlefield in a duel which lasted four and one-half innings. At this time the game was called and, although the ruling from the umpires was "no decision," Surrattsville had dominated, leading by a score of 4-2.

Exhausted, wet, and angry over the umpires's decision, the Surrattsville coaches and players contemplated revenge while returning home that night. They got it the following morning during the first inning of the game by scoring an initial eight runs. Struggling, Rockville scored only two runs during the remainder of the game. The Horner softball team rallied for fourteen more runs, steamrolling over the Rockville team to capture its third state title.

Coach St. Ledger and senior catcher JoAnne Owen discuss strategy as they walk back to the bench. JoAnne learned to play her position in her sophomore year and has been improving ever since.

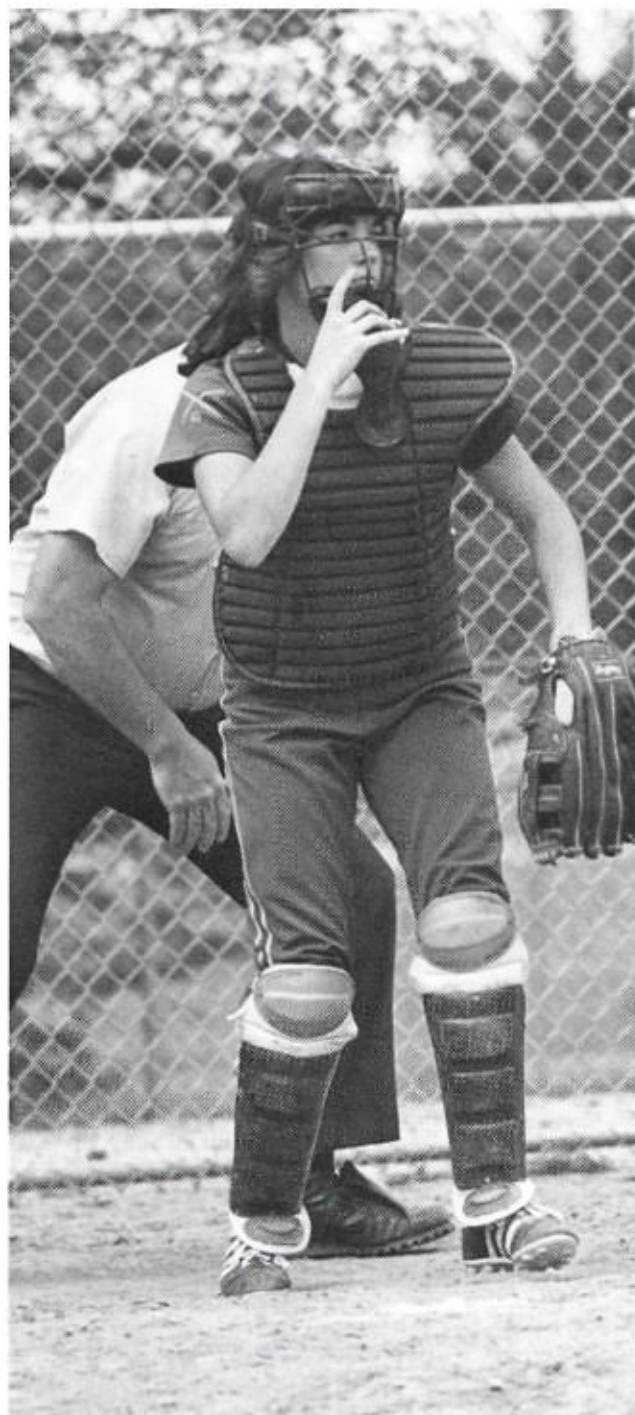

Sandi O'Clair, Dorrice Moore, Debbie Keener, Suzanne Dixon, and Valerie Mays hold the state plaque proudly after their 22-2 victory over Rockville.

Junior Janet Baron congratulates a teammate after the Hornets' victory in the final game. The state crown has become expected at Surrattsville because of the team's great tradition.

Catcher JoAnne Owen adjusts her mask after throwing out a runner trying to steal second base.

Dorrice Moore displays the pitching technique that won her a place on the All-Country team.

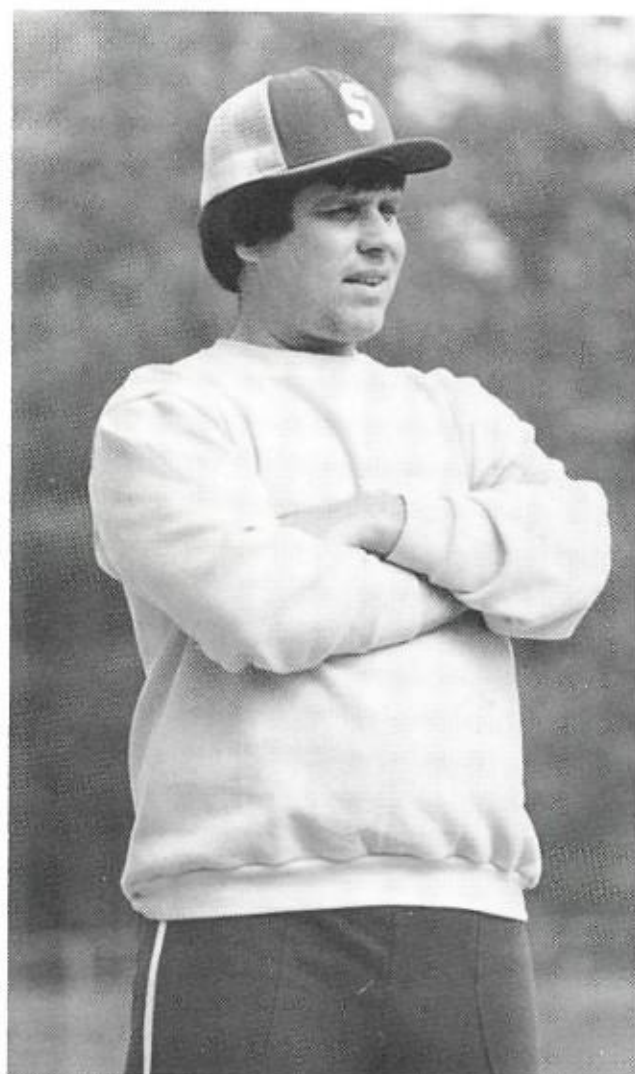

Tracey Sollers, a senior, keeps her eye on the ball as she closes in on second base during the championship game.

Keeping her eye on the ball, senior Kathy Cochran builds up the energy needed in her swing for a winning hit while many Horner fans look on.

Flying gracefully across home plate, senior Marie Ragano displays Surrattsville's renowned winning form. Marie has been a part of the team since her sophomore year.

"Look out, left-fielder, it's coming right at you!" says senior Debbie O'Clair as she steps up to bat.

Chrissy Darmstead stays alert on first base while Coach Grouby gives last minute instructions.

"Let's go, Hornets, let's go!" Marie Ragano cheers enthusiastically as she and Tracey Sollers await their chance to hit yet another Surrattsville home run.

Two In A Row

Last year, during the 1983 season, the Horner golf team won its second straight league title and went on to win the Prince George's County title by defeating Parkdale 5-4. The Hornets then faced DeMartha for the Metropolitan area title in the pouring rain and lost 7-2.

The Hornets also placed third in the state championship two years in a row—in the fall of 1982 and in the fall of 1983. Senior captain Joe Hoffman captured 3rd individually for the team.

Last year's team won every regular season match, ending the year with a 10-0 record. The golfers ended Bowie High School's undefeated streak that extended all the way back to 1973.

This year every member of the county championship team is returning, and Coach Smith expects a third straight league title. This is a reasonable expectation because of the high level of motivation among the players and their own high expectations.

Track Team Runs On High Hopes

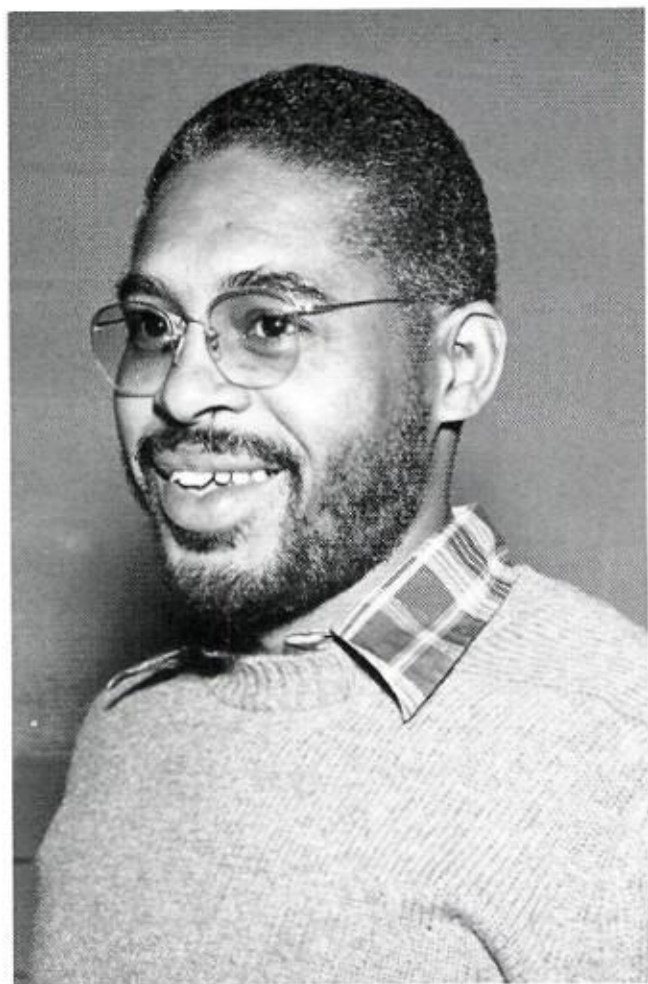

This year's track team had a year of rebuilding. Only one letterman returned from last year's team. This drove them to compete in area meets even more. At each meet our team was up against at least fifteen different schools, with one or two competitors in each event.

During the previous meets, the team was plagued with injuries, but this did not stop the members from giving it their all. Under the coaching of Mr. Dinkins and Mr. Meckley, the individual players hope to place in the Regional meet scheduled in February.

Timing Is Everything

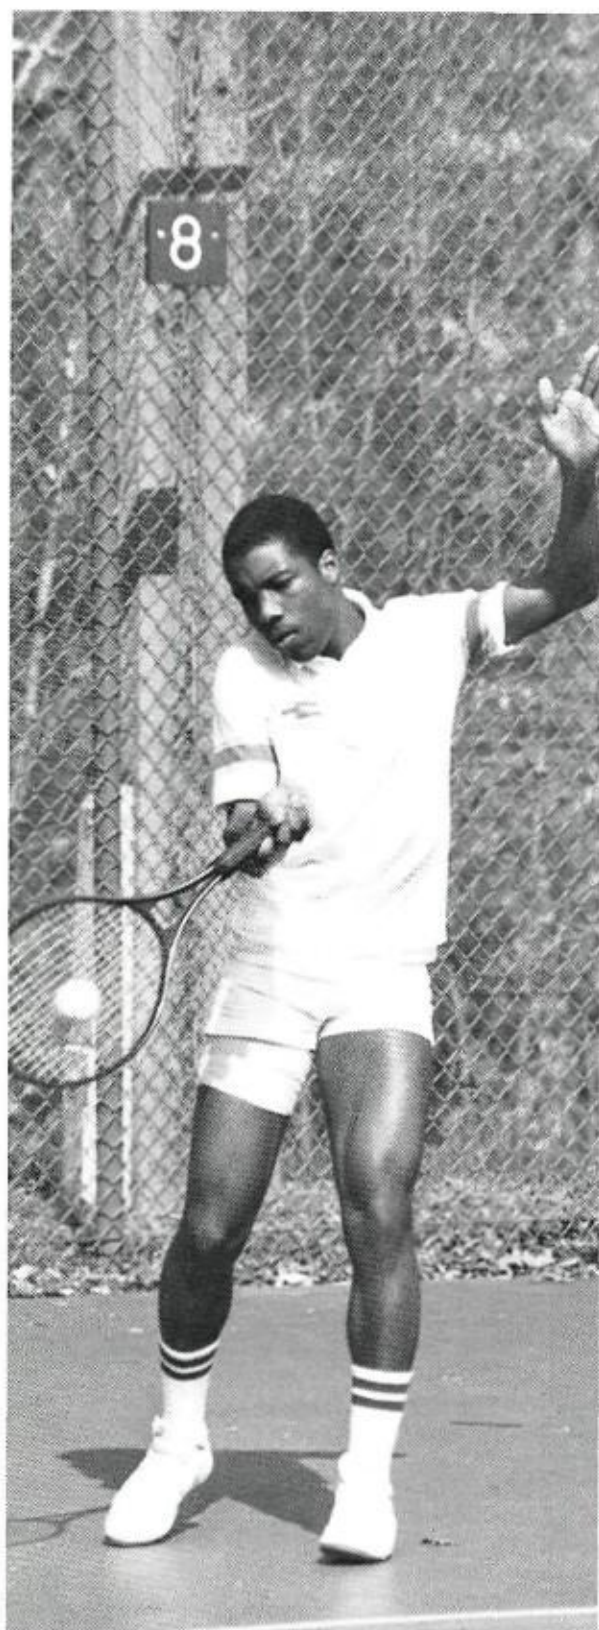

Joe and Dan Hoffman have been playing golf for six years, and for the past three years they have played in over seventy local, state and national tournaments and more than one-hundred and forty matches. Over this time period they have won eight tournaments, placed second seven times, and won six Robin Dale Junior Club Championships.

Joe and Dan are currently members of the Robin Dale Junior team, which won the Maryland State Interclub title in 1983.

Joe, the older of the brothers, finished third in the Maryland State High School Championship; Dan was the 1983 District III High School Champion.

The Hoffman brothers are a truly remarkable pair and have shown their talent and skill. Both Joe and Dan plan to continue to play golf in college. Joe will be attending college in the fall on a golf scholarship.

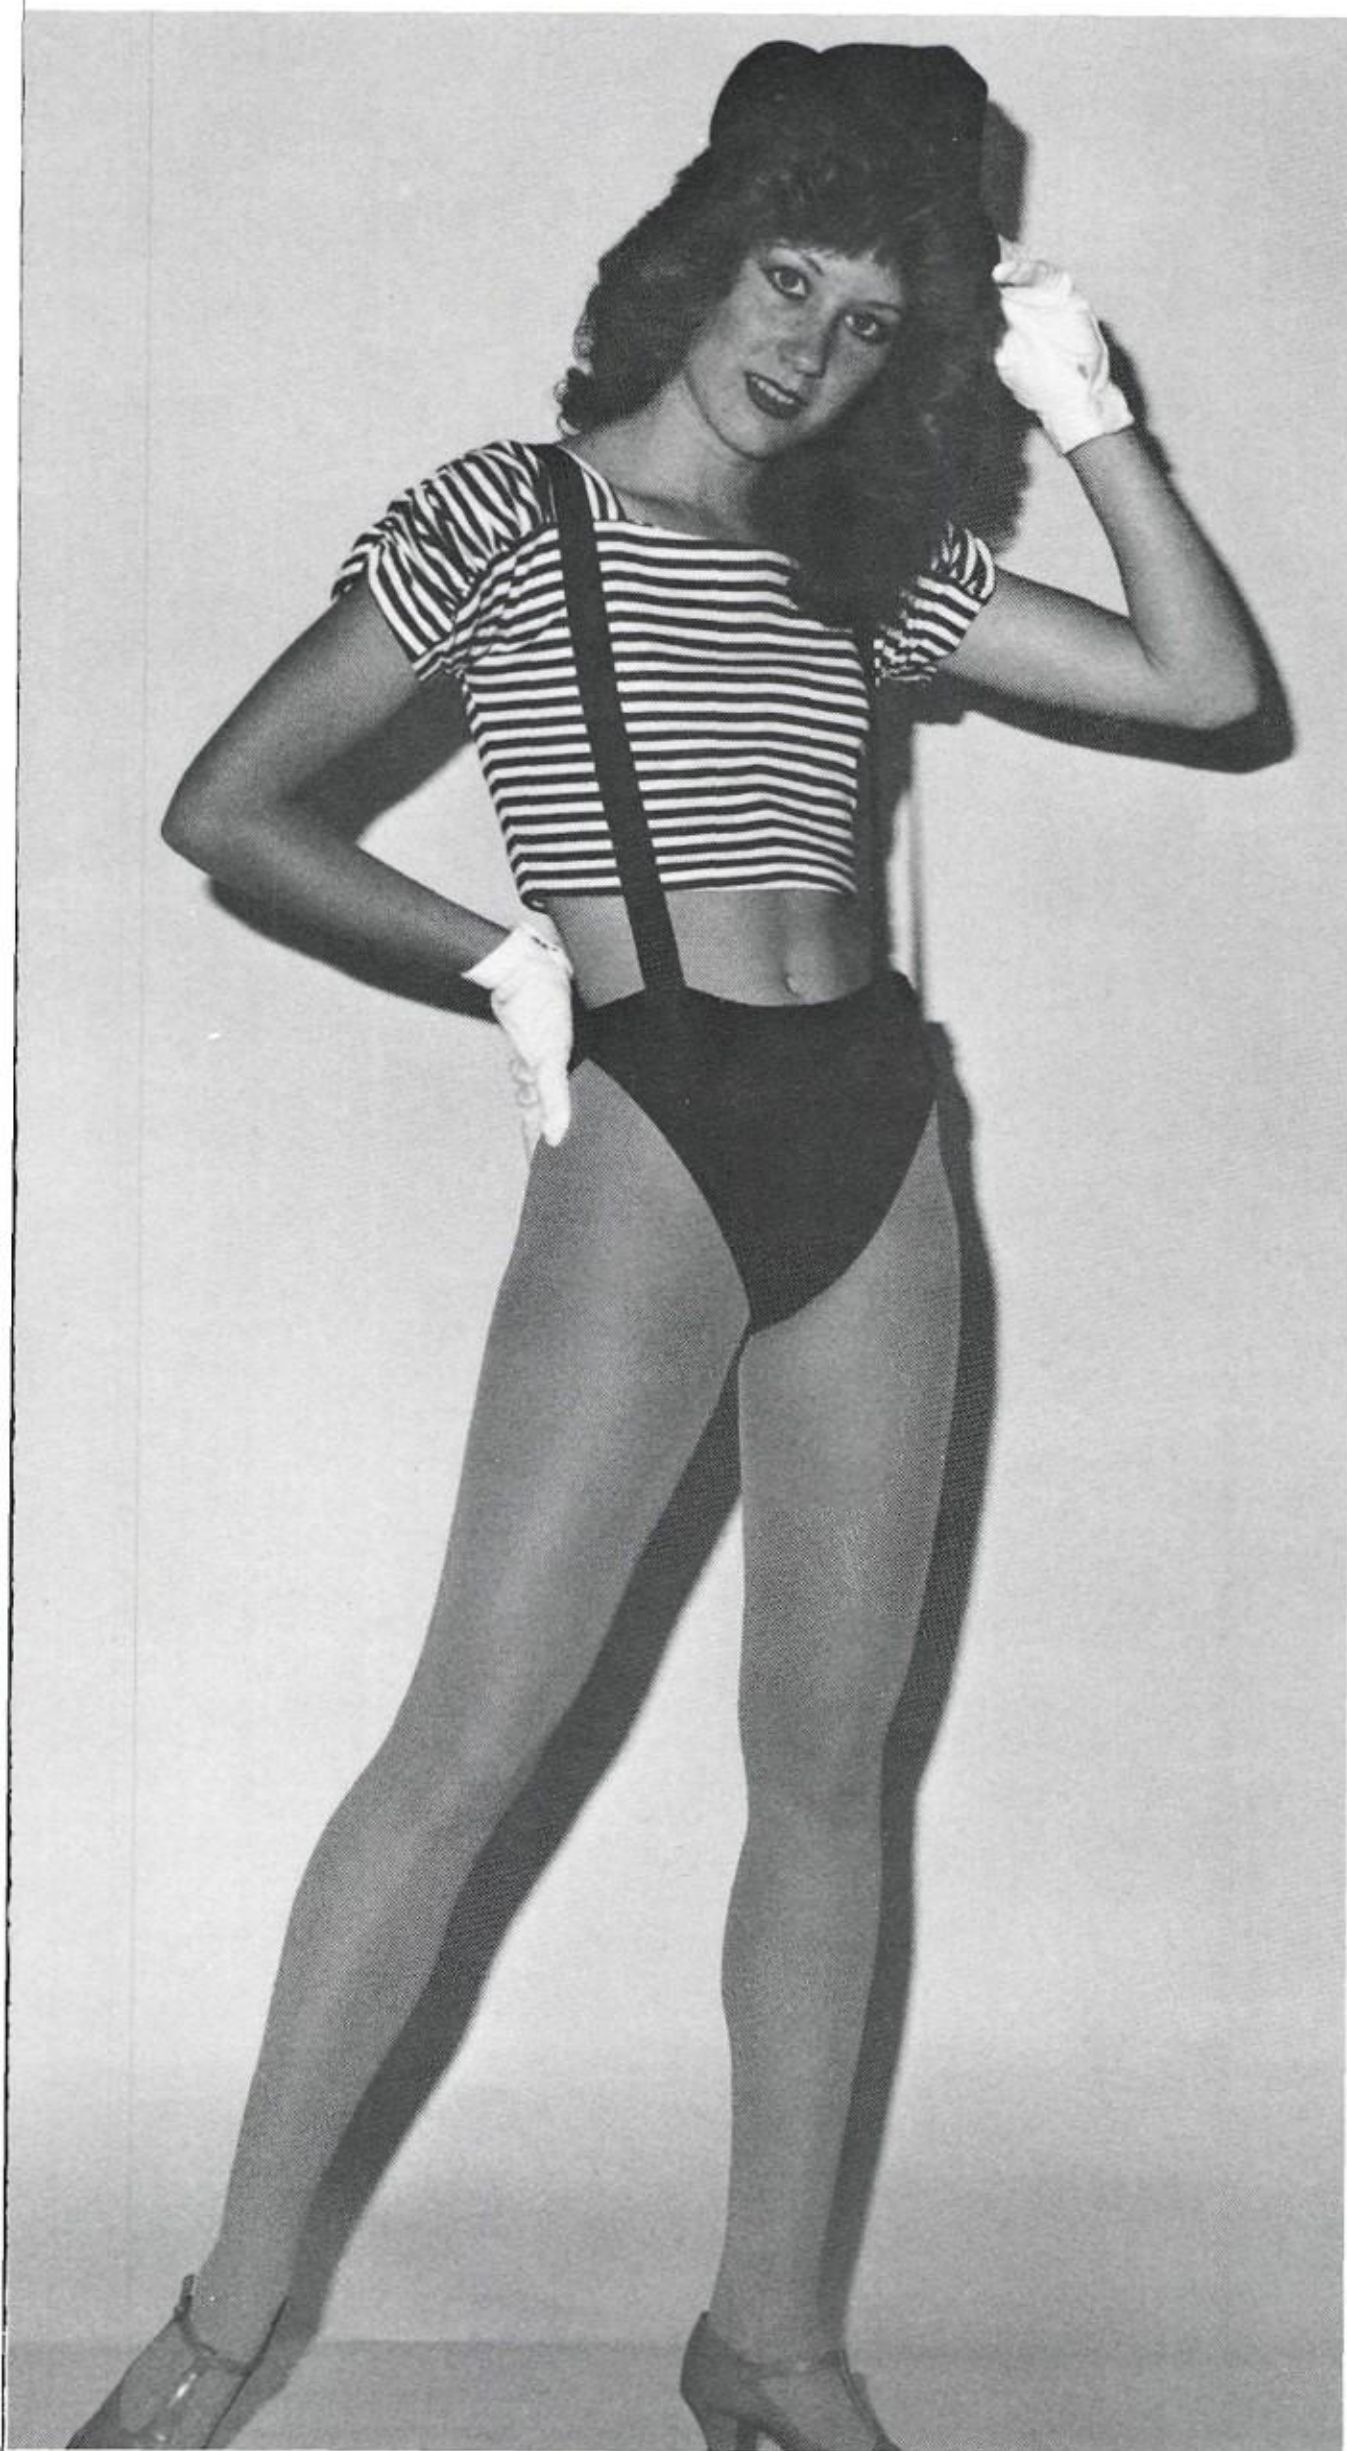

Alan Brisbon began playing tennis at the age of 12. His success includes playing for the Clinton Boys and Girls Club for 5 years, winning several tournaments at camps. He has had a starting position on Surrattsville's team since he was a sophomore, which is outstanding considering the great success of the team. This year he will be playing singles, one of the top positions on the team.

The amazing thing is that Alan is really just beginning to take professional lessons at the Four Star Tennis Academy. He devotes 25 to 30 hours per week playing tennis during the season. He hopes for continued success in his high school career and possibly in college.

A junior, Johnny Capers, is an accomplished brown belt in the arts of Tae Kwon Do and also in the art of Hapkido.

The art of Tae Kwon Do deals mainly with kick and ground techniques. Where as the art of Hapkido deals mainly with hand to hand combat.

Johnny has been in the arts since he was seven years old. He has taken part in many tournaments and competitions. He has taken first place in several.

He is also a skilled user of the numchucks, the staff, and the sticks. Johnny has also been taught to throw knives with accuracy.

Right now, he is in the process of learning the kubuda ronja and is also learning to work with the butterfly knife.

Doreen Laughery, a senior, has been taking tap, jazz, and ballet lessons most of her life and is extremely accomplished.

She has competed in several talent shows and contests and has placed very high in all of them.

While continuing to broaden her dancing background by taking dance lessons at Terry's School of Dance, Doreen also teaches dance at her home. She teaches several students at Surrattsville including the pom-pom squad. Every day Doreen teaches the pom-poms new routines and goes over the old ones for competitions with them.

Doreen is considered to be an important part of the Surrattsville spirit.

CHANGING GEARS

"The more things change the more they remain the same."

Alphonse Karr

Rrring! The school bell rolls the end of the school day. For most students the day is through, and finally it is time to go to home sweet home. But for thirty percent of Surrattsville's population, the day has just begun.

A variety of clubs and organizations come alive and get into gear at 3 p.m. and work until 4 or 5 p.m. at night. The people involved give their extra time and effort to give Surrattsvillians something to be proud of.

There is a club or organization to suit everyone's tastes. If you are musically inclined, there are five different bands to join. Or if singing is more your style, there are four types of choir clubs to choose from. All these clubs perform at various functions throughout the year.

For the future journalists of America, the Boomerang staff and the Hornet's Nest welcome creative writers to write articles for the yearbook and school newspaper. Also, photographers can practice their art for free with the yearbook.

For the girls who are the spirited and athletic types, cheerleader, pom pon, drill team, and flag corp organizations will fit their taste. There are also clubs that focus on academic ability. Some examples are the NHS, FBLA, and Math Club. Other personal interest clubs are the Bible Study, SGA, and Chess Club.

All these clubs have their advantages. Almost all of them teach team work and cooperation. Others help build up self-confidence and/or physical and mental ability. In all of them, you make friends; you have a lot of fun; you do something you enjoy; and, as a result, you have a different perspective on school. After all, high school isn't all work and no play.

Michelle Puryear, Mike Zick, and Susan Pyle enjoy working together to prepare for a math meet.

Anthony Murrill and John McGee form a twosome to play "Chariots of Fire" during half time.

The National Honor Society shows the lighter side of high school by hamming it up with their fellow club members.

The pom-pon squad practice a gate wave for perfection.

Senior Emily Ebling puts down her flag for a jazz routine.

Making Magic Work

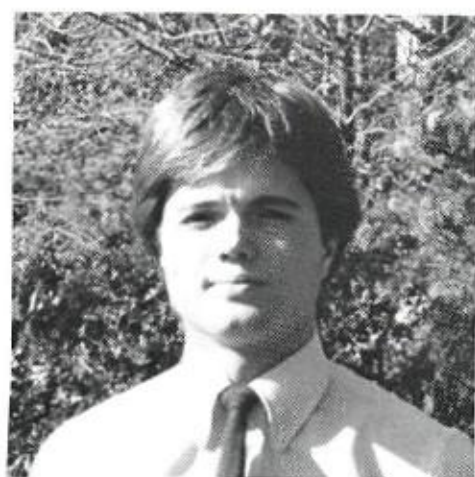

Magic was all in the mix of people who worked together. As applied to the Student Government Association, truer words were never spoken. Under the guidance of sponsor Michael Cady, working together was what S.G.A. was all about. During fourth period each day the elected officials of S.G.A. and their aides worked on class business and school functions such as the freshman and sophomore orientation, the bonfire, spirit week, Homecoming, and Class Nite.

In addition to helping students enjoy school a little more, S.G.A. helped charitable organizations such as Children's Hospital with its can food drive and the Red Cross with its bloodmobiles. The Student Government Association has long carried on a tradition of being the most helpful organization in Surrattsville. Due to the excellent sponsorship of Mr. Cady and the hard work of the elected members of S.G.A. that tradition has held tight in the 1983-1984 school year.

Those Crazy Deadlines

This year the yearbook itself has had many changes although the yearbook staff has only had a few changes. For example sophomore Debbie Shearer took part in producing the 1984 yearbook. In the past years there have been no sophomores participating in this event. Another change in the yearbook staff came when Cara DeDominicis followed her sister, Traci DeDominicis, as Editor-in-Chief of the yearbook.

What most students do not understand is that the yearbook must change with the times. This year the yearbook changed tremendously starting with the size of the book. Last year the yearbook was a size 7, and this year the yearbook became a size 8. The change in size enabled the yearbook staff to include more in-depth articles and larger pictures within the yearbook.

Another new change the yearbook had was the fashion page. This year the yearbook staff made the fashion page with beautiful color pictures instead of black and white pictures. The color pictures seemed to add a nice, bright touch to the fashion of the 80's.

Once again the famous senior superlatives were back in the yearbook. Only this year they were different. The yearbook staff added questions like: "Who would you most like to be stranded on an island with?" or "Who has the best eyes or best smile?" The new, unique questions gave a different kind of twist to the senior superlatives.

As the times change and the years pass by, the yearbook must also change. This year the yearbook did change quite a lot and it showed these changes in the best way possible.

Lionel Jones, art director of the yearbook, is distracted from his train of thought.

Hornet's Nest Uses Its Imagination

Michele Puryear, the other co-editor, and her classmates are hard at work on the newspaper at an after-school staff session.

The first change that took place on the newspaper staff this year was the arrival of Mr. Brown who assumed the role of one of the sponsors. Mr. Brown was in charge of the literary aspects of the in-depth articles which the newspaper staff wrote.

The other sponsor of the staff was Mrs. Wingard. She had the job of overseeing the art and layout aspects of the paper.

This year the staff decided to have two co-editors who were Terri Smith and Michele Puryear. These two seniors were a tremendous help to the newspaper staff.

Another change in the newspaper came when the location of the printing of the paper was moved to Gwynn Park. Last year the newspaper was moved to Gwynn Park for financial reasons.

This year was the best ever for the newspaper staff. They hope to have years just as productive in the future.

The National Honor Society is an organization designed to recognize outstanding students. Its purpose is to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote leadership, and to develop character. Members are selected and inducted in both the spring and the fall. The Honor Society member must maintain a 3.5 grade point average as a junior and a 3.3 grade point average as a senior. The Honor Society sponsor was Ms. Seidell and the officers were Susanne Miller, president; Randall Hayden, induction chairman; and Ristrina Hendricks, secretary.

FBLA gives students the opportunity to learn about the business community as they prepare to become a part of it. Projects involving FBLA students include professional, civic, service, financial, and social awareness activities.

Since competition is recognized as a major part of the free enterprise system, FBLA sponsors a competition at the regional and state levels. FBLA members compete in business communication, public speaking, accounting, typing, and many other categories. The winners will compete in Ocean City at the state level.

After Matt Piquette formed it in 1979, Steve Bruch continued to lead it from 1980-1983. Currently Vince Miller and Paul Bruch continue to lead it for the school years of 1983-1985. The members in the club come from different churches throughout the community.

Their theme this year is: "The word of God is written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing you may have life in his name." John 20:31

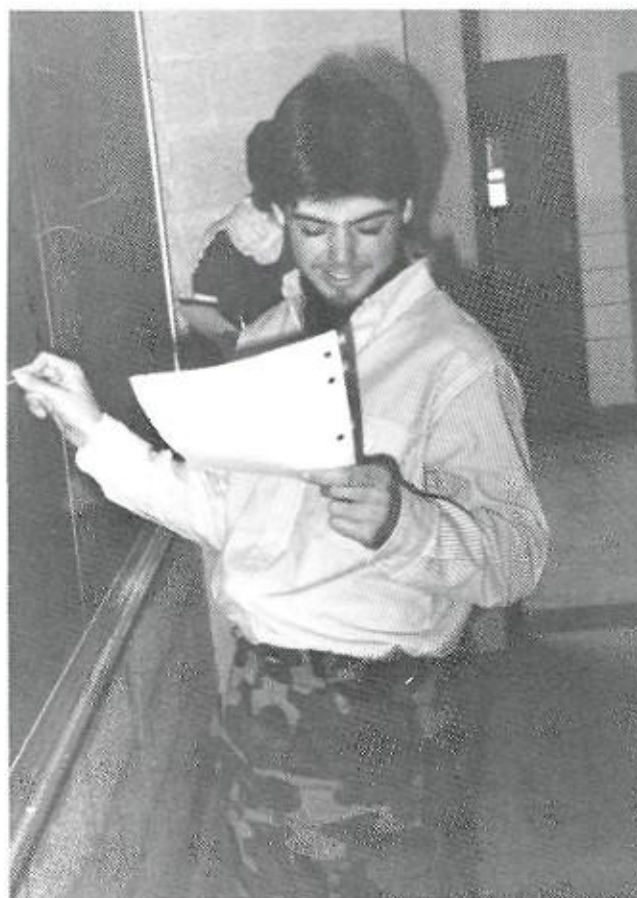

Vince Miller and Paul Bruch, leaders of the Bible Study group, devote much of their time to their respective religions in and out of school.

Math Club Computes

Michael Cawley shares his math ability with others.

The Math Team is once again under new sponsorship. Following the resignation of Mrs. Noyes, Ms. Stewart became the new sponsor. Due to a lack of time, Ms. Stewart forwarded her position to Mrs. Datcher, who accepted it with open arms. When asked of her feelings concerning the team she said, "It's been a positive experience . . . nothing but fun."

At the opening of this year's season there was no Math Team. After some time, Surrattsville students amassed a number of new additions to the team allowing this year's team not only an A and B team like last year's team, but also an added C and D team. During a meet, each team consists of five players with every player answering a total of six questions apiece. The team's objective this year was to better last year's average season.

The Thespians are recognized nationally. It is an honor to be asked to become a member of this prestigious group. Hopefuls earn points by participating in plays, concerts, or other types of shows. Current Thespians vote at the end of the school year on members for the next year.

Throughout the years, our Thespians have put on such productions as "Guys and Dolls," "South Pacific," "Annie Get Your Gun," and "Gypsy."

Last year's production of "Annie Get Your Gun" was well received by all, with Tammy Wyatt, Randy Hayden, Charlie Boyer, Kim Belknap, and Eddie Wolf in the spotlight.

The Surrattsville Studio is an art club that meets each Tuesday of the week after school. The students who meet in the studio are not necessarily enrolled in an art class but are active in individual projects that need extra time after school. Activities often include projects that are not available during a regularly scheduled class period. Many of the projects include complicated and exact processes such as stained glass windows.

Many other projects that were completed this year were the use of photography, the technique of water color and air brush painting, the neatness of matting finished pictures and the creativity of cover designs. These students from the Surrattsville Studio have received many awards due to their abilities. The art designs are created and completed by the students themselves, many of whom have received scholarships.

Cheerleaders Let

Perfecting their cheers for performances and events keeps the cheerleaders busy throughout the year. Beginning in the middle of the summer, they went to the NCA Superstar Cheerleading Camp at Hood College in Frederick, Maryland, where they were awarded the spirit award and four blue ribbons in evaluation. They entered into the Washington's Best Competition in August and were named the best squad in the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Area. In December they won fourth place at Parkdale's competition, and captain Tammy Wyatt won the first place captain award. Besides competing they truly play an important role in promoting school spirit at pep rallies and sport events throughout the year.

Saluting S.H.S.

The drill team consists of twenty super, energetic young ladies. The team work and precision of the varied movements and formations of the drills appear to be complicated and intricate. The drill team has never performed the same routine twice. After each performance the group starts on a new routine. With basic knowledge of fundamental military drill, the exceptional group modifies and changes military drill into different movements. One of the routines started out as "The Pop," and military drills and movements were incorporated. The end result was a routine that dazed, amazed, and thrilled everyone.

The captain of the drill team is Felicia Hammond who said, "I enjoy the leadership role; it's fascinating and challenging. It's a skill that can be learned with practice. I possess the skill and the leadership."

Sponsor of the drill team, Mr. Patterson, had this to say, "D is for dynamic and the drill team is a dynamic group. A lot of students would like to be part of our group, but it's not for everyone and that's good; only those with self-discipline and a good attitude can learn what we do. The confidence shows in the enthusiasm of the group. All twenty girls seem to have that responsibility. They accept their duty to practice and recognize what they must do. This is the best group I've ever worked with. Any one of them could be captain. They're cheerful, optimistic, and dependable, and they can be counted on to do a good job. They stay with a routine until it is perfected with or without supervision. Standards are set by what they do . . . and that's a rough act to follow."

Striving For Spirit

The Surrattsville pom pon squad of 1983-1984 was made up of 23 girls. This was the first year that freshmen were permitted to try out for the squad. There was one freshman on the squad.

The pom pons promoted spirit within the school by marching with the band during football season and performing at pep rallies and many sports events throughout the year. The squad sponsored the Mop Dance, traditionally the first dance of the year.

The Surrattsville pom pon squad was also a competing squad. This was the squad's third year of competition. In preparation for their first competition, the girls practiced hard almost every day. They attended the Maryland State Competition at Cole Field House on January 28, 1984. With the help of Mr. Colgan and Mrs. Hilman, the squad placed fourth out of sixteen places. Without the hard work and total dedication of every girl on the squad, they could not have accomplished this honor. Overall the squad had a very successful year.

Adding The Accent

Have you ever wondered what it was like to have been on the 1983-84 flag corp? In answer to the calls of curiosity the Boomerang staff asked for Captain Tina Hendricks' point of view. "It's a lot of fun to be a part of all the half-time excitement. It's especially fulfilling to be the leader of a group of girls who are so enthusiastic about putting a good show together," Tina replied. "But the most enjoyable part is when you actually feel the positive responses from the crowd."

"There are many times during the season when you really wonder if all the hours of practice and frustration are worth it," Emily Ebling, co-captain, reminds. "But when you're out on the field with all your friends, and your family is cheering, you know it is." Practice after excruciating practice, the flag corp could be found drudging along almost every day after school or in the evenings. Between mid-summer and Homecoming, the aggravations and multiple complications were never enough to stop the girls who added extra accent to the band.

Senior Mary Costello uses her second-year skills to concentrate on the upcoming moves in the "Blues in the Night" routine.

Captain Tina Hendricks, a senior and honor student, is totally devoted to her squad.

Carol Edwards, also a member of the S.G.A. and F.D.L.A., shows there is most definitely a light-hearted side to the flag corp.

Co-Captain Emily Ebling shows that concentration, not to mention the ability to interpret charts and diagrams, is of the utmost importance when performing with the band.

Secretary-Treasurer Tara Humphrey, along with sophomores Deanna Reyes and Pattricia DiPietri show that it's necessary for first year members to stick together.

And The Bands Play On

Being a band director in a high school is one of the most unique and time consuming jobs in the teaching profession. The band director is one of the few educators who have the opportunity to work with the same students for the duration of their high school career. A band director not only has to be a good musician but an educator, counselor, friend, mother, father, and drill sergeant. He gets to see his students grow physically, mentally, and musically. Not only does a band director get to work with the students in the classroom, but he has the opportunity to spend many hours outside together, travelling together, and even living together when on trips. When high goals set for a band are not met by the students, it is the band director who feels as bad as the most conscientious students feel and even worse. I, as the band director of Surrattsville High School, feel that too many students in the band program have very low goals for themselves or no goal at all. It takes a lot of hard work, discipline, and dedication to be a good band student. Maybe this is why I have always held my band members in high esteem because unless you have been a member of an outstanding band you can never realize what it takes to be a good band member.

Made up of mostly freshmen and sophomores, the concert band met one period a day to help build the musical skills and attitudes necessary to be in the symphonic band. Even though the concert band does perform in some concerts and will attend the county music festival this year, their main objective is to build better musicianship.

The symphonic band is the main performing group in the school and represents Surrattsville at several outside events. Made up mostly of juniors and seniors, the band presents several concerts a year and represents the school at the county and music festivals. Their music literature consists of the most difficult and interesting music written for bands.

The Aristocrats is the official stage band at Surrattsville. The group gives a variety of performances throughout the entire area and out of Maryland. One of the biggest values of this band is the part it plays for the public relations of the school and community.

For the first time this year students in the school who wanted to learn how to play an instrument had the opportunity to do so in the basic band. These students met every day and learned through a controlled environment which helped to create rapid progress. After one year of lessons most of the students in the basic band will be able to perform in the concert band and marching band. The basic band was one of the truly bright spots in the instrumental music program this year.

SURRATTSVILLE HIGH SCHOOL BAND CLINTON, MARYLAND

The Surrattsville banner, often seen wherever the band performs, has seen many a victory and sometimes a loss but it still retains its pride and glory.

SURRATTS SINGERS

This year's 1983-84 choruses are popular with the gleeful sounds of various voices. There are three choruses this year: Surratts Singers, the most elite; Concert Choir, a little group but still beautiful sounding; and Vocal Ensemble. Each of these is under the direction of one man-Mr. Charles Waddell.

Surratts Singers are the pride and joy of the vocal department in the school. The singers have elected to give one class period daily to practice old-time favorites and show stoppers. They also take time to coordinate a presentation given to junior high schools and special events connected with our school. Most of the members also performed in this year's school play- "Gypsy." In order to be selected to the Surratts Singers, one must have an audition with Mr. Waddell and devote great time. The talents in the voices of the Surratts Singers are professional.

The more amateur choruses, but still beautiful sounding, are those of the Vocal Ensemble and Concert Choir. Their performances are also greatly appreciated.

Horace Lee Franklin joins in with the Surratts Singers.

Note . . .

Junior Buster Morgenstern sings his favorite, "Johnny Be Good."

Thanks for all the good times and memories RA and RP. Thanks for the laughs Janelle, Debbie, Sue, Mikey, Belinda Cora, and Denise. Thanks Cam and Tim for your brilliant minds, Thanks Lisa for sharing Bill. Thanks Karen E. and the Boomerang staff for your creativity & help in putting together an A-#1 yearbook and for someone to yell at around deadline time. Thanks Mr. Hagler for being a great person as well as a great teacher, Mr. Brown for your Pearls of Wisdom, Mr. Cady for your humor, Mr. Schmidt for learning my name after having me in class for only two years, and Mrs. Williams for your friendship. Thanks tennis team for some great times (may Alan become a pro some day.) But thanks especially Mom, Dad, Maura, Traci, John, and Mike. I love you all.

Cara D.

* Mom & Dad, I love you so much thanks for all the love and support!!!!

* Michelle, you are very special to me! Always remember that!!!

* Don & Jim, you are excellent examples to follow. I'm glad you are my big brothers!!

* '84-thanks for the special friendships and memories! Love ya!

To my Boomerang staff:

Knowing my fondness for senior questionnaires, I thought I'd indulge you all with mine . . . so here goes!

Name: Vicki Lynn Williams

Nickname: Miss Vicki or Vic

Likes: Janelle's nails chipped, Bud's artsy photos, Laura's sneezes, Lisa's braces or is it Leslie's, Jacy's pre-planning, Patti's shoe problems, Pat's rolling chair, Mike's fuzzy face, Lisa W's smile, Cara's male file, Denise's and Cam's ovals, Tracey's diamonds, Debbie S's potential, Debbie O's quiet competence, Dottie O's quiet (?) competence, Denise L's willingness to help, Carol's appreciation of guys, Emily's Wanda, Karen's efficient thoroughness, Beth's "I know," Melissa's countdown, Susie's never-ending smile, Lionel's talents, Jayne's visitors, and deadlines.

Dislikes: Getting pictures back the day after the deadline, finding Mike Cawley, saying it twice for Tracey, trying to decide if it's Lisa or Leslie, visitors at deadlines, incomplete copy sheets and bags, "smiling at," "posing for," and "getting caught by" the camera, oval portraits, the golf team pictures, the sticky on the back of the underclassmen rolls, the gray hairs you've given me, losing you all when you've finally gotten it together.

Prizes: The smiles and laughs you've given me, Karen's "don't do ———!" and Cara's treasured friendship.

Dream/Ambitions: To be able to train a staff for a year before doing the book, to have a deadline ready and waiting one week before Shelly's arrival, and to find a cropper that doesn't require six hands!

God bless you all.

Much love,
Vicki

D.C. AIR NATIONAL GUARD

When you graduate to the Air Guard,
your future's
looking up.

And so is our country's. Because the professional men and women of the Air National Guard do more than provide the major portion of our national air defense. They provide aid in state and community emergencies as well.

Great benefits.
Now and for your future.

By joining the Air Guard now, you'll be doing more than helping protect your community, state and home town. You'll be helping yourself.

Because the Air Guard is a part-time military job, you'll have plenty of time to pursue a civilian career. Or further your education which we may help you pay for.

What's more we'll provide valuable technical training. The kind of training you could probably use to get a good civilian job or to advance in your chosen career.

Of course you'll also receive low-cost life insurance, a retirement plan, base exchange privileges, and more. All for your part-time work in the Air Guard.

If you're ready to move ahead with your future, learn valuable job skills and earn extra income, call your Air Guard recruiter at 981-2820.

You'll find out why we say, "In the Air Guard, the sky isn't the limit."

We Guard America's Skies.

Even when you
take a break,
your money won't.

Even when you
take a break,
your money won't.

We put your money to work for you. And we work it hard. You should expect nothing less. The high interest you earn with any of our savings plans will make those times you enjoy . . . well . . . even more enjoyable.

I'm glad I met you
this year and I'm sorry
I didn't sing in the talent show with you, I should have.

hope to see you next year

Love
Andy

Diane - will sign this here because I am a bit "cuckoo". You're a nice person, stay that way. Good luck
next year - you'll need it! Whoever that special guy is, go for it! Love
Mary

To Learn Is To Change

"To Learn Is To Change. Education Is A Process That Changes The Learner."

George B. Leonard
Education and Ecstasy

Change . . . the theme of this book and the overriding factor of this school year. When the Prince George's County Board of Education voted for the changes for SHS, they cleared the way for a brighter future in learning.

We have been through a change of classes and a change of seasons, sports, and teachers. We have accomplished much in our academic and athletic programs in spite of the environmental changes around us. We have changed into more readily adaptable people, ready to meet the ups and downs of days here during the renovations.

More ready to meet the changes of their future are the seniors. They leave knowing the renovations will leave a change for the better for the education of the underclassmen.

We have survived it all, and the SHS spirit and enthusiasm have won.

Diane,
Don't forget selling ads, but for the news paper! No lots of fun. Stay yourself, and you'll do fine.
Good luck!
Yvette

Though I only met you this year, I feel I've known you much longer. Have a wonderful summer, K.I.T., Hope to see you next year.

P.S. I always have a hug for you!
David
It's been fun having you together!
(One of the easiest classes we'll ever have!) HAI HAI!
Hope to see ya
over the summer!
If not see ya
next year!
Good luck & have a great one!

Diane,
This year has been...?
I will never understand now Foster! Hope you and Tom make it somehow.

Dana (Band member)
Pat

Diane,
Well another year is over and I'm really glad we've become friends. It was fun having you in Harris's class some how you made it all the less boring. Have fun
over the summer!
Love
Alison

Diane,
What can I say that I haven't said thousands of times before? Even though we kinda drifted apart a little this year, we're still very close. You know I will always have a place in my heart for you (it's over near a photo stay the hell!!). Stay sweet and I'll K.I.T. (you'd better!!)
Love,
David

Diane
You have been a great friend this year, and I am glad I met you. Even though we didn't stay real good friends for that long, those days
I will always remember. I will always like you. You are always nice to me and I you are pretty.
I hope to see ya during the summer and next year. See ya around.
Love always,
Jeff Marton
K.I.T. 868-5975

Diane,
 This year has really been great! Ms Harris'
 class was a tip.
 Have a nice summer
 and I hope to see you next year. Friends
 KIT 297-4523 Brenda

Henry was here
 & now he is gone
 ain't it a "bitch"
 in "ya next year
 I hope. The 17th Grade
 Henry

Love, future
 Deanne

I have a real good cook!
 good cooking!
 Deanne

I have well no good classes together first wasn't nothing to say about but second was pretty good in Mrs Heluda's cooking. ~~although~~ I had to teach you anything you know about cooking, that's not the point. It's been fun getting to know you (I guess)

It's been nice
 getting to know you
 over the past 2 years.
 you really are a nut, now stay a nut was. Good luck to
 at year to come

Diane,
 I know we haven't talked a lot lately but I still hope we can stay
 friends, and get to better friends,
 have fun working at camp
 Danny

Diane
 I'm glad I meet you this year. I really am.
 We had some fun times.
 Remember the queen, the male turned out most of all remember me. I'll write you from boat camp unless they kill me (HA)
 I really do love you, but we won't be able to have anything lasting because I'm leaving in June. I'll never forget you. I love like Danny

To Diane Hi and good luck in the future Bye Mike King 84

Diane,
It's been nice
to have you in 3rd (Typing) you kept me from going crazy with ~~mess~~ complaining. Have a great summer. See you next year.
Danny

Diane,
We've had our conflicts
in the past, but that's all over now.
I just hope that all your wishes come true and that we can be friends.
Good luck with all your ~~men~~ men. Everyone needs luck in that Department.
Love,
Tom B

So also of
"85"

DIANE,
We had you in Chemistry class (1st period) all year, it's been different. As you know I'm in class of 84". We won't be here next year. We won't have a good one.
AT.

Diane,
You've been a great friend this year.
I'm glad we got to know each other. Too bad we didn't have any classes together, but we did get through to each other by the millions of notes. I didn't mind getting them. Perhaps we can see each other over the summer. Hey! Go, that way we aren't upset at each other. Let's try to keep it
Tom

Diane,
It's a shame that we didn't have any classes together, but maybe next year. You're a very sweet person, who I am glad I know. Have a great summer and I'll see you next year!

Love,
Suzanne

Diane is I hope you make in next year. An
the future. friends
